Butcher Murder Suspect Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — A police alarm spread to Canada and Mexico in a search for a Queens physician after the dismembered body of a girl was found in the sewer of his sumptuous home and office.

However, authorities fear he may have fled to Cuba with which this country no longer has an extradition treaty.

Cut Up by Scalpel, Saw

The victim, identified as Barbara Lofrumento, 19, had been cut up by scalpel and a power saw, apparently after an abortion.

"It must have taken him many, many hours," Asst. Medical Examiner John Furey said Thursday.

The missing man, Dr. Harvey Lothringer, 41, disappeared last Sunday, some hours after the girl was brought to his office by her mother.

With him now, authorities believe, is Theresa Carillo, 25, one-time airline hostess and the doctor's receptionist-girlfriend, who also is missing.

Police departments of Canada and Mexico are on the lookout for Lothringer. The Lothringer family—the elder Lothringer is a retired physician — has a hunting lodge about 60 miles north of Montreal. Police said a sister, not further identified, was thought to be in Mexico City.

Friend Is Cuban National

Miss Carillo is a Cuban national. As hostess, her National Airlines run was to Cuba and her mother is said to live in Havana. Since no diplomatic relations exist between the U.S. and Castro's Cuba, any inquiries would have to be made by the State Department through the Swiss Embassy in Havana.

The dead girl was a sophomore at the College of New Rochelle, N.Y. She resided at Pelham, N.Y., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Lofrumento. The father is a well-to-do pharmacist.

In addition to finding fragments of bone and flesh, an orthodontist identified some teeth as those of Miss Lofrumento. The father identified parts of a skirt, coat and slip his daughter was wearing when she was taken to Lothringer.

Makes Gruesome Find

The Lofrumentos reported their daughter missing to the Queens district attorney's office on Monday. Meanwhile, Lothringer had asked a policeman friend to arrange for a service firm to come on Tuesday and clean his sewer. The concern started the job on Wednesday, and the gruesome finds were made.

A free spender, Lothringer has a 13-room, $75,000 home, and two expensive cars and a station wagon which still are in the doctor's garage. There were about 100 suits of clothing in the house, in the Jamaica Estates section of Queens.

Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor said Lothringer had been under observation for three weeks during an investigation of a citywide abortion ring, and that he obtained a warrant for Lothringer's arrest on

Former Cage Coach at Ellenville Is To Be Principal at New Junior High

Appointment of a Long Island man as principal of the new Junior High School, naming of School 2 after a retired teacher who taught at the school more than a half century, and acceptance of several resignations including the transportation supervisor, were some highlights of Thursday night's meeting of the Kingston Board of Education Consolidated.

By a split vote, Dr. Norman Schwartz, principal of the Wyandanch, L. I., junior-senior high school, was appointed principal of Kingston's new junior high school on a two-year contract.

Dr. Schwartz, former teacher and basketball coach at Ellenville High School, will receive a salary of $12,500 the first year and $13,000 the second. He is expected to come to Kingston sometime in August, although his appointment is effective July 1.

Favor Local Appointment

Two board members voted against the appointment of Dr. Schwartz, Howard L. Fox said he felt a man in the Kingston school system could fill the position, and he objected to "injecting a Long Island salary" into the local school system. He said, however, that if the board appointed Dr. Schwartz he will support the new principal.

Andrew T. Gilday said he felt that local school personnel should have been given more consideration at the time applicants for the principalship were examined. He stated he had no personal objection to Dr. Schwartz and said he doesn't know him, but he felt that a local man should have been appointed to the $12,500 post.

Voting for Dr. Schwartz, who was recommended by committee, were George W. Schneider, president of the board, David Kline, Bernie Singer, Benson Krom, Mrs. Edith Case Murphy and Mrs. Bertha H. Connelly.

Former Navy Officer

Dr. Schwartz is 37, a former U. S. Navy officer, he has the Bachelor, Master's and Doctor of Education degrees. His wife, the former Jean Robinson, Kingston, whose mother, Mrs. Stella Wood, resides at 96 Hurley Avenue. Dr. and Mrs. Schwartz are parents of three children, Richard, 9, Lee, 7, and Lorraine, 3.

The board unanimously approved a recommendation of Chairman Kline of the Rules Committee that School 2 be named the Sophie G. Finn School. She is a retired Kingston school teacher and for more than 50 years taught at School 2.

Superintendent of Schools Earl F. Soper suggested that the teacher be invited to attend and participate in dedication ceremonies at the new school when they are held.

Recommended by P-TA

The name Sophie G. Finn was recommended by P-TA groups, the student body, parents, faculty members and other groups and was one of a number received by the board's committee.

Resignations were submitted by the following and accepted with regret by the board:

Zale Liese, supervisor of transportation in the Kingston school district; Mrs. Thelma Wanzor, stenographer at Lake Katrine school; Mrs. Evelyn Scheffel, stenographer, part time; Donald A.. Move of Consolidated Board Helps in Start

The generous offer of the Kingston (Consolidated) Board of Education in making available old Ulster Academy, (School 2) on West Chestnut Street in the City of Kingston for temporary quarters for Ulster County Community College represents a large forward step in making low-cost collegiate education in the liberal arts and technology available to Ulster County at the earliest possible moment.

While there has never been a definite commitment as to the opening date of the college, the trustees have sensed that the people of the county had hoped for its establishment by September, 1963, when they mandated creation of the college in the referendum of 1961. The board of trustees was only created and organized a matter of approximately 60 days ago, during which period they have met as a Board during each week in the interval, often two or three times during a single week. The trustees have proved to be a devoted and dedicated group, generous indeed with their time and talents, since but seldom has a trustee missed one of these many meetings.

Busy Summer Ahead

With a commencement date now in the offing, the board will have to continue to spend a great deal of time, all summer, in assembling a faculty and administrative staff and in building curriculum for the college. Approximately a dozen and a half applications for the post of president of the college have been received. In addition, the board anticipates searching out and interviewing additional candidates since they are determined that Ulster County Community College will not be merely another humdrum run-of-the-mill college. With the natural advantages of Ulster County, plus the many diverse talents of its residents, the trustees believe we have the makings of an unique institution. In faculty, too, they are searching for well-grounded people with a fresh and enthusiastic approach in their subjects, people who can inspire as well as teach. The president of the institution should be retained by this autumn so that he may assist in the assembly of a faculty, set up an administrative staff, advise on curriculum, and counsel in the design and construction of buildings on the permanent campus.

The procurement of temporary quarters cannot slow down the selection of a permanent site. The board of trustees have personally visited and investigated approximately a dozen prospective sites. All these sites must be assessed as to closest possible proximity to county areas of greatest population density so that they may serve the greatest convenience of the greatest proportion of the prospective students and they must be appraised by qualified engineers who can estimate the prospects for and cost of utilities such as an adequate water supply system for sanitary, drinking and fire protection purposes, facilities for sewage and surface-water disposal, land topography offering greatest possible usage at the minimum cost, and access and internal roadways or rights-of-way.

The trustees are highly conscious of the fact that they are expending tax monies and therefore they are striving for the greatest of economy commensurate with the establishment of acceptable standards. After settling upon a site, engineering and architectural firms must suggest land utilization and building design, such suggestions must be studied and accepted, then contracts must be let for construction. Such physical construction will require approx-

Contracts Approved For Buses

Contracts were approved for bus transportation of pupils for the year 1962-63, a bid was accepted for providing gasoline for the carriers, permission was granted the Ulster Community College Board to use School 2, and IBM to use Lake Katrine School for summer classes, at Thursday night's meeting of the Kingston Board of Education Consolidated.

To Provide Gasoline

On recommendation of board member Fox, the board accepted a bid submitted by R. K. Ballard Inc., 274 E. Strand, for approximately 100,000 gallons of gasoline for the carriers transporting pupils, at 10.98 cents a gallon. The district will provide gasoline for the carriers for the price which does not exceed the bid prices.

Three-year contracts and the routes follow:

Anthony DeMicco, Routes 1-5 inclusive, $62,751; Chappie's Taxi (Lucy Perry doing business as Chappie's Taxi) Routes 9-18 inclusive, $114,000; Lipton's Bee Line, Routes 24-25-27-29-30-44, $74,559; Acker Bus Lines, Routes 26-28-34-35-36-37-38 - 39 - 41 - 43, $148,788.70; Virginia Malone, Route 42, $13,500.

Year Contracts

One year contracts approved are: Perry's Taxi Inc., Routes 1-20-21 $13,000; Arthur F. Mulliban, Routes 47 through 53 inclusive, $35,136. The yearly figure based on the submitted contracts is $186 335.57.

Transportation Supervisor Liese submitted the report on the transportation contracts, and

Senate Approves $4.7 Billion Limit on Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted a $4.7-billion ceiling on foreign aid spending next year —just about what President Kennedy requested.

But there's evidence Congress intends to slash away at the aid program before it finally provides the money that may be spent.

The measure passed Thursday by the Senate 61 to 23 simply sets limits on aid spending in the fiscal year that begins July 1. The appropriations will be handled later in separate legislation.

Actually, the administration had to settle for partial victory on its embattled provision for aid to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia in an attempt to wean them away from Soviet domination.

Wednesday the Senate voted 57 to 24 to bar foreign aid to such countries. But, with heavy pressure from the White House and combined appeals from Democratic and Republican leaders, the Senate retreated Thursday and voted 56 to 34 to exempt gifts and sales of surplus food.

It still left the ban on any assistance under the foreign aid bill itself, including $10 million in economic development loans the administration had programmed for Yugoslavia next fiscal year.

Welcomes Food Action

At his news conference Kennedy welcomed the action on food saying it would give him the necessary flexibility to help peoples who want to remain independent.

Only a short time later administration forces succeeded by the narrow vote of 45 to 40 in rejecting an amendment by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., which would have denied foreign aid to countries which export arms or strategic materials to Sino-Soviet bloc countries, including Cuba.

No attempts were made to cut the bill so far as money is concerned.

It carries authority for $600 million for fiscal 1963 for the Alliance for Progress program in Latin America and $800 million for each of the succeeding three years.

In addition it authorizes $1.5 billion for military assistance and $1.25 billion for economic development loans outside Latin America, authorized last year.

Neither of these items were subject to reduction in the authorization bill but likely will be the targets for sharp cuts when the appropriations bill comes up.

13 Make Freedom Dash Under Hail Of Red Gunfire

BERLIN (AP) — Bringing a baby with them, 13 young East Germans hijacked a 500-ton river excursion boat early today and escaped to freedom under a hail of machine-gun bullets.

East German police, firing from a watch tower, a pier, a bridge and a patrol boat, pumped over 200 bullets into the fleeing vessel. Nobody was hurt.

Boat Is Riddled

West Berlin police fired 10 shots back at the East Germans to check their fire. The boat, the Friedrich Wolf, was riddled and there were bullet marks on buildings on the West Berlin shore.

The escapees included eight men, all employes of East Berlin's "white fleet" of excursion boats, five women, and one couple's 5-month-old boy. The adults, all about 30 or under, told police they had been planning the escape for a week.

Thursday night the men in the group went aboard the Friedrich Wolf at her mooring beside the River Spree and began drinking

Kiwanis Lists 11 As Winners of College Grants

N. Jansen Fowler, chairman of the Kingston Kiwanis Scholarship Committee, officially presented the 1962 Kiwanis Scholarship winners to the local service club members at the Thursday luncheon.

"Each year Kingston Kiwanis Club awards a number of scholarships from its Kiwanis Foundation," said Fowler, who further revealed that "most of the Foundation funds are derived from the annual Kiwanis Kapers shows."

Six Girls, Five Boys

"This year Kiwanis awarded five scholarships of $500 each to male graduates and six scholarships of $100 each to girls intending to pursue studies in the field of nursing. These awards are determined after screening a number of applications and many personal interviews," said Fowler.

The male graduate winners for 1962 were: Robert Brown, R. Theodore Bream, James Rundle, Joseph J. Barr and Richard W. Hessdorfer. Nursing scholarships were awarded to Susan Nucaro, Jean Fox, Patricia A. Parata, Jeanne Helmich, Jane Ann Hyatt and Louisa Knudsen.

In addition to the above scholarships, the Kiwanis Club awarded $35 to David Moody from the Ruby Appel Fund. This

Hyatt Returned As President of City Water Board

Donald R. Hyatt, of 29 Josephine Avenue, was re-elected president of the Board of Water Commissioners at its annual meeting Thursday night and Joseph Amato Sr., of 69 Gill Street was re-elected secretary.

Both are starting second terms as officers on the board. Hyatt, a compositor with The Freeman, was appointed to the board in May, 1958, and was first elected its president in June, 1961. He has served as president of Local 322, International Typographical Union. Amato, employed many years by area brick-making companies, is president of Brick Handlers Union, Local 1467. He served as Fifth Ward alderman in the 1940's. He was appointed to the board in June, 1959.

Would Serve Non-Airline Traffic

Airport Is Suggested Here and in Catskill

Kingston is among seven New York State cities suggested for airports to handle non-airline aviation, according to a Federal Aviation Agency plan submitted to Congress.

N. E. Halaby, FAA administrator, said Thursday that about 250 airports, including Kingston, should be developed to serve non-airline aviation in 59 major metropolitan areas.

The overall FAA plan calls for 514 new airports and improvements to 2,615 others at an estimated cost of $1.1 billion.

Other state communities suggested for new non-airline airports include Catskill, Corning, Indian Lake, Lockport, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle.

Cause of Congestion

"The principal cause of congestion at airports in the 59 areas is the mixing of large numbers of airline, military and general aviation aircraft," Halaby said.

"To remedy this situation, it is proposed that new fields be built in these areas and existing ones improved, to siphon off much of the general aviation (non-airline) traffic."

Cities Included

Man Back From Death Looking Forward to Golf

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—John Mara, a 40-year-old mailman whose heart stopped for 55 minutes last month, will leave a hospital Sunday — looking forward to a game of golf.

"He literally was brought back from the dead," said Dr. Asher Black, Mara's physician.

Mara felt pains in his chest, back and arms May 15 while delivering mail. A grocer drove him to Black's office, where he collapsed.

Black and his brother, Dr. Martin Black, who himself suffered a coronary attack last year, gave Mara a closed chest heart message, which involves depressing and mouth-to-mouth respiration.

"Nothing else mattered," Asher Black said. "We couldn't let up for one second."

Levitt Declares Bid Violations Cost Government

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says the violation of competitive bidding laws inevitably results in financial loss to the unit of government involved.

The comptroller said he was dismayed that the 1962 Legislature did not enact a bill he proposed to tighten competitive bidding. He said he expected to submit proposals for new legislation before the opening of the 1963 legislative session.

Levitt commented Thursday at a news conference following the initial meeting of an advisory committee named by him to draft rec-

Late Hour Vote Due For Bay State Race

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Bickering Massachusetts Democrats try to simmer down enough tonight to get a preliminary answer to this politically explosive question:

Who will it be, Teddy or Eddie?

In more formal language, will the Democrats endorse Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, brother of the President, or the state attorney general, Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, for U.S. senator?

Party chieftains will put in a full day before reaching their big decision, probably late tonight.

Both men—Teddy is 30, Eddie is 38—flashed brilliant, confident smiles and claimed victory.

Kennedy—"We will have a clear majority" with possibly 1,000 votes.

McCormack—"I have 916."

Since it takes 862 votes to win if all the delegates are present, somebody's arithmetic is remarkably shoddy.

Charges and counter-charges flew. McCormack told a news conference he is "doing the President a favor" by attempting to defeat his brother.

"There is a lot of talk about the national dynasty issue now," he explained. "The Republicans would have the greatest domestic issue if Ted is elected, but if Ted is defeated the dynasty issue is dead."

Kennedy denied emphatically at his own news session rumors that income tax investigations, deportation proceedings and promises of postmasterships were being used to swing delegates into his camp. McCormack specifically mentioned 52 postmasterships left unfilled.

Kennedy answered that such charges "insult the integrity" of McCormack supporters.

McCormack charges pressure and "arm-twisting" have been used to lure his delegates. He said he has affidavits to prove such pressure but did not want to use them because they could hurt the President in 1964.

Kennedy made an unqualified denial that either of his brothers, the President or Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, had used their influence to help him.

Newsmen told him McCormack had said he would keep his affidavits secret unless Kennedy challenged him to disclose them.

Warns Party It Must Win Votes In Large Cities

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says the Republican Party aggressively must seek the support of big city voters if it expected to keep GOP members in office.

The governor, in an address Thursday night at a fund-raising dinner of the Montgomery County Republican committee, said the GOP "can't go through campaigns losing all the big cities."

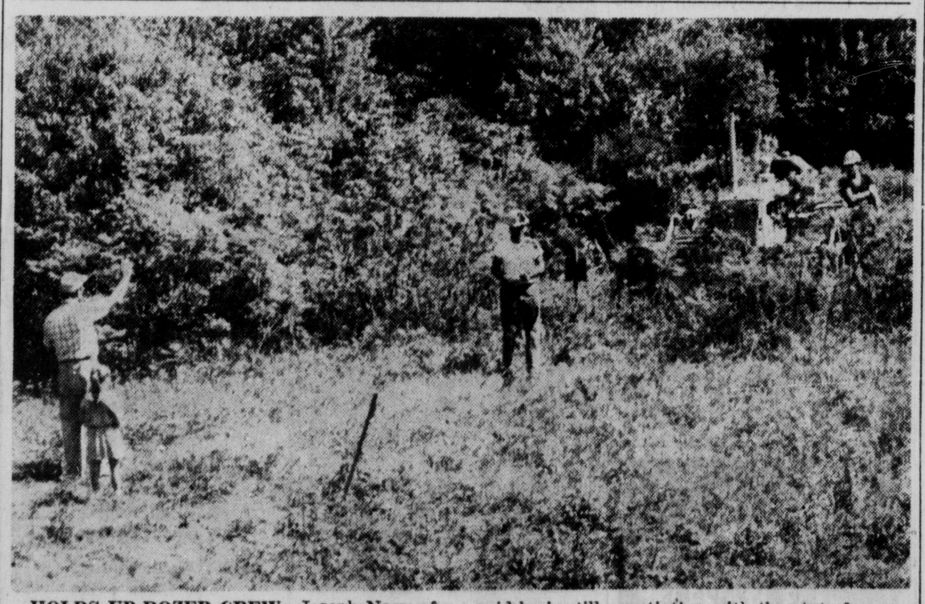

"There's no use in our talking about being a rural party," the governor said. "We have to be a party that represents people everywhere and most of the people live in the cities and urban areas."

Rockefeller, a candidate for re-election as governor this year and a potential Republican candidate for president in 1964, said the vote of big cities throughout the nation was a decisive factor in the election of President Kennedy in 1960.

He said the GOP must seek voter support in those areas "if we Republicans want to stay in office..."

At a meeting before the talk, business leaders urged the governor to support the establishment of a unit of the State University or other type of state institution in this city, where a decline in the domestic carpet-manufacturing industry has resulted in high unemployment.

The governor made no commitment but told the group he would consider the request.

HOLDS UP DOZER CREW—Joseph Nagy of Flatbush Road, (shown with his daughter) halts a bulldozer crew which was reportedly directed by the State Public Works Department to start on the relocation project of Route 32. Nagy, father of seven, who in addition to tending his farm, is employed as a bricklayer and mason, said he is still negotiating with the state for purchase of a small tract of land for the project. Nagy claims no agreement has been reached. Nagy said the bulldozer was to tear down a corral and small barn. Nagy has refused the state's offer of $950 for a 150 x 128 foot strip. (Freeman photo).

Contracts were approved for bus transportation of pupils for the year 1962-63, a bid was accepted for providing gasoline for the carriers, permission was granted the Ulster Community College Board to use School 2, and IBM to use Lake Katrine School for summer classes, at Thursday night's meeting of the Kingston Board of Education Consolidated.

To Provide Gasoline

On recommendation of board member Fox, the board accepted a bid submitted by R. K. Ballard Inc., 274 E. Senate Approves $4.7 Billion Limit on Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted a $4.7-billion ceiling on foreign aid spending next year —just about what President Kennedy requested.

But there's evidence Congress intends to slash away at the aid program before it finally provides the money that may be spent.

The measure passed Thursday by the Senate 61 to 23 simply sets limits on aid spending in the fiscal year that begins July 1. The appropriations will be handled later in separate legislation.

Actually, the administration had to settle for partial victory on its embattled provision for aid to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia in an attempt to wean them away from Soviet domination.

Wednesday the Senate voted 57 to 24 to bar foreign aid to such countries. But, with heavy pressure from the White House and combined appeals from Democratic and Republican leaders, the Senate retreated Thursday and voted 56 to 34 to exempt gifts and sales of surplus food.

It still left the ban on any assistance under the foreign aid bill itself, including $10 million in economic development loans the administration had programmed for Yugoslavia next fiscal year.

Welcomes Food Action

At his news conference Kennedy welcomed the action on food saying it would give him the necessary flexibility to help peoples who want to remain independent.

Only a short time later administration forces succeeded by the narrow vote of 45 to 40 in rejecting an amendment by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., which would have denied foreign aid to countries which export arms or strategic materials to Sino-Soviet bloc countries, including Cuba.

No attempts were made to cut the bill so far as money is concerned.

It carries authority for $600 million for fiscal 1963 for the Alliance for Progress program in Latin America and $800 million for each of the succeeding three years.

In addition it authorizes $1.5 billion for military assistance and $1.25 billion for economic development loans outside Latin America, authorized last year.

Neither of these items were subject to reduction in the authorization bill but likely will be the targets for sharp cuts when the appropriations bill comes up.

BERLIN (AP) — Bringing a baby with them, 13 young East Germans hijacked a 500-ton river excursion boat early today and escaped to freedom under a hail of machine-gun bullets.

East German police, firing from a watch tower, a pier, a bridge and a patrol boat, pumped over 200 bullets into the fleeing vessel. Nobody was hurt.

Boat Is Riddled

West Berlin police fired 10 shots back at the East Germans to check their fire. The boat, the Friedrich Wolf, was riddled and there were bullet marks on buildings on the West Berlin shore.

The escapees included eight men, all employes of East Berlin's "white fleet" of excursion boats, five women, and one couple's 5-month-old boy. The adults, all about 30 or under, told police they had been planning the escape for a week.

Thursday night the men in the group went aboard the Friedrich Wolf at her mooring beside the River Spree and began drinking

Would Serve Non-Airline Traffic

Airport Is Suggested Here and in Catskill

Kingston is among seven New York State cities suggested for airports to handle non-airline aviation, according to a Federal Aviation Agency plan submitted to Congress.

N. E. Halaby, FAA administrator, said Thursday that about 250 airports, including Kingston, should be developed to serve non-airline aviation in 59 major metropolitan areas.

The overall FAA plan calls for 514 new airports and improvements to 2,615 others at an estimated cost of $1.1 billion.

Other state communities suggested for new non-airline airports include Catskill, Corning, Indian Lake, Lockport, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle.

Cause of Congestion

"The principal cause of congestion at airports in the 59 areas is the mixing of large numbers of airline, military and general aviation aircraft," Halaby said.

"To remedy this situation, it is proposed that new fields be built in these areas and existing ones improved, to siphon off much of the general aviation (non-airline) traffic."

Cities Included

Buffalo, N.Y., 5; Albany and Syracuse, N.Y., 4 each, Rochester, N.Y., 2.

Man Back From Death Looking Forward to Golf

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—John Mara, a 40-year-old mailman whose heart stopped for 55 minutes last month, will leave a hospital Sunday — looking forward to a game of golf.

"He literally was brought back from the dead," said Dr. Asher Black, Mara's physician.

Mara felt pains in his chest, back and arms May 15 while delivering mail. A grocer drove him to Black's office, where he collapsed.

Black and his brother, Dr. Martin Black, who himself suffered a coronary attack last year, gave Mara a closed chest heart message, which involves depressing and mouth-to-mouth respiration.

"Nothing else mattered," Asher Black said. "We couldn't let up for one second."

Levitt Declares Bid Violations Cost Government

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says the violation of competitive bidding laws inevitably results in financial loss to the unit of government involved.

The comptroller said he was dismayed that the 1962 Legislature did not enact a bill he proposed to tighten competitive bidding. He said he expected to submit proposals for new legislation before the opening of the 1963 legislative session.

Levitt commented Thursday at a news conference following the initial meeting of an advisory committee named by him to draft rec-

Late Hour Vote Due For Bay State Race

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Bickering Massachusetts Democrats try to simmer down enough tonight to get a preliminary answer to this politically explosive question:

Who will it be, Teddy or Eddie?

In more formal language, will the Democrats endorse Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, brother of the President, or the state attorney general, Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, for U.S. senator?

Party chieftains will put in a full day before reaching their big decision, probably late tonight.

Both men—Teddy is 30, Eddie is 38—flashed brilliant, confident smiles and claimed victory.

Kennedy—"We will have a clear majority" with possibly 1,000 votes.

McCormack—"I have 916."

Since it takes 862 votes to win if all the delegates are present, somebody's arithmetic is remarkably shoddy.

Charges and counter-charges flew. McCormack told a news conference he is "doing the President a favor" by attempting to defeat his brother.

"There is a lot of talk about the national dynasty issue now," he explained. "The Republicans would have the greatest domestic issue if Ted is elected, but if Ted is defeated the dynasty issue is dead."

Kennedy denied emphatically at his own news session rumors that income tax investigations, deportation proceedings and promises of postmasterships were being used to swing delegates into his camp. McCormack specifically mentioned 52 postmasterships left unfilled.

Kennedy answered that such charges "insult the integrity" of McCormack supporters.

McCormack charges pressure and "arm-twisting" have been used to lure his delegates. He said he has affidavits to prove such pressure but did not want to use them because they could hurt the President in 1964.

Kennedy made an unqualified denial that either of his brothers, the President or Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, had used their influence to help him.

Newsmen told him McCormack had said he would keep his affidavits secret unless Kennedy challenged him to disclose them.

Warns Party It Must Win Votes In Large Cities

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says the Republican Party aggressively must seek the support of big city voters if it expected to keep GOP members in office.

The governor, in an address Thursday night at a fund-raising dinner of the Montgomery County Republican committee, said the GOP "can't go through campaigns losing all the big cities."

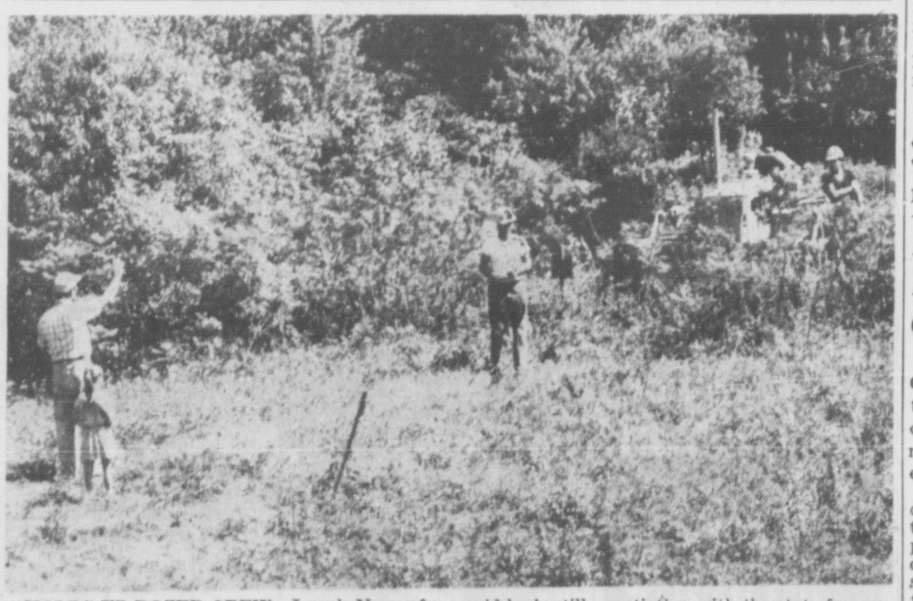

"There's no use in our talking about being a rural party," the governor said. "We have to be a party that represents people everywhere and most of the people live in the cities and urban areas."

Rockefeller, a candidate for reelection as governor this year and a potential Republican candidate for president in 1964, said the vote of big cities throughout the nation was a decisive factor in the election of President Kennedy in 1960.

He said the GOP must seek voter support in those areas "if we Republicans want to stay in office."

At a meeting before the talk, business leaders urged the governor to support the establishment of a unit of the State University or other type of state institution in this city, where a decline in the domestic carpet-manufacturing industry has resulted in high unemployment.

The governor made no commitment but told the group he would consider the request.

Nagy, father of seven, who in addition to tending his farm, is employed as a bricklayer and mason, said he is still negotiating with the state for purchase of a small tract of land for the project. Nagy claims no agreement has been reached. Nagy said the bulldozer was to tear down a corral and small barn. Nagy has refused the state's offer of $950 for a 150 x 128 foot strip. (Freeman photo).

'61 Charge Due For 13th Airing

A charge that Charles Wells of Stone Ridge operated an overloaded truck in December 1961, will be heard before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky, Town of Rosendale, June 13, at 4 p. m.

Wells was given a summons Dec. 11, 1961, to appear before Justice Brodsky on Dec. 18, to answer to the charge of driving an overloaded truck.

Wells appeared at 7 p. m. on December 18 at the office of Justice Brodsky and alleged the justice and the trooper who made the charge were not present. Later Wells was advised by the trooper to appear at a later date. On Jan. 2, 1962, Wells appeared with Bernard A. Feeney Jr., his attorney. Feeney said the defendant appeared specially and objected to the prosecution on the grounds neither the justice or trooper were present on the return date of the traffic ticket and the court was thereby divested of jurisdiction. Justice Brodsky denied that application and defendant then demanded an immediate trial which was denied by Justice Brodsky, who set Jan. 16, as trial date.

An appeal was taken to Supreme Court and Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth on May 28 denied the petition of Wells and vacated the stay. The trial was set for June 13 at 4 p. m.

Miss Lowe said teachers plan programs that are flexible to meet the needs of all children, to help them become independent and do for themselves and to teach evalution of sharing with others.

Mrs. McLean explained and illustrated the various advancement of kindergarten pupils, the child maturity, social adjustment, and the child's coordination. She explained readiness tests that are given and of conferences held with parents at the end of the first term to acquaint them with the activities of their child in class.

James E. Tobin, director of guidance, reported on the progress of Operation Able, a program for disadvantaged students. He said the program has been extended to the sixth grade. He related cooperative gains and a change in the attitude of pupils, and noted the children in the program now look forward to a brighter future.

Operation Able teachers told the board that OA is another way to try to cut down the number of drop-outs in schools. Tobin noted that one of four students drop out of school for various reasons.

Mrs. Bertha H. Connelly complimented Tobin and the OA teachers for the work they are doing under the program.

Red Bloc Winds Up Farm Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet bloc leaders ended their economic strategy conference abruptly Thursday after only two days of talks on their nagging agricultural problems at home and the challenge of the West European Common Market abroad.

A communique on the closed-door conference is not due until Saturday. But the brevity of the meeting indicated that the Red satellite leaders were summoned to Moscow only to ratify whatever plans the Kremlin had already formulated.

May Try Own ECM

These are believed to include measures to integrate more closely the economies of the Soviet Union and its European satellites and to create a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Economic Union.

An indication of this was given earlier by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. It declared that "the objective laws of economic development" now demand that the East European nations move from "foreign trade forms of cooperation to direct production cooperation, coordination of the plans of all branches of the national economy."

This most likely would make the satellites represented at the meeting—East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary—more dependent than ever on the Soviet Union. Renegade Albania was not invited and has declared it will not be bound by the conference's decisions.

Presumably the Red leaders also adopted measures designed to spur agricultural expansion, since production is lagging in most of the East European countries and in the Soviet Union itself.

Conspiracy, K Charges

The Soviet bloc recently has shown increasing concern over the growing power of the Common Market. Premier Khrushchev called it a monopolist conspiracy against the Communist countries and last week proposed an international trade conference to combat what he called the Common Market's aggressive designs.

Khrushchev went from the economic meeting to a reception for a visiting Italian trade delegation and launched a blistering attack on Western Europe's economic alliance.

"Don't believe you can frighten us," he said, wagging his finger at the Italians in a favorite gesture. 'The Common Market is the usual bogeyman, but it will disappear like smoke."

'61 Charge Due For 13th Airing

A charge that Charles Wells of Stone Ridge operated an overloaded truck in December 1961, will be heard before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky, Town of Rosendale, June 13, at 4 p. m.

Wells was given a summons Dec. 11, 1961, to appear before Justice Brodsky on Dec. 18, to answer to the charge of driving an overloaded truck.

Wells appeared at 7 p. m. on December 18 at the office of Justice Brodsky and alleged the justice and the trooper who made the charge were not present. Later Wells was advised by the trooper to appear at a later date. On Jan. 2, 1962, Wells appeared with Bernard A. Feeney Jr., his attorney. Feeney said the defendant appeared specially and objected to the prosecution on the grounds neither the justice or trooper were present on the return date of the traffic ticket and the court was thereby divested of jurisdiction. Justice Brodsky denied that application and defendant then demanded an immediate trial which was denied by Justice Brodsky, who set Jan. 16, as trial date.

An appeal was taken to Supreme Court and Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth on May 28 denied the petition of Wells and vacated the stay. The trial was set for June 13 at 4 p. m.

Mrs. McLean explained and illustrated the various advancement of kindergarten pupils, the child maturity, social adjustment, and the child's coordination. She explained readiness tests that are given and of conferences held with parents at the end of the first term to acquaint them with the activities of their child in class.

Red Bloc Winds Up Farm Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet bloc leaders ended their economic strategy conference abruptly Thursday after only two days of talks on their nagging agricultural problems at home and the challenge of the West European Common Market abroad.

A communique on the closed-door conference is not due until Saturday. But the brevity of the meeting indicated that the Red satellite leaders were summoned to Moscow only to ratify whatever plans the Kremlin had already formulated.

May Try Own ECM

These are believed to include measures to integrate more closely the economies of the Soviet Union and its European satellites and to create a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Economic Union.

An indication of this was given earlier by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. It declared that "the objective laws of economic development" now demand that the East European nations move from "foreign trade forms of cooperation to direct production cooperation, coordination of the plans of all branches of the national economy."

This most likely would make the satellites represented at the meeting—East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary—more dependent than ever on the Soviet Union. Renegade Albania was not invited and has declared it will not be bound by the conference's decisions.

Presumably the Red leaders also adopted measures designed to spur agricultural expansion, since production is lagging in most of the East European countries and in the Soviet Union itself.

Conspiracy, K Charges

The Soviet bloc recently has shown increasing concern over the growing power of the Common Market. Premier Khrushchev called it a monopolist conspiracy against the Communist countries and last week proposed an international trade conference to combat what he called the Common Market's aggressive designs.

Khrushchev went from the economic meeting to a reception for a visiting Italian trade delegation and launched a blistering attack on Western Europe's economic alliance.

"Don't believe you can frighten us," he said, wagging his finger at the Italians in a favorite gesture. 'The Common Market is the usual bogeyman, but it will disappear like smoke."

Two Will Reign As Spelling Aces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The co-winners of the National Spelling Bee contest agree that luck, more than anything else, makes a champion speller.

"Most of the words I never heard of," admitted Michael Day, 14, Hardin, Ill., who shares the 1962 title with tall brunette Nettie Crawford, 13, Roswell, N.M.

"It was pretty rough," Nettie thought.

Because most of the words were so difficult the two eighth graders waged what amounted to more of a guessing game in Thursday's final round of the 35th annual spelling bee. Their battle finally was declared a draw.

Nettie and Mike became champions by spelling correctly such tonguetwisters as "unguiculate," meaning having claws or nails, and "monocotyledon," a botanical term referring to seed plants.

The two winners each pick up bronze trophies and a $1,000 prize at a windup banquet tonight and then they'll head for an all-expenses paid sightseeing weekend in New York City.

Nettie's father runs a 600-acre cotton and alfalfa ranch and Mike's dad is with the Social Security Administration in Hardin.

2 Face Execution For '61 Slaying In $15,000 Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men have been sentenced to die and a woman and another man were given prison sentences in the slaying of a former policeman during a $15,000 payroll robbery.

Queens County Judge Albert H. Bosch Thursday sentenced Peter Donovan, 24, of Ridgewood Queens, and Harry Mencher, 23, of Brooklyn, to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair the week of July 30.

Bosch sentenced Mrs. Kathleen Colletti, 28 - year - old Brooklyn mother of two children, to 2½ to 10 years in Westfield Hill Farms, and Vincent Fiorello, 19, of Manhattan, to 20 years to life in prison.

The four were convicted in the May 19, 1961, slaying of James F. Beatty, 59, during a holdup at the Globe Lighting Products Co., Maspeth, Queens.

Beatty operated a protective service from his home in Ozone Park, Queens. He was shot to death as he and a helper were carrying the payroll into the offices of the Globe firm.

Police said the woman was the mastermind of the gang. Fiorello was convicted of second-degree murder.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass, June 8 — During the past week, almost everyone has been asking what has happened to the stock market. The newspapers have said "nothing like it since 1929." Yet the Dow-Jones Industrial Average is off only about 20% from its all-time high which occurred at the start of 1962. The Industrials have suffered the most; the utilities have suffered less; while the railroads have suffered the least. On the other hand, almost everything has suffered somewhat.

Real Estate, Automobiles, and Commodities

The newspapers, television, and radio have made so much of the big break that people are getting it into their heads that everything should go down in price. Therefore, whether they are looking for houses, automobiles, or even orange groves, they expect bargains, and they pay no attention to the prices of a month ago. This especially applies to used cars of which there is a surplus and the dealers are trying hard to convert them into cash.

The banks are getting frightened and have begun to ask their customers to reduce loans. They really have no reason for being frightened; but bankers are easily scared because it is not their money which they are loaning, but rather the money of their customers. They do not know when their customers will want to use their money to buy bargains themselves, and hence the bankers must be prepared to take care of them. Most bankers were much disturbed by President Kennedy's actions when he lost his temper over the price of steel. They feel that President Kennedy is against business and profits, and, perhaps, is too favorable to the labor leaders. Even the brokers are beginning to feel this way, owing to the SEC investigations. Some brokers are even unjustly saying that the past week will go down in history as the "Kennedy Break."

Mutual Funds

There has been a great sale of mutual funds during the past two years. It is reported that over 75,000 salesmen are selling mutual funds today. Most of the stock exchange firms are indulging in the sale of mutual funds. They are allowed a commission of one-eighth of one per cent on listed stocks, and cannot afford to have their salesmen go out and solicit small investors for this fee; but they get about 5% on the sale of mutual funds which commission they can divide with the salesmen.

When a salesman sells a thousand dollars worth of mutual funds, the operators of the Fund must enter the stock market and buy a certain amount of listed stock. This has bolstered the stock market during the past two years. It will be more difficult to sell mutual funds and redemptions will increase until the news of the recent stock market break is forgotten. When a mutual fund holder turns in his shares to be redeemed, the Fund operators must sell some of their listed stocks. I believe these mutual funds are perfectly safe; but they must go down in price when a break such as we have had occurs. Therefore, the selling by mutual fund operators has been one cause of the decline in the stock market. The dividend on mutual funds may not be reduced, excepting the so-called borus dividends which result from capital gains . . . which the Funds may not get for a while.

What Will the Stock Market Do Next?

It is evident that there have been many bargain hunters who have bought stocks the past week. This has caused some rallies. I, however, do not believe that all is well. There are many sore spots to be cleaned up by foolish investors, general business is continuing good.

As I have mentioned many times before in this column, there is too wide a gulf between the high prices that stocks have been selling at and their dividends. These low yields are unnatural and must be corrected. I had hoped to see it corrected by a gradual and orderly decline. Readers, however, should give much more attention to what stocks are yielding. Recent low yields cannot continue indefinitely; without a great improvement in business and dividends, the situation can be corrected only by reducing the price of stocks. I advise against selling investment-grade stocks today; but I question whether the time has come to resume investing in the stock market. I say this notwithstanding that the market has railled and is acting more normally.

Salt Firms Acquitted

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Three major salt companies accused of scheming to rig prices of rock salt were acquitted Thursday night by a federal jury.

The panel, which deliberated nearly seven hours, cleared Morton Salt Co., Chicago; International Salt Co., Clarks Summit, Pa., and Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, Mich.

ACCIDENT VICTIM — In an unusual operation, surgeons in Boston, Mass., sewed the right arm of Little League pitcher Everett Knowles, 12, back on his body, after it was severed at the shoulder in a train accident.

Deaths

BAY SHORE, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Profaci, 64, the underworld's "olive oil king" and reputed leader of the dread Mafia secret society of crime, died Wednesday of cancer.

CHICAGO (AP) — Louis Schor, 82, one of the founders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in the early 1900s in New York City, died Thursday.

Cadillac

How to pay for a Cadillac—and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car—and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)

2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes important things that are extra on many other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)

3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing.

There is Cadillac's styling—so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort—so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance—so great that it is without rival on the world's highways.

So we suggest that you play it safe—and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

RADIATION COMFORT

Some comfort may be derived from the Federal Radiation Council's report on "Health Implications of Fallout From Nuclear Weapons Testing Through 1916." Anyone who supposes that this report settles the matter of fallout hazards once and for all is, however, gravely mistaken.

As far as it goes, the report is heartening. It was on the basis of this survey, whose findings were made available to the White House early this year, that President Kennedy finally decided to proceed with resumption of atmospheric nuclear tests. He was surely heartened by the Radiation Council's carefully documented judgment that the health hazard as the result of previous tests was so small as to be considered, if one thinks statistically, almost inconsequential.

The truth seems to be that testing thus far has increased by only a tiny percentage the natural background radiation which is one of the conditions of life on this planet. It appears that the chances of any individual's contracting leukemia as a result of radioactive fallout thus far spewed out into the atmosphere are minute. Even the potential genetic effects — and in this area most experts seem agreed that any amount of radiation at all is likely to cause some harm in the future—are reported to be very small.

The trouble is that, even though this report was intended to give Americans an authoritative judgment, it remains apparent that we still know too little about the effects of radioactivity to make predictions with much certainty. There is comfort in the Radiation Council's report, but it is chilly comfort. As testing continues, many laymen and not a few well informed scientists will go right on wondering whether man is not doing himself irrevocable harm.

Khrushchev says that while capitalists talk about brotherhood, they do nothing but rob. But that Soviet price boost on butter and meat would indicate that the capitalists could learn something from the Kremlin.

The Interior Department is conducting a fish census—counting 'em but not catching 'em. This is what a lot of fishermen do when they go out.

MONTH OF SAD MEMORIES

June, usually one of the year's benign and lovely months, is with us again. It ushers in a season most of us love. Yet in relatively recent history the month has brought tragedy and sorrow to thousands of American homes. For June has been a bloody month in many of our wars.

It marks, for example, the 20th anniversary of the Battle of Midway Island in the Coral Sea in World War II. In that June 5, 1942, naval engagement, 307 U.S. men died: we lost a carrier, a destroyer, 150 planes. The far heavier Japanese losses — 3,500 men, four carriers, 253 planes—made Midway a turning point in the war.

June 1943 saw the launching of the campaign against Italy in which 7,400 Americans died. First landings were on the islands surrounding Sicily. By September Italy was out of the war.

It was in June 1917 that the first American troops landed in France in World War I. Twenty-seven years later the Allies invaded France in World War II. This was D-Day in Normandy, June 6, 1944, the start of Operation Overlord. Before that action was completed there was bereavement in many thousands of American homes.

Fortunately the memories and hatreds of old wars pass. Yet they leave behind them a bitter heritage. This includes the ugly image on the minds of American youth which some see as responsible, to a degree, for the juvenile delinquency problem.

Many a veteran, remembering things he would like to forget, is inclined to deplore the showing of films depicting the sordid and ugly details of those past days of bloodshed and sorrow. Yet perhaps they serve a purpose in reminding us of the great need to reach international understanding without resort to war.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE WOMAN I LOVE

When King Edward VIII of Great Britain, etc., resigned his post to marry an American woman fom Baltimore, Maryland, there were those who said that, such a marriage would fail; that the Duke would regret his act. Twenty-five years have now passed and the Duke and Duchess are still husband and wife. This marriage has not failed.

The Duke and Duchess usually live in France, but they come to this country once each year for about a month. Most of their time is spent in New York where they have many friends. They are a cheerful pair, who have no side to them, as the expression goes. Of course, there are Americans who thrill at meeting royalty.

But when all that is done, one finds the Duke of Windsor a well-informed man who has a sharp nose for the nuances of public affairs. He is in these parts so often that, in many ways, he has become one of us and is undoubtedly an excellent ambassador from the United States to Europe.

There are very few kings left in the world. The beautiful feudal conception of noblesse oblige is one of the qualities which we have lost in our ascent to freedom. Also, in our civilization, where there are two types of aristocracy, the lesser one, based on wealth, too often inherited from a roughneck, self-made ancestor, the characteristics of an aristocracy based on ancestry are hardly understood.

Many of the so-called European refugees who go by all sorts of feudal titles are not far removed from the fringes of ancient families who, in the thousand years of feudalism, were permitted to hold a spear and were rewarded with some ownership of land. The great families of Europe were few. Others, who ply various trades and give the impression that they have come down in the world, have, in reality, been elevated by being permitted to live in this country where they can earn a living of one kind or another and are often invited to dinner for their titles.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are, of course, not of this breed. They lend tone and add zest to the waning society of New York and the Duke gets to know what is going on. He likes to meet people and has a flair for understanding.

It is none of our business how the British treat the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. But 25 years is a long time to get over a disappointment or an anger and most Americans like a marriage that lasts and a couple who find happiness.

I first saw the Duke when he was Prince of Wales and visited Japan. Since those merry years, much has happened to everybody's life. I saw him and his lady a few days ago and as we spoke, I could not help feeling that the years have really been kind to this man and that he has found a happiness in marriage which he could not have found as a king. For there is this about one who does not like to take advantage of his position: it must be very trying to have to toe a ministerial line and not speak up for himself. This is nowadays required of a king or queen.

The Duke is an extraordinary attractive person and he and the Duchess make a charming pair. They are not regal, in the motion picture sense and one does not imagine anyone playing, "Pomp and Circumstance," as they enter a room. They are a comfortable middle-aged couple, who, having been married to each other for a quarter of a century, obviously like the estate. Perhaps it is thus established that the "Woman I love," is worth a throne. At any rate, there seem to be no regrets.

Americans are not a vengeful people who can remain angry very long. To most of us, it is a bit surprising that the British people do not ask the Duke and Duchess to come to London to celebrate their silver wedding. After all, London is home to them.

No one has lost anything or suffered in any way because the Duke married the Duchess 25 years ago. He had, before that, travelled the world to make Great Britain bettter liked. He was regarded as Great Britain's best salesman. Then the Duke spoke up like a man about some coal miners and all the vested interests came down on him. There were other instances of independence.

So, the politicians used the excuse of his marriage to exile him. Well, they had their way and most of those who badgered him are now dead and gone. He lives and his Duchess lives and the kind thing to do is to forget the old angers and to have a good, old family reunion of the House of Windsor. How can nations live in peace, if great families continue feuds?

Many Rheumatic Hearts Due to 'Sneak Attacks'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Last week, I was sent for by the school nurse and told that my daughter was found to have a murmur that the doctor said was due to an attack of rheumatic fever. When I said that my daughter never had any trouble with her joints, the nurse said that made no difference. She said she must have had a sore throat. But she had no sore throat. Is it possible to have what they call rheumatic heart disease without ever having had trouble with the joints or a sore throat?

A—I'm afraid it is. According to the most recent authoritative study, about a third of the youngsters with rheumatic heart diseases had no symptoms that suggested a streptococcal infection before the attack. And another fifth had symptoms that merely suggested an ordinary upper respiratory infection much like the common cold.

If only the streptococcal infection that precedes an attack of rheumatic fever or that damages a child's heart had some distinguishing characteristic (like the rash of measles), prevention could easily be accomplished by effective use of penicillin or some other strep-killer. But the causative organism is given to "sneak attacks."

There is no reason to believe you neglected your child.

Q—I have had a "cardiac neurosis" for many years. After my baby's birth I felt fine for about a month. Then I became very blue and the doctor said I had a "postpartum depression." He gave me medicines that did not help and now recommends shock treatments. Are these safe? Would they help me?

A—As you may know, many persons—men and women alike—suffer mental depressions. And since many women also have babies at the time that a depression sets in, there is a temptation to link the conditions and speak of "postpartum" depressions just as these depresseed states are called "menopausal" if they occur after the period of childbearing has come to an end. While many physicians and even neurologists hold to this association, many of us are more inclined to believe that the association is chance rather than causal.

The importance of this to a young mother, such as you, is that you need not expect the "postpartum depression" to follow each pregnancy and thus discourage you from having more children. As to shock treatments, they are both safe and effective for relief of depressions when conducted by experienced physicians under proper auspices.

"Is There Room for Me?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Strange behavior of the stock market again has raised questions of how good a barometer of general business conditions it really is.

One of the most amazing manifestations of the recent market break was that no one seemed to know why prices dropped so preciptously, but lots of experts were citing reasons why the market should not be misbehaving.

Thus Ladd Plumley, new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, when asked at the National Press Club, "Should I sell my A.T.&T.?" could only reply, "I wish somebody else would answer that question so I could follow him to the brokers," It was no disgrace he didn't know.

Ulumley made the speech that many have made before him to the tune of, "Business must have confidence" and, "What we need is to re-create an atmosphere of stability and growth." Nobody ever argues against those principles.

THE DAY BEFORE THE PLUMLEY SPEECH was made Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, cited statistics on stability and growth of the economy since the end of the first quarter of 1961.

Gross national product is up $48 billion or 8 per cent. Labor income is up $29 billion or 10 per cent. Corporate profits are up $12.8 billion or 32 per cent. Industrial production is up 15 per cent. Payroll employment is up 1.6 million jobs. Unemployment is down 1 million or 20 per cent. This is not considered a declining economy.

But the key figures which contribute most to the image of stability are found in consumer expenditures. Dr. Heller says they have risen $21 billion in the last four quarters—$10 billion for services, $6 billion for nondurable goods, $5 billion for durables, mostly autos.

Consumer debt has risen only $1.5 billion and savings have risen over $20 billion. This is a lot of potential spending power, once it is turned loose.

Federal Reserve Board's new quarterly survey of consumer buying intentions gives some hints where some of this money may go. More consumers are reporting plans to buy automobiles, household durable goods and houses in the next three to six months than in any recent January-to-April quarter. In the past, consumer buying intentions have usually declined in this first quarter of the year.

NATIONAL CONSUMER FINANCE ASSN., a private research group, also reports that the 17 million senior citizens aren't behaving like grandpa and grandma used to. Their income has been built up by better private industry retirement plans and social security, plus generally higher pay during working years, resulting in higher retirement income.

These people spend for travel, hobbies and modern gadgets and appliances intended for younger families, resisting products developed for people over 65. The invasion of these people on the market place is assuming increasing economic importance.

Robert H. Myers, professor of marketing at Miami, Ohio, University, has just written a marketers' aid letter for Small Business Administration here, urging merchants to pitch their sales appeal at modern buying habits.

Today's consumers, Professor Myers points out, have more money, are better educated, have more refined tastes, demand better values and use credit more intelligently.

If all these factors cited above by eminent authorities are true, then the Great American Consumer market should provide a better business barometer than the ups and downs of a stock market fever chart.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy still shows no awareness of the serious plight of the American economy today. At his Thursday news conference he made no mention of the continuing demands of labor-union leaders who seek to increase wage costs. Nor did he indicate any change in the Administration's policy in forcing a "profit squeeze" by condemning price increases that are designed to take care of such labor costs. This dilemma, however, has been the basic cause of the stock market's recent collapse.

Mr. Kennedy chose to regard the market's fall as merely the natural result of the overpricing of securities and the ending of an era of inflation. He thinks it's all just speculative and — like President Hoover in 1929— he is arguing that conditions are fundamentally sound.

The President doesn't seem to have made up his mind just when a general tax cut that might be helpful to economic progress should be made. For he talked vaguely at his news conference about postponing action on such a measure till the session of Congress which begins next January. He said the bill could be made retroactive so it would take effect on the first of next year. But it's difficult to do this, as the whole nation of taxpayers will find it hard to estimate their taxes while Congress is debating a change in rates. Also, the President has tied into the same measure what he calls "offsetting" tax reforms to close "loopholes" and cut down loss of tax revenue. The President admits the net tax reduction will not be large. This will mean long debate and delay.

Maybe Mr. Kennedy thinks that Congress, which is to get the text of his tax proposals at the end of this summer, will be under such pressure from the people that an extra session may have to be called after the Congressional elections in November to enact the bill.

Possible Boomerang

But these tactics could boomerang. The people would be voting then on an expectation instead of a concrete piece of legislation. Is this fair to the people. Aren't they entitled to know in advance what their taxes will be for the year ahead, and to have a chance to voice approval or disapproval at the polls? Practical politics may dictate the answer that it is better to keep the people guessing and let them hope they may get more than they really will. To tell them exactly how little they will receive —when they have been led to expect more—is not supposed to be a wise strategy a few weeks before an election.

The whole approach is political. The Administration isn't really anxious to grant any tax cut. It doesn't actually plan to let the corporation-tax rate go down very much, if at all. The sop to the industrial world is supposed to be in the form of two tax benefits. One, which will not be enacted by law but by revising existing Treasury regulations, would permit certain industries to shorten the period on which depreciation rates are computed. The other would be a law giving to certain industries an 8 per cent investment credit. But this applies only to new machinery and equipment. It doesn't cover the whole problem of modernization which confronts companies in the heavy-good industries. This proposal has been before Congress for many months now. It has awakened little enthusiasm and a great deal of opposition. For it really doesn't solve the problem of depreciation rules, which for many years have been in need of a general overhauling .

The bandying about of such figures as a tax credit of $1.3 billion for new machinery and a tax saving of $1.2 billion through the new depreciation rules and perhaps another $200 million in various reductions of special taxes—such as those on transportation—will give the impression that a substantial tax cut is being recommended by the President. In an economy which is supposed to have a gross national output estimated at somewhere between $550 and $565 billion this year, these are relatively trivial tax reductions.

Picked Out of Air

Mr. Kennedy talked also about the possibility of a $8 billion surplus in the Federal budget if the economy were to operate at full capacity. This is a figure picked out of the air by his advisors who represent the school of thought which holds that a tax cut periodically necessary to prevent too great a drain on the economy by taxes within a given period.

The American people, on the other hand, aren't worrying today about how the tax totals might theoretically become too big a slice of a prosperous economy. What they want to see first is a prosperous economy achieved. They then can worry about whether too much money is being taken out for taxes.

The real concern today is how to stimulate an economy in which profits have been squeezed by skyrocketing wage costs that have won the approval of an Administration dependent for political support on the votes and campaign contributions furnished by union labor. The real issue isn't being faced—whether monopoly power on the wage-cost side is ever going to be broken up just as monopoly power on the management side is forbidden by law.

To promise tax cuts "across the board" in 1963 to individuals will spur consumer spending and bring back fears of inflation. To give the proposed tax cuts to a few businesses next year will not save those really in trouble today.

The President has not come to grips with the immediate situation. He is taking a big risk politically, too. He may get the surprise of his life in the November elections. It is customary for the people to vote against the party in power when an economic recession is on—and there are signs that the forecast by the stock market of continued recession is more likely to turn out to be true than the optimistic statements of a big recovery by next November being issued in political precincts nowadays in Washington.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

President Kennedy was misinformed when he said in a news conference: "The Billie Sol Estes case came to public attention when the Government indicted him on April 5."

The Dallas Morning News was on the story on March 27 and cracked it on March 28. The News got on it when it covered a secret meeting of creditors with Estes and attorneys in Dallas. Twelve finance companies were represented including the Pacific Finance Company, whose public relations man, Hardin Bishop, of Los Angeles, told the News reporter afterward that the case involved more than $22 million. The News ran a story on page one on Billie Sol Estes was very obscure and had given money to Senator Ralph Yarborough and Congressman Slick Rutherford, both of Texas, for their political purposes. They are Democrats of the special persuasion called radical or left wing.

The FBI pinched Estes on March 29, relying on a warrant, but the Dallas Morning News had been on the story prior to the creditors' meeting of March 27 because it had picked up a tip from a source in the Panhandle. Meanwhile three News men spent a whole afternoon at Este's home in Pecos draining him of information. That was Billie Sol's last visit with reporters although his wife gave a marsmallow interview later.

Ever since the creditors' meeting the Morning News has been all over the story and all over the State of Texas, which is a roomy spread. It is impossible for any one reporter or even a pair of reporters to tag all bases. I checked in at Lubbock, on April 19 and barnstormed to Pecos, La Mesa, Odessa, Midland, Van Horn and El Paso for 13 days. New York and Washington papers were ignoring a news story with the political qualities and size of a Teapot Dome. The first New York reporter I saw was Clyde Farnsworth, of the Times, whom I encountered in the office of the Pecos Independent on Sunday, April 29, as I was pulling out. He told me Earl Mazo, of the New York Herald Tribune, had put down over in Dallas. They both gave it their all, but the Times seemed apathetic whereas Jock Whitney, now operating the Herald Tribune, has whooped it up like a carnival pitchman.

Whitney is a polo player like Averell Harriman. Whitney even threw in with the late Marshall Field, also a polo player, back in the New Deal as publisher of a cockeyed paper in New York which was called PM.

It is no coincidence that the Unseen Influence, which is now known as The Establishment behind the U.S. Government, picked two polo players to be ambassadors — Harriman for Moscow, and Jock for London, Chester Bowles does not play polo, but he acts that way and he was ambassador to India.

The Dallas Morning News did great work. In the home office, William Rives, the assistant editor, scheduled and apportioned the assignments all the way from Washington to Pecos.

In Washington, Robert Baskin and John Mashek covered the reticent Department of Agriculture, which went Nazi when it abducted a blameless woman secretarial employe and tried to have her adjudged a side-wheeler. They also emphasized the efforts of the Department to suppress information in its files bearing on the death by violence, probably murder, in Franklin, Tex., of one of its own employes, Henry H. Marshall.

Mr. Rives's staff included three excellent men in Austin, the State Capital, where Will Wilson, the attorney general, was running forays into Dallas and other cities with a raod-show grand jury called a court of inquiry. The Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, whom the President described as a football player, could not have been much more sluggish if he had been suspected of something himself. Some football players are worse than polo players. Freeman finally had to fire three men who could have been canned weeks before. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Jimmy Banks, William Winfrey and Tom Mulligan, the Morning News farm editor, were working in and out of Dallas and Austin as aforesaid and Tom Turner covered second base at Waco.

The news did an old-fashioned job of staying in front of all opposition all the while. And this was a little poignant (if I may use a word so far from my humble station) because Ted Dealey, the publisher, is the one who popped off at that editors' lunching in the White House last November when Jack asked for criticism. Ted said, "We were looking for a leader on a white horse and here you come riding Caroline's tricycle."

Mr. Dealey still expects to hear the tumbril on the cobbles outside his home in Dallas some two o'clock in the morning.

RADIATION COMFORT

Some comfort may be derived from the Federal Radiation Council's report on "Health Implications of Fallout From Nuclear Weapons Testing Through 1916." Anyone who supposes that this report settles the matter of fallout hazards once and for all is, however, gravely mistaken.

As far as it goes, the report is heartening. It was on the basis of this survey, whose findings were made available to the White House early this year, that President Kennedy finally decided to proceed with resumption of atmospheric nuclear tests. He was surely heartened by the Radiation Council's carefully documented judgment that the health hazard as the result of previous tests was so small as to be considered, if one thinks statistically, almost inconsequential.

The truth seems to be that testing thus far has increased by only a tiny percentage the natural background radiation which is one of the conditions of life on this planet. It appears that the chances of any individual's contracting leukemia as a result of radioactive fallout thus far spewed out into the atmosphere are minute. Even the potential genetic effects — and in this area most experts seem agreed that any amount of radiation at all is likely to cause some harm in the future—are reported to be very small.

The trouble is that, even though this report was intended to give Americans an authoritative judgment, it remains apparent that we still know too little about the effects of radioactivity to make predictions with much certainty. There is comfort in the Radiation Council's report, but it is chilly comfort. As testing continues, many laymen and not a few well informed scientists will go right on wondering whether man is not doing himself irrevocable harm.

Khrushchev says that while capitalists taik about brotherhood, they do nothing but rob. But that Soviet price boost on butter and meat would indicate that the capitalists could learn something from the Kremlin.

Q—Last week, I was sent for by the school nurse and told that my daughter was found to have a murmur that the doctor said was due to an attack of rheumatic fever. When I said that my daughter never had any trouble with her joints, the nurse said that made no difference. She said she must have had a sore throat. But she had no sore throat. Is it possible to have what they call rheumatic heart disease without ever having had trouble with the joints or a sore throat?

A—I'm afraid it is. According to the most recent authoritative study, about a third of the youngsters with rheumatic heart diseases had no symptoms that suggested a streptococcal infection before the attack. And another fifth had symptoms that merely suggested an ordinary upper respiratory infection much like the common cold.

If only the streptococcal infection that precedes an attack of rheumatic fever or that damages a child's heart had some distinguishing characteristic (like the rash of measles), prevention could easily be accomplished by effective use of penicillin or some other strep-killer. But the causative organism is given to "sneak attacks."

There is no reason to believe you neglected your child.

Q—I have had a "cardiac neurosis" for many years. After my baby's birth I felt fine for about a month. Then I became very blue and the doctor said I had a "postpartum depression." He gave me medicines that did not help and now recommends shock treatments. Are these safe? Would they help me?

A—As you may know, many persons—men and women alike—suffer mental depressions. And since many women also have babies at the time that a depression sets in, there is a temptation to link the conditions and speak of "postpartum" depressions just as these depresseed states are called "menopausal" if they occur after the period of childbearing has come to an end. While many physicians and even neurologists hold to this association, many of us are more inclined to believe that the association is chance rather than causal.

The importance of this to a young mother, such as you, is that you need not expect the "postpartum depression" to follow each pregnancy and thus discourage you from having more children. As to shock treatments, they are both safe and effective for relief of depressions when conducted by experienced physicians under proper auspices.

"Is There Room for Me?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Strange behavior of the stock market again has raised questions of how good a barometer of general business conditions it really is.

One of the most amazing manifestations of the recent market break was that no one seemed to know why prices dropped so preciptously, but lots of experts were citing reasons why the market should not be misbehaving.

Thus Ladd Plumley, new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, when asked at the National Press Club, "Should I sell my A.T.&T.?" could only reply, "I wish somebody else would answer that question so I could follow him to the brokers," It was no disgrace he didn't know.

Ulumley made the speech that many have made before him to the tune of, "Business must have confidence" and, "What we need is to re-create an atmosphere of stability and growth." Nobody ever argues against those principles.

THE DAY BEFORE THE PLUMLEY SPEECH was made Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, cited statistics on stability and growth of the economy since the end of the first quarter of 1961.

Gross national product is up $48 billion or 8 per cent. Labor income is up $29 billion or 10 per cent. Corporate profits are up $12.8 billion or 32 per cent. Industrial production is up 15 per cent. Payroll employment is up 1.6 million jobs. Unemployment is down 1 million or 20 per cent. This is not considered a declining economy.

But the key figures which contribute most to the image of stability are found in consumer expenditures. Dr. Heller says they have risen $21 billion in the last four quarters—$10 billion for services, $6 billion for nondurable goods, $5 billion for durables, mostly autos.

Consumer debt has risen only $1.5 billion and savings have risen over $20 billion. This is a lot of potential spending power, once it is turned loose.

Federal Reserve Board's new quarterly survey of consumer buying intentions gives some hints where some of this money may go. More consumers are reporting plans to buy automobiles, household durable goods and houses in the next three to six months than in any recent January-to-April quarter. In the past, consumer buying intentions have usually declined in this first quarter of the year.

NATIONAL CONSUMER FINANCE ASSN., a private research group, also reports that the 17 million senior citizens aren't behaving like grandpa and grandma used to. Their income has been built up by better private industry retirement plans and social security, plus generally higher pay during working years, resulting in higher retirement income.

These people spend for travel, hobbies and modern gadgets and appliances intended for younger families, resisting products developed for people over 65. The invasion of these people on the market place is assuming increasing economic importance.

Robert H. Myers, professor of marketing at Miami, Ohio, University, has just written a marketers' aid letter for Small Business Administration here, urging merchants to pitch their sales appeal at modern buying habits.

Today's consumers, Professor Myers points out, have more money, are better educated, have more refined tastes, demand better values and use credit more intelligently.

If all these factors cited above by eminent authorities are true, then the Great American Consumer market should provide a better business barometer than the ups and downs of a stock market fever chart.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy still shows no awareness of the serious plight of the American economy today. At his Thursday news conference he made no mention of the continuing demands of labor-union leaders who seek to increase wage costs. Nor did he indicate any change in the Administration's policy in forcing a "profit squeeze" by condemning price increases that are designed to take care of such labor costs. This dilemma, however, has been the basic cause of the stock market's recent collapse.

Mr. Kennedy chose to regard the market's fall as merely the natural result of the overpricing of securities and the ending of an era of inflation. He thinks it's all just speculative and — like President Hoover in 1929— he is arguing that conditions are fundamentally sound.

The President doesn't seem to have made up his mind just when a general tax cut that might be helpful to economic progress should be made. For he talked vaguely at his news conference about postponing action on such a measure till the session of Congress which begins next January. He said the bill could be made retroactive so it would take effect on the first of next year. But it's difficult to do this, as the whole nation of taxpayers will find it hard to estimate their taxes while Congress is debating a change in rates. Also, the President has tied into the same measure what he calls "offsetting" tax reforms to close "loopholes" and cut down loss of tax revenue. The President admits the net tax reduction will not be large. This will mean long debate and delay.

Maybe Mr. Kennedy thinks that Congress, which is to get the text of his tax proposals at the end of this summer, will be under such pressure from the people that an extra session may have to be called after the Congressional elections in November to enact the bill.

Possible Boomerang

But these tactics could boomerang. The people would be voting then on an expectation instead of a concrete piece of legislation. Is this fair to the people. Aren't they entitled to know in advance what their taxes will be for the year ahead, and to have a chance to voice approval or disapproval at the polls? Practical politics may dictate the answer that it is better to keep the people guessing and let them hope they may get more than they really will. To tell them exactly how little they will receive —when they have been led to expect more—is not supposed to be a wise strategy a few weeks before an election.

The whole approach is political. The Administration isn't really anxious to grant any tax cut, It doesn't actually plan to let the corporation-tax rate go down very much, if at all. The sop to the industrial world is supposed to be in the form of two tax benefits. One, which will not be enacted by law but by revising existing Treasury regulations, would permit certain industries to shorten the period on which depreciation rates are computed. The other would be a law giving to certain industries an 8 per cent investment credit. But this applies only to new machinery and equipment. It doesn't cover the whole problem of modernization which confronts companies in the heavy-good industries. This proposal has been before Congress for many months now. It has awakened little enthusiasm and a great deal of opposition. For it really doesn't solve the problem of depreciation rules, which for many years have been in need of a general overhauling .

The bandying about of such figures as a tax credit of $1.3 billion for new machinery and a tax saving of $1.2 billion through the new depreciation rules and perhaps another $200 million in various reductions of special taxes—such as those on transportation—will give the impression that a substantial tax cut is being recommended by the President. In an economy which is supposed to have a gross national output estimated at somewhere between $550 and $565 billion this year, these are relatively trivial tax reductions.

Picked Out of Air

Mr. Kennedy talked also about the possibility of a $8 billion surplus in the Federal budget if the economy were to operate at full capacity. This is a figure picked out of the air by his advisors who represent the school of thought which holds that a tax cut periodically necessary to prevent too great a drain on the economy by taxes within a given period.

The American people, on the other hand, aren't worrying today about how the tax totals might theoretically become too big a slice of a prosperous economy. What they want to see first is a prosperous economy achieved. They then can worry about whether too much money is being taken out for taxes.

The real concern today is how to stimulate an economy in which profits have been squeezed by skyrocketing wage costs that have won the approval of an Administration dependent for political support on the votes and campaign contributions furnished by union labor. The real issue isn't being faced—whether monopoly power on the wage-cost side is ever going to be broken up just as monopoly power on the management side is forbidden by law.

To promise tax cuts "across the board" in 1963 to individuals will spur consumer spending and bring back fears of inflation. To give the proposed tax cuts to a few businesses next year will not save those really in trouble today.

The President has not come to grips with the immediate situation. He is taking a big risk politically, too. He may get the surprise of his life in the November elections. It is customary for the people to vote against the party in power when an economic recession is on—and there are signs that the forecast by the stock market of continued recession is more likely to turn out to be true than the optimistic statements of a big recovery by next November being issued in political precincts nowadays in Washington.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

President Kennedy was misinformed when he said in a news conference: "The Billie Sol Estes case came to public attention when the Government indicted him on April 5."

The Dallas Morning News was on the story on March 27 and cracked it on March 28. The News got on it when it covered a secret meeting of creditors with Estes and attorneys in Dallas. Twelve finance companies were represented including the Pacific Finance Company, whose public relations man, Hardin Bishop, of Los Angeles, told the News reporter afterward that the case involved more than $22 million. The News ran a story on page one on Billie Sol Estes was very obscure and had given money to Senator Ralph Yarborough and Congressman Slick Rutherford, both of Texas, for their political purposes. They are Democrats of the special persuasion called radical or left wing.

The FBI pinched Estes on March 29, relying on a warrant, but the Dallas Morning News had been on the story prior to the creditors' meeting of March 27 because it had picked up a tip from a source in the Panhandle. Meanwhile three News men spent a whole afternoon at Este's home in Pecos draining him of information. That was Billie Sol's last visit with reporters although his wife gave a marsmallow interview later.

Ever since the creditors' meeting the Morning News has been all over the story and all over the State of Texas, which is a roomy spread. It is impossible for any one reporter or even a pair of reporters to tag all bases. I checked in at Lubbock, on April 19 and barnstormed to Pecos, La Mesa, Odessa, Midland, Van Horn and El Paso for 13 days. New York and Washington papers were ignoring a news story with the political qualities and size of a Teapot Dome. The first New York reporter I saw was Clyde Farnsworth, of the Times, whom I encountered in the office of the Pecos Independent on Sunday, April 29, as I was pulling out. He told me Earl Mazo, of the New York Herald Tribune, had put down over in Dallas. They both gave it their all, but the Times seemed apathetic whereas Jock Whitney, now operating the Herald Tribune, has whooped it up like a carnival pitchman.

Whitney is a polo player like Averell Harriman. Whitney even threw in with the late Marshall Field, also a polo player, back in the New Deal as publisher of a cockeyed paper in New York which was called PM.

It is no coincidence that the Unseen Influence, which is now known as The Establishment behind the U.S. Government, picked two polo players to be ambassadors — Harriman for Moscow, and Jock for London, Chester Bowles does not play polo, but he acts that way and he was ambassador to India.

The Dallas Morning News did great work. In the home office, William Rives, the assistant editor, scheduled and apportioned the assignments all the way from Washington to Pecos.

In Washington, Robert Baskin and John Mashek covered the reticent Department of Agriculture, which went Nazi when it abducted a blameless woman secretarial employe and tried to have her adjudged a side-wheeler. They also emphasized the efforts of the Department to suppress information in its files bearing on the death by violence, probably murder, in Franklin, Tex., of one of its own employes, Henry H. Marshall.

Mr. Rives's staff included three excellent men in Austin, the State Capital, where Will Wilson, the attorney general, was running forays into Dallas and other cities with a raod-show grand jury called a court of inquiry. The Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, whom the President described as a football player, could not have been much more sluggish if he had been suspected of something himself. Some football players are worse than polo players. Freeman finally had to fire three men who could have been canned weeks before. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Jimmy Banks, William Winfrey and Tom Mulligan, the Morning News farm editor, were working in and out of Dallas and Austin as aforesaid and Tom Turner covered second base at Waco.

The news did an old-fashioned job of staying in front of all opposition all the while. And this was a little poignant (if I may use a word so far from my humble station) because Ted Dealey, the publisher, is the one who popped off at that editors' lunching in the White House last November when Jack asked for criticism. Ted said, "We were looking for a leader on a white horse and here you come riding Caroline's tricycle."

Mr. Dealey still expects to hear the tumbril on the cobbles outside his home in Dallas some two o'clock in the morning.

Conscience Fund Is Richer by $84

ALBANY — State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy today announced that $84 in "conscience fund" receipts have been deposited in the State General Fund.

Receipt of the money, sent in recently by six anonymous taxpayers, cost the state one cent—the amount of postage due on a 3-cent stamped envelope mailed from Cohoes and containing two $1 bills. The nameless note with the money said only "Guilty Conscience."

Another payment of $2 came from Buffalo with this note: "Please find $2. Add this to the conscience stricken fund."

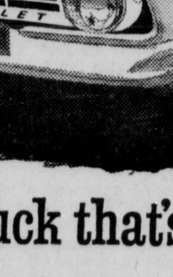

An unsigned payment of $16.20 from Poughkeepsie was accompanied by the bottom part of a State Tax Collection Bureau form letter. A $50 bill in envelope postmarked New York City was received at the Brooklyn District Office with the front page of the State "long form" IT-201 packet. It was signed "Anonymous."

A postal money order for $7.80 purchased in Elmira and signed only, "Conscience Income Tax," was received at the Tax Department's Binghamton District Office, and a taxpayer who presumably had moved to St. Louis mailed a $5 and a $1 bill to "The Director, Income Tax. For Conscience Fund, 1961."

Serial numbers of all currency are recorded before the money is deposited in the General Fund.

• BRIDGE Play Depends on Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Silodor and Tierney point out that the correct play of a suit frequently depends on the contract.

South wins the opening heart lead and notices that he will have to lose one diamond and two club tricks come what may. Hence, if he is playing a four spade contract he will have to avoid the loss of a trump trick and the best way to do this is to drop the singleton king from either East or West. So, he will lead a trump and go up with dummy's ace.

If South merely rebid to three spades and North dropped him there South should employ a safety play to guard against the loss of two trump tricks.

This safety play is not hard to figure out. He simply leads a low spade. If West plays the jack, South rises with dummy's ace and loses one trump trick. If West plays the king, South also rises with dummy's ace and makes four odd. If West plays the nine, South plays dummy's ace.

If East shows out, South loses only one trump trick, if East wins with either the king or the jack there will be only one trump left and South will pick it up with the ace on the next lead.

Guthion

—Mr. John W. Pellett, Lyndonville, New York

"Last year, 90 per cent of our apple crop commanded top price," reports Mr. John W. Pellett, co-owner/operator of 375 acres of processing apples. "Only about 70% of local crops rate top-dollar, normally.

"Bettering the average of our area means a good $20,000 added gross for us. And a substantial portion of our performance record is directly attributable to Guthion. We get better control with fewer sprayings, and larger, better color fruit. There's no guesswork with Guthion, either. It does the job alone, without added concoctions for specific insects."

Guthion is a true single-chemical, all-season fruit insect control. From bloom to harvest, you use fewer cover sprays. Resulting lower labor costs and higher grade fruit make Guthion your lowest-cost-per-season insecticide.

Guthion has a proven long residual action. It eliminates your worries of "between cover" sprays for severe spot infestations, and "split-second" timing of applications.

Guthion is safe to foliage and finish, cannot cause build-up of soil residue. Guthion alone gives you universal control that cannot be matched by any other type of program.

Conscience Fund Is Richer by $84

ALBANY — State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy today announced that $84 in "conscience fund" receipts have been deposited in the State General Fund.

Receipt of the money, sent in recently by six anonymous taxpayers, cost the state one cent—the amount of postage due on a 3-cent stamped envelope mailed from Cohoes and containing two $1 bills. The nameless note with the money said only "Guilty Conscience."

Another payment of $2 came from Buffalo with this note: "Please find $2. Add this to the conscience stricken fund."

An unsigned payment of $16.-20 from Poughkeepsie was accompanied by the bottom part of a State Tax Collection Bureau form letter. A $50 bill in envelope postmarked New York City was received at the Brooklyn District Office with the front page of the State "long form" IT-201 packet. It was signed "Anonymous."

A postal money order for $7.-80 purchased in Elmira and signed only, "Conscience Income Tax," was received at the Tax Department's Binghamton District Office, and a taxpayer who presumably had moved to St. Louis mailed a $5 and a $1 bill to "The Director, Income Tax. For Conscience Fund, 1961."

Serial numbers of all currency are recorded before the money is deposited in the General Fund.

• BRIDGE Play Depends on Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Silodor and Tierney point out that the correct play of a suit frequently depends on the contract.

South wins the opening heart lead and notices that he will have to lose one diamond and two club tricks come what may. Hence, if he is playing a four spade contract he will have to avoid the loss of a trump trick and the best way to do this is to drop the singleton king from either East or West. So, he will lead a trump and go up with dummy's ace.

If South merely rebid to three spades and North dropped him there South should employ a safety play to guard against the loss of two trump tricks.

This safety play is not hard to figure out. He simply leads a low spade. If West plays the jack, South rises with dummy's ace and loses one trump trick. If West plays the king, South also rises with dummy's ace and makes four odd. If West plays the nine, South plays dummy's ace.

If East shows out, South loses only one trump trick, if East wins with either the king or the jack there will be only one trump left and South will pick it up with the ace on the next lead.

Guthion

—Mr. John W. Pellett, Lyndonville, New York

"Last year, 90 per cent of our apple crop commanded top price," reports Mr. John W. Pellett, co-owner/operator of 375 acres of processing apples. "Only about 70% of local crops rate top-dollar, normally.

"Bettering the average of our area means a good $20,000 added gross for us. And a substantial portion of our performance record is directly attributable to Guthion. We get better control with fewer sprayings, and larger, better color fruit. There's no guesswork with Guthion, either. It does the job alone, without added concoctions for specific insects."

Guthion is a true single-chemical, all-season fruit insect control. From bloom to harvest, you use fewer cover sprays. Resulting lower labor costs and higher grade fruit make Guthion your lowest-cost-per-season insecticide.

Guthion has a proven long residual action. It eliminates your worries of "between cover" sprays for severe spot infestations, and "split-second" timing of applications.

Guthion is safe to foliage and finish, cannot cause build-up of soil residue. Guthion alone gives you universal control that cannot be matched by any other type of program.

OAS Quickly Halts Terror In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—The European Secret Army Organization today mysteriously halted its terrorism in Algiers at least temporarily after a day of arson and indiscriminate shooting.

Hopeful French officials believed the appeal for peace by Jean Georges Sarradet, head of some 2,000 secret army commandos, was beginning to work.

Most Europeans, however, said skeptically it was the driving rain over the city that stopped the destructive action.

Sarradet called Thursday on his fellow terrorists to abandon their struggle and seek peace with the top leaders of Moslem nationalism.

Bank Action Warned

But at this stage th. leaders of the Algerian nationalists apparently had no desire to deal with the European terrorists.

Throughout the morning, thousands of rain-soaked Europeans besieged banks and the remaining post office buildings to withdraw savings.

The secret army spread word through the city that starting Tuesday it will prevent the operation of banks and halt money transfers to France.

At the administrative center at Rocher Noir, the commission controlling the forthcoming self-determination referendum announced that seven political parties registered for the July 1 voting.

Among the parties are the Moslem rebel Front of National Liberation (FLN) and its rival national Algerian movement which registered under its old name of the "Party of the Algerian People."

Fouchet Goes to Paris

Not a single party representing Algeria's Europeans made its appearance as the deadline for registrations expired at midnight. The hitherto banned Algerian Communist party asked for permission to campaign.

France's high commissioner in Algiera, Christian Fouchet, was summoned to Paris by President Charles de Gaulle for urgent consultation.

The mysterious halt in secret army terrorism throughout the morning was a surprise, for new fire attacks on government buildings and economic installations in the scorched earth campaign had been expected.

Flames shot high over Oran—Algeria's second largest city—Thursday night after a booby-trapped tank truck exploded and spread flaming gasoline over a new high school used as a police barracks.

Secret army commandos struck almost simultaneously at a big natural gas tank in the same part of town and set it afire.

The fiery attacks in Oran came a few hours after three phosphorous bombs started a fire that gutted the main building of Algiers University, in the capital.

New Evidence of Rift

With the resumption of the terrorism—including the indiscriminate shooting down of Moslems—came more evidence of the rift in the secret army between the diehards and those ready to give up the fight.

Coming out of hiding, terrorist leader Jean Georges Sarradet called a news conference to appeal to the diehards to quit.

"We have lost the battle," he said.

Sarradet coupled his call with a plea to Moslem nationalists to grant the secret army a general amnesty to pave the way for a peaceful future in the new Algeria.

Moslem leaders demanded European settlers show their repudiation of the secret army or risk their future in the country when Algeria becomes independent.

ency treatment, maintaining circulation, during an ambulance ride to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Mara was given a series of six high-voltage electric shocks.

There was no immediate response, but then a few heart beats were recorded, an irregular rhythm developed and a pulse became perceptible. Finally, blood pressure was restored.

The treatment was repeated that night after Mara suffered another attack.

Two days later, the mailman was in good condition.

Mara won't be able to return to his mail route yet but Asher Black said he probably would be able to play his game of golf by fall.

SRO Awaits Benny

TBLISI, U.S.S.R. (AP)—Benny Goodman and his jazz band arrived in this capital of the Georgian Republic today after rain storms grounded them at Sochi all day Thursday.

The band, dog tired from its journey, was to have given its opening concert here tonight. But this was postponed until Saturday night.

The American jazzmen will play in the 8,000-seat Tblisi Sports Palace, biggest hall on its six-week tour. Tickets have been sold out weeks in advance.

Contracts . . .

noted that a study is being made of other contracts.

Mrs. Connelly recommended that the district permit the Ulster Community College board to arrange for use of part of School 2 at the opening of the college in September, 1963. It was noted that the college will pay costs of renovations, maintenance and operating costs. The board's decision awaits approval of the State Department of Education.

IBM to Use School

The board approved a request from IBM to use Lake Katrine School during July and August for an 8-week training course for 200 men. Eight rooms will be used during the training period, and the district will be reimbursed by IBM $180 a week. IBM will be asked to send a letter to the Board of Education agreeing to hold the district "harmless" of liability.

Hugh Kirkman, a fire prevention specialist, reported that sprinkler and fire detection system have been completed in all schools of the district, subject to final inspection by board members before acceptance.

The board approved an expenditure of $1,000 a year for inspection of the systems.

John Lodes, representative of Perkins and Will, architects, reported the new Junior High school project is slightly ahead of schedule, that the Mary's Avenue school construction is on schedule, and that the contractors are "very cooperative" and anxious to complete the project on schedule.

Transfer Authorized

The board authorized the transfer of $9,250 from the General Fund to the Site Acquisition fund for the purchase of property from the City of Kingston for use as a school site in the Hasbrouck Park area.

The board also approved an expenditure of $16,000 and authorized Andrew J. Cook Jr., school attorney, to exchange that sum for a deed to the Michael J. and Claire Corcoran premises and approximately .273 acres required for the new school in Hasbrouck Park area.

A request from A. C. Brueckner Jr., trustee of Hurley School 6, West Shokan, for permission to send seventh and eighth grade students to the Myron J. Michael School for the school year 1962-63, was approved. The district will be billed for tuition. Presently, two children of the Hurley district, will attend.

Pupil Fee Increased

The board fixed registration fee for non-resident students attending the approved summer elementary session in this district at $10 per pupil. The board previously established the resident fee at three dollars per pupil.

Franklin H. Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools, said representatives of the State Department of Education informed him the Kingston district board would be within its rights to charge $10 for non-resident pupils.

On motion of board member Krom, a resolution providing for all students participating in all inter-scholastic teams during the school year 1962-63 be insured in the New York State High School Athletic Protective plan.

To Make Test Borings

Giles Drilling Corp., New York City, was awarded a contract for test borings at the Hasbrouck Park Elementary School site. The firm submitted a low bid of $5,078. The bids were received by Harry Halverson, architect. Six other bids were received.

Albany Avenue Garage was awarded a contract for a Jacobsen Turf King 76 mower, in accordance with their proposal in the amount of $1,445, as the lowest responsible bidder.

The board voted to refund $176.87 to Charles J. Saccoman and/or Byrne Memorials Inc., owners of premises known as 521-531 Broadway for overpaid taxes. The State Supreme Court entered an order on June 20, 1960, reducing assessment on the property for 1960 (1961-62 school tax) from $19,350 to $15,000 and directed repayment of school tax monies to the petitioners, with interest rate of four per cent per annum from the date of payment.

Ronder Is Auditor

The board voted to engage Alfred Ronder, to audit accounts for the year, not to exceed $1,500.

The board approved a resolution changing orders on new construction for Kingston city schools as follows: Junior high school, $1,692.80 for revision to a panel wall in accordance with drawing; Mary's Avenue school, $3,849.01 to furnish and install dishwasher, booster and pre-rinse sink.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy's tax-cut pledge brought no particular inpiration to the stock market today. Prices were a bit higher in quiet trading early this afternoon.

A general improvement got under way for a while, then prices edged below their best.

Showing the level near its peak, The Associated Press average at noon was up 1.00 at 222.90, with industrials up 1.50, rails up .40 and utilities up .50.

Most gains of key stocks were fractional, some going to about a point.

A few of the "growth" stocks swung ahead 2 or more points in routine moves for these volatile issues which have been beaten far down from their peaks.

Brokers said much of the steam of Kennedy's tax-cut pledge had been removed by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon's similar statement Monday.

Tobaccos continued to decline. Reynolds Tobacco and Liggett & Myers lost about a point. American Tobacco eased. Lorillard recovered a fraction.

Ford, up more than a point, was the best of Big Three motors. Chrysler rose a fraction and General Motors was steady.

Gains of around a point were posted for General Electric, Radio Corp., Sears, Roebuck and Merck. Up slightly were AT&T, Southern Pacific, and Raytheon.

IBM recovered about 5 points, Polaroid 2 and Litton Industries more than a point.

Prices moved generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in quiet trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

award is annually given to the graduate having the highest scholastic ranking intending to pursue a teaching career.

Tobin's Figures

As a conclusion to the award program, Fowler introduced James Tobin, guidance director of the local high school, who presented some facts and figures regarding the graduating class of 1962.

"There are 393 graduates in the class of '62," said Tobin, "which represents a 25 per cent drop-out over the enrollment of the class in 1958." He compared this 25 per cent drop-out with the national average of 40 per cent, which indicated that the Kingston school system "was doing fairly well on this problem."

Of the 393 graduates, Tobin pointed out that 152 of them were planning to continue their education in 76 different institutions. There were also 31 applications pending for entrance into higher institutions of learning. This left over a hundred graduates who would be available to the local labor market, said Tobin, who indicated that this was a problem that could be difficult.

The guidance director stated that $133,100 in scholarship monies had been earned by the class of 1962, "which academically ranks well with previous classes." He also revealed that the local class had three semi-finalists and two finalists in the national merit scholarship competition with her captain and engineer. When the two were off guard, they jumped them and tied them up.

In conclusion, Tobin expressed appreciation to the local businessmen for their support over a period of 18 years of the Distributive Education Class, whose participants "have earned over two million dollars in the 18-year period," according to Tobin.

Under cover of darkness they spirited their women and the baby aboard. Then at dawn the men got the two-deck boat moving.

Posts of Vopos — as the East German police are called — opened fire.

West Fire Checks Reds

The escapees, moving quickly in twos and threes, sprang ashore. They flung themselves to the ground to escape the whipping bullets. When the West Berlin police fired, the Vopos checked their fire.

The whole thing was over in 20 minutes.

The boat's captain and engineer were allowed to get the boat under way and return to East Berlin.

JFK to Visit Dad

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy is coming here late Sunday to visit his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is reported improving at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

The President, it was reported here, plans to stay at the Hotel Carlyle Sunday night and return to Washington Monday morning. His father is under treatment for the after-effects of a stroke suffered last winter.

The President's wife visited her 73-year-old father-in-law Thursday.

The White House said she planned to visit the patient again today and return to Washington after lunch following a three-day visit here.

imately two years. Therefore, the trustees must move immediately to the determination of a permanent site so that all this can be accomplished for occupancy by September of 1965, the end of the period for which temporary quarters can be used.

Several gift sites are under particular scrutiny since, if unusual site devolpment costs do not offset the value of the offered property, the value of the land plus any usable buildings can benefit county taxpayers doubly through the saving in land acquistion costs and through a matching State University cash grant equivalent to the educational value of the gift. State University, as a partner of the people of Ulster County in providing funds for capital costs and for operating expenses, has been requested to pass upon the acceptability of these sites and to make a rough comparative appraisal of value. This will be done by mid-month.

Must Conform

In setting up curriculum, there is not a great deal of leeway in the university parallel courses leading to transfer to a four-year liberal arts institution. These courses must conform exactly, in content and quality, to similar courses in other accredited institutions since it is on that basis that State University certifies for transfer.

In the technical terminal, sciences and pre-engineering courses, they will be patterned to meet the needs of the area from the standpoint of local industry, present and prospective and to insure graduate employment in growing and thriving industries. Surveys to this end are now in progress.

The college trustees are extremely grateful for the very evident interest of so many citizens in the County College project. Almost daily the trustees are offered valuable counsel and services by large numbers of people throughout the county. This continuing contact is useful to both the trustees and the county population. The trustees realize that they are merely the executors of a trust set up by and for the benefit of the people of the county and they are anxious, at every step, to sense the desires of those people.

The trustees also gratefully acknowledge the helpful cooperation of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Community College Committee which has accepted an invitation to participate in trustees' board meetings, of many individual supervisors and the majority and minority party leaders, the clerk of the Board of Supervisors and Budget director, the County Highway Department the County Board of Health through its director of environmental sanitation, the county treasurer, the courthouse officials and staff in providing a meeting place for the trustees, various officials and departments of the City of Kingston, the Kingston (Consolidated) Board of Education, several state and federal officials and departments, several private groups or corporations which have offered professional counsel and maps or reports, as well as numerous individuals who have shared with them special skills.

"Then I challenge him," Kennedy declared.

May Be Meaningless

Although the convention has had all the hard fighting and all the backstage huddling of a national political convention, the truth is that it's almost meaningless.

For the loser can, and probably will, enter the primaries, too, and a victory here won't necessarily be of great advantage.

Furthermore, the final Democratic winner to come out of the primary may have to run against still a third nationally famous family representative.

For George Lodge, 34, is contending for the Republican nomination against U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis. George's father is Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to the United Nations and GOP candidate for vice president in 1960.

John F. Kennedy beat Henry Cabot Lodge for this same Senate seat in 1952—and with that victory took a giant stride toward the White House.

Charges Truth Suppressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert E. Manuel, dismissed Republican counsel to a House investigating committee, charged today the group's inquiry into the Billie Sol Estes case "is being distorted—and the truth suppressed."

In a statement, Manuel quoted an Agriculture Department official as saying Estes personally pressured him by invoking the names of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, but that Johnson's name was not brought into public testimony.

Market Skids Shouldn't Dissuade Monthly Buyer

Q) "I've been buying stocks through the Monthly Investment Plan for over a year but, so far, I don't seem to have made much progress. I own shares of Hershey Chocolate and Litton Industries." S.S.

A) The Monthly Investment Plan, offered by certain member firms of the New York Stock Exchange, is one of the best ways I know of for the investor with limited capital to acquire a good list of stocks. By paying a fixed sum each month, you are in effect "dollar averaging" and you protect yourself against putting all your funds in the market during a period of peak prices.

However, the benefits of the plan are not fully realized unless you stick to it—regardless of market conditions—over a fairly long period.

For a man who doesn't know much about the market, you have done all right for yourself. You've begun with high quality stocks, both of which I like. Don't become impatient — you've made a very good start.

Q) "I'm new to the market and have bought shares of du Pont. Would you please tell me just what makes my stock go up and down every day?" J.R.

A) For years, people have tried to find out just what makes individual issues move the way they do each day. Theories which claim to have found the whole solution keep cropping up from time to time, but no real solution has ever been given—primarily because the market involves human being whose actions and motives are too complex to boil down into one simple explanation.

Basically, stocks move according to supply and demand. Shares are offered by people who, for a great many reasons, want to sell. Deman is created by those who want to own shares, and the joining of the two forces creates a market which is constantly changing.

In this respect, the daily movements of your du Pont shares are like all others. This is one of the main reasons why I've always stressed the longer term trends of stocks in this column.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Terms on the board are five years.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, only six inches below capacity level.

May rainfall only 1.62 inches, he said, was the lowest for the month in some time. In 1961 the total was 5.06 and in 1960 it was 5.02 inches.

Mones Named Again

Melvin Mones, of 101 Wilson Avenue, who was appointed earlier in the year to fill the unexpired term of the late Commissioner Howard S. Pangburn, was renamed by Mayor John J. Schwenk recently to continue a full term after the May 31 expiration date of the other.

The other commissioners are Edwin Baker, of 22 Second Avenue, and Irving Reuben, of 246 East Chester Street.

A recent letter from the State Insurance Fund notified the water department that it has been awarded an accident control award. The letter said in part: "Please accept our congratulations for having been selected to receive our 1962 Accident Control Engineering Award." It said notice would be given soon on presentation arrangements.

Ashokan Dropping

New York City's water supply in the Ashokan Reservoir, it was noted today, is on the decline again after reaching a high point late in May of 95 per cent of capacity. It was expected that early spring rains would bring it to spillway level or above, but since it was far below that capacity late last year and early this year, and rain was insufficient, it failed to reach full supply.

OAS Quickly Halts Terror In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—The European Secret Army Organization today mysteriously halted its terrorism in Algiers at least temporarily after a day of arson and indiscriminate shooting.

Hopeful French officials believed the appeal for peace by Jean Georges Sarradet, head of some 2,000 secret army commandos, was beginning to work.

Most Europeans, however, said skeptically it was the driving rain over the city that stopped the destructive action.

Sarradet called Thursday on his fellow terrorists to abandon their struggle and seek peace with the top leaders of Moslem nationalism.

Bank Action Warned

But at this stage th. leaders of the Algerian nationalists apparently had no desire to deal with the European terrorists.

Throughout the morning, thousands of rain-soaked Europeans besieged banks and the remaining post office buildings to withdraw savings.

The secret army spread word through the city that starting Tuesday it will prevent the operation of banks and halt money transfers to France.

At the administrative center at Rocher Noir, the commission controlling the forthcoming self-determination referendum announced that seven political parties registered for the July 1 voting.

Among the parties are the Moslem rebel Front of National Liberation (FLN) and its rival national Algerian movement which registered under its old name of the "Party of the Algerian People."

Fouchet Goes to Paris

Not a single party representing Algeria's Europeans made its appearance as the deadline for registrations expired at midnight. The hitherto banned Algerian Communist party asked for permission to campaign.

France's high commissioner in Algiera, Christian Fouchet, was summoned to Paris by President Charles de Gaulle for urgent consultation.

The mysterious halt in secret army terrorism throughout the morning was a surprise, for new fire attacks on government buildings and economic installations in the scorched earth campaign had been expected.

Flames shot high over Oran—Algeria's second largest city—Thursday night after a booby-trapped tank truck exploded and spread flaming gasoline over a new high school used as a police barracks.

Secret army commandos struck almost simultaneously at a big natural gas tank in the same part of town and set it afire.

The fiery attacks in Oran came a few hours after three phosphorous bombs started a fire that gutted the main building of Algiers University, in the capital.

New Evidence of Rift

With the resumption of the terrorism—including the indiscriminate shooting down of Moslems—came more evidence of the rift in the secret army between the diehards and those ready to give up the fight.

Coming out of hiding, terrorist leader Jean Georges Sarradet called a news conference to appeal to the diehards to quit.

"We have lost the battle," he said.

Sarradet coupled his call with a plea to Moslem nationalists to grant the secret army a general amnesty to pave the way for a peaceful future in the new Algeria.

Moslem leaders demanded European settlers show their repudiation of the secret army or risk their future in the country when Algeria becomes independent.

Plans went ahead for the July 1 self-determination referendum. The Moslem high command warned the Europeans if they boycott the vote, it will be taken as a clear demonstration they are obeying the dictates of the secret army.

The treatment was repeated that night after Mara suffered another attack.

TBLISI, U.S.S.R. (AP)—Benny Goodman and his jazz band arrived in this capital of the Georgian Republic today after rain storms grounded them at Sochi all day Thursday.

The band, dog tired from its journey, was to have given its opening concert here tonight. But this was postponed until Saturday night.

The American jazzmen will play in the 8,000-seat Tblisi Sports Palace, biggest hall on its six-week tour. Tickets have been sold out weeks in advance.

noted that a study is being made of other contracts.

Mrs. Connelly recommended that the district permit the Ulster Community College board to arrange for use of part of School 2 at the opening of the college in September, 1963. It was noted that the college will pay costs of renovations, maintenance and operating costs. The board's decision awaits approval of the State Department of Education.

IBM to Use School

The board approved a request from IBM to use Lake Katrine School during July and August for an 8-week training course for 200 men. Eight rooms will be used during the training period, and the district will be reimbursed by IBM $180 a week. IBM will be asked to send a letter to the Board of Education agreeing to hold the district "harmless" of liability.

Hugh Kirkman, a fire prevention specialist, reported that sprinkler and fire detection system have been completed in all schools of the district, subject to final inspection by board members before acceptance.

The board approved an expenditure of $1,000 a year for inspection of the systems.

John Lodes, representative of Perkins and Will, architects, reported the new Junior High school project is slightly ahead of schedule, that the Mary's Avenue school construction is on schedule, and that the contractors are "very cooperative" and anxious to complete the project on schedule.

Transfer Authorized

The board authorized the transfer of $9,250 from the General Fund to the Site Acquisition fund for the purchase of property from the City of Kingston for use as a school site in the Hasbrouck Park area.

The board also approved an expenditure of $16,000 and authorized Andrew J. Cook Jr., school attorney, to exchange that sum for a deed to the Michael J. and Claire Corcoran premises and approximately .273 acres required for the new school in Hasbrouck Park area.

A request from A. C. Brueckner Jr., trustee of Hurley School 6, West Shokan, for permission to send seventh and eighth grade students to the Myron J. Michael School for the school year 1962-63, was approved. The district will be billed for tuition. Presently, two children of the Hurley district, will attend.

Pupil Fee Increased

The board fixed registration fee for non-resident students attending the approved summer elementary session in this district at $10 per pupil. The board previously established the resident fee at three dollars per pupil.

Franklin H. Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools, said representatives of the State Department of Education informed him the Kingston district board would be within its rights to charge $10 for non-resident pupils.

On motion of board member Krom, a resolution providing for all students participating in all inter-scholastic teams during the school year 1962-63 be insured in the New York State High School Athletic Protective plan.

To Make Test Borings

Giles Drilling Corp., New York City, was awarded a contract for test borings at the Hasbrouck Park Elementary School site. The firm submitted a low bid of $5,078. The bids were received by Harry Halverson, architect. Six other bids were received.

Albany Avenue Garage was awarded a contract for a Jacobsen Turf King 76 mower, in accordance with their proposal in the amount of $1,445, as the lowest responsible bidder.

The board voted to refund $176.87 to Charles J. Saccoman and/or Byrne Memorials Inc., owners of premises known as 521-531 Broadway for overpaid taxes. The State Supreme Court entered an order on June 20, 1960, reducing assessment on the property for 1960 (1961-62 school tax) from $19,350 to $15,000 and directed repayment of school tax monies to the petitioners, with interest rate of four per cent per annum from the date of payment.

Ronder Is Auditor

The board voted to engage Alfred Ronder, to audit accounts for the year, not to exceed $1,500.

The board approved a resolution changing orders on new construction for Kingston city schools as follows: Junior high school, $1,692.80 for revision to a panel wall in accordance with drawing; Mary's Avenue school, $3,849.01 to furnish and install dishwasher, booster and pre-rinse sink.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy's tax-cut pledge brought no particular inpiration to the stock market today. Prices were a bit higher in quiet trading early this afternoon.

A general improvement got under way for a while, then prices edged below their best.

Showing the level near its peak, The Associated Press average at noon was up 1.00 at 222.90, with industrials up 1.50, rails up .40 and utilities up .50.

Most gains of key stocks were fractional, some going to about a point.

A few of the "growth" stocks swung ahead 2 or more points in routine moves for these volatile issues which have been beaten far down from their peaks.

Brokers said much of the steam of Kennedy's tax-cut pledge had been removed by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon's similar statement Monday.

Tobaccos continued to decline. Reynolds Tobacco and Liggett & Myers lost about a point. American Tobacco eased. Lorillard recovered a fraction.

Ford, up more than a point, was the best of Big Three motors. Chrysler rose a fraction and General Motors was steady.

Gains of around a point were posted for General Electric, Radio Corp., Sears, Roebuck and Merck. Up slightly were AT&T, Southern Pacific, and Raytheon.

IBM recovered about 5 points, Polaroid 2 and Litton Industries more than a point.

Prices moved generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in quiet trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

Tobin's Figures

As a conclusion to the award program, Fowler introduced James Tobin, guidance director of the local high school, who presented some facts and figures regarding the graduating class of 1962.

"There are 393 graduates in the class of '62," said Tobin, "which represents a 25 per cent drop-out over the enrollment of the class in 1958." He compared this 25 per cent drop-out with the national average of 40 per cent, which indicated that the Kingston school system "was doing fairly well on this problem."

Of the 393 graduates, Tobin pointed out that 152 of them were planning to continue their education in 76 different institutions. There were also 31 applications pending for entrance into higher institutions of learning. This left over a hundred graduates who would be available to the local labor market, said Tobin, who indicated that this was a problem that could be difficult.

The guidance director stated that $133,100 in scholarship monies had been earned by the class of 1962, "which academically ranks well with previous classes." He also revealed that the local class had three semi-finalists and two finalists in the national merit scholarship competition with her captain and engineer. When the two were off guard, they jumped them and tied them up.

In conclusion, Tobin expressed appreciation to the local businessmen for their support over a period of 18 years of the Distributive Education Class, whose participants "have earned over two million dollars in the 18-year period," according to Tobin.

Under cover of darkness they spirited their women and the baby aboard. Then at dawn the men got the two-deck boat moving.

Posts of Vopos — as the East German police are called — opened fire.

West Fire Checks Reds

The escapees, moving quickly in twos and threes, sprang ashore. They flung themselves to the ground to escape the whipping bullets. When the West Berlin police fired, the Vopos checked their fire.

The whole thing was over in 20 minutes.

The boat's captain and engineer were allowed to get the boat under way and return to East Berlin.

JFK to Visit Dad

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy is coming here late Sunday to visit his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is reported improving at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

The President, it was reported here, plans to stay at the Hotel Carlyle Sunday night and return to Washington Monday morning. His father is under treatment for the after-effects of a stroke suffered last winter.

The President's wife visited her 73-year-old father-in-law Thursday.

The White House said she planned to visit the patient again today and return to Washington after lunch following a three-day visit here.

imately two years. Therefore, the trustees must move immediately to the determination of a permanent site so that all this can be accomplished for occupancy by September of 1965, the end of the period for which temporary quarters can be used.

Several gift sites are under particular scrutiny since, if unusual site devolpment costs do not offset the value of the offered property, the value of the land plus any usable buildings can benefit county taxpayers doubly through the saving in land acquistion costs and through a matching State University cash grant equivalent to the educational value of the gift. State University, as a partner of the people of Ulster County in providing funds for capital costs and for operating expenses, has been requested to pass upon the acceptability of these sites and to make a rough comparative appraisal of value. This will be done by mid-month.

Must Conform

In setting up curriculum, there is not a great deal of leeway in the university parallel courses leading to transfer to a four-year liberal arts institution. These courses must conform exactly, in content and quality, to similar courses in other accredited institutions since it is on that basis that State University certifies for transfer.

In the technical terminal, sciences and pre-engineering courses, they will be patterned to meet the needs of the area from the standpoint of local industry, present and prospective and to insure graduate employment in growing and thriving industries. Surveys to this end are now in progress.

The college trustees are extremely grateful for the very evident interest of so many citizens in the County College project. Almost daily the trustees are offered valuable counsel and services by large numbers of people throughout the county. This continuing contact is useful to both the trustees and the county population. The trustees realize that they are merely the executors of a trust set up by and for the benefit of the people of the county and they are anxious, at every step, to sense the desires of those people.

The trustees also gratefully acknowledge the helpful cooperation of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Community College Committee which has accepted an invitation to participate in trustees' board meetings, of many individual supervisors and the majority and minority party leaders, the clerk of the Board of Supervisors and Budget director, the County Highway Department the County Board of Health through its director of environmental sanitation, the county treasurer, the courthouse officials and staff in providing a meeting place for the trustees, various officials and departments of the City of Kingston, the Kingston (Consolidated) Board of Education, several state and federal officials and departments, several private groups or corporations which have offered professional counsel and maps or reports, as well as numerous individuals who have shared with them special skills.

Late Hour Vote

"Then I challenge him," Kennedy declared.

May Be Meaningless

Although the convention has had all the hard fighting and all the backstage huddling of a national political convention, the truth is that it's almost meaningless.

For the loser can, and probably will, enter the primaries, too, and a victory here won't necessarily be of great advantage.

Furthermore, the final Democratic winner to come out of the primary may have to run against still a third nationally famous family representative.

For George Lodge, 34, is contending for the Republican nomination against U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis. George's father is Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to the United Nations and GOP candidate for vice president in 1960.

John F. Kennedy beat Henry Cabot Lodge for this same Senate seat in 1952—and with that victory took a giant stride toward the White House.

Charges Truth Suppressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert E. Manuel, dismissed Republican counsel to a House investigating committee, charged today the group's inquiry into the Billie Sol Estes case "is being distorted—and the truth suppressed."

In a statement, Manuel quoted an Agriculture Department official as saying Estes personally pressured him by invoking the names of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, but that Johnson's name was not brought into public testimony.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I've been buying stocks through the Monthly Investment Plan for over a year but, so far, I don't seem to have made much progress. I own shares of Hershey Chocolate and Litton Industries." S.S.

A) The Monthly Investment Plan, offered by certain member firms of the New York Stock Exchange, is one of the best ways I know of for the investor with limited capital to acquire a good list of stocks. By paying a fixed sum each month, you are in effect "dollar averaging" and you protect yourself against putting all your funds in the market during a period of peak prices.

However, the benefits of the plan are not fully realized unless you stick to it—regardless of market conditions—over a fairly long period.

For a man who doesn't know much about the market, you have done all right for yourself. You've begun with high quality stocks, both of which I like. Don't become impatient — you've made a very good start.

Q) "I'm new to the market and have bought shares of du Pont. Would you please tell me just what makes my stock go up and down every day?" J.R.

A) For years, people have tried to find out just what makes individual issues move the way they do each day. Theories which claim to have found the whole solution keep cropping up from time to time, but no real solution has ever been given—primarily because the market involves human being whose actions and motives are too complex to boil down into one simple explanation.

Basically, stocks move according to supply and demand. Shares are offered by people who, for a great many reasons, want to sell. Deman is created by those who want to own shares, and the joining of the two forces creates a market which is constantly changing.

In this respect, the daily movements of your du Pont shares are like all others. This is one of the main reasons why I've always stressed the longer term trends of stocks in this column.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, only six inches below capacity level.

May rainfall only 1.62 inches, he said, was the lowest for the month in some time. In 1961 the total was 5.06 and in 1960 it was 5.02 inches.

Mones Named Again

Melvin Mones, of 101 Wilson Avenue, who was appointed earlier in the year to fill the unexpired term of the late Commissioner Howard S. Pangburn, was renamed by Mayor John J. Schwenk recently to continue a full term after the May 31 expiration date of the other.

The other commissioners are Edwin Baker, of 22 Second Avenue, and Irving Reuben, of 246 East Chester Street.

A recent letter from the State Insurance Fund notified the water department that it has been awarded an accident control award. The letter said in part: "Please accept our congratulations for having been selected to receive our 1962 Accident Control Engineering Award." It said notice would be given soon on presentation arrangements.

Ashokan Dropping

New York City's water supply in the Ashokan Reservoir, it was noted today, is on the decline again after reaching a high point late in May of 95 per cent of capacity. It was expected that early spring rains would bring it to spillway level or above, but since it was far below that capacity late last year and early this year, and rain was insufficient, it failed to reach full supply.

He said it was a "very general practice" for local officials to make successive purchases in amounts less than $1,000 to avoid a law that requires that bids be sought on purchases of $1,000 or more.

Violations of competitive bidding and conflict-of-interest laws were most prevalent on the county level, he said.

"TRADE OR FADE"—While U.S. imports of raw materials have declined overall during the past ten years, they still account for a large percentage of all imports (42 per cent in 1961). Imports of crude and semimanufactured goods in 1953 and 1960 are compared in chart above. The U.S. imports all of its natural rubber, diamonds and 99.9 per cent of its tin. Percentages on other important items are also shown. Petroleum imports had the highest dollar value of all—$1.5 billion—and made up 20 per cent of 1960 supply.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wide swings in stock prices here and overseas have sent the price of gold up after months of stability. Gold Mining stocks also have been strong, especially on the London market.

Gold always glitters more when stocks look uncertain. And helping just now is a big upswing in U.S. imports this year. This raises anew the problem of what to do about the continuing deficit in U.S. balance of payments and the renewed outflow of U.S. gold in recent weeks.

The American dollar isn't in any present danger. Pressure on it in world financial marts hasn't been great, despite all the furore on Wall Street and the talk of big Treasury deficits ahead.

The U.S. Treasury has new means of protecting the dollar through a pool worked out by the central banks of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and other financial centers. The pool can be drawn upon to ward off any moderate run on a threatened currency.

But any jump in the price of gold on the London free market catches the eye of those charged with protecting the dollar. The memory of the run on our gold stores in the fall of 1960 is still fresh.

Gold was quoted on the London exchange Thursday at $35.09⅜ an ounce, up from $35.08⅞ the previous day. Only a few weeks back it had fallen below $35.08—roughly the cost of buying an ounce from the U.S. Treasury.

The premium now over the U.S. official price could lead European central banks with surplus dollars to exchange them for gold. While a number of these banks, principally the Bank of England, have been doing just that this year, the move was to strengthen their resources, and presumably was done with the knowledge and approval of the U.S. government.

While the current rise in the demand for gold on the London free market—gold can't be bought or sold in the United States except for industrial and artistic uses or for the account of a foreign central bank—is due largely to the weakness in the stock market. Other factors are involved.

One is uncertainty about the course of U.S. government finances. Will taxes be cut? Will tax collections drop enough to bring on a big Treasury deficit? Will pump priming or other government spending have the same result?

Another is the uncertainty this year in the deficit in the balance of payments—a deficit lasting now for several years because we sent more dollars abroad than we got back.

The balance of trade, on the other hand, has been in our favor. This is the excess of exports over imports. But this year imports have risen to an annual rate of $16 billion, well over the 1961 pace of $14.8 billion for the entire year. April imports were the highest in more than two years.

Project to Renew Victorian Look Of Old Catskill

In spite of the old saying, there is something new under the sun! Or more exactly, something old to be converted through the use of paint into something entirely new.

The historic Village of Catskill, located on the Hudson River in the heart of the famous Catskill Mountain vacation area, is being transformed into a vision of white and gold. Old buildings long neglected and allowed to fall into decay, are getting a complete face lifting to restore them to their original beauty.

With the majority of the buildings on the three-block long Main Street constructed of solid, highly decorated brick buildings of the late Victorian period, the idea is to rescue these old buildings from their present obscurity and present them in a beautifully dramatic way.

To make the buildings stand out even more dramtically, lights are being installed to illuminate building fronts after dark.

The idea of accentuating the Victorian flavor of the village, originally conceived by John D. Barry, president of John Barry Associates, Inc., an advertising and public relations firm, is being strongly backed by Lloyd A. Newcombe, president of the Catskill Chamber of Commerce.

Newcombe, vice president and general manager of the area's largest petroleum products distributing firm, Amos Post, Inc., recently accepted the Chamber presidency specifically to give an all out push to the project. Heading the Chamber committee to push for the project is Franklin Berry, Catskill manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

"TRADE OR FADE"—While U.S. imports of raw materials have declined overall during the past ten years, they still account for a large percentage of all imports (42 per cent in 1961). Imports of crude and semimanufactured goods in 1953 and 1960 are compared in chart above. The U.S. imports all of its natural rubber, diamonds and 99.9 per cent of its tin. Percentages on other important items are also shown. Petroleum imports had the highest dollar value of all—$1.5 billion—and made up 20 per cent of 1960 supply.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wide swings in stock prices here and overseas have sent the price of gold up after months of stability. Gold Mining stocks also have been strong, especially on the London market.

Gold always glitters more when stocks look uncertain. And helping just now is a big upswing in U.S. imports this year. This raises anew the problem of what to do about the continuing deficit in U.S. balance of payments and the renewed outflow of U.S. gold in recent weeks.

The American dollar isn't in any present danger. Pressure on it in world financial marts hasn't been great, despite all the furore on Wall Street and the talk of big Treasury deficits ahead.

The U.S. Treasury has new means of protecting the dollar through a pool worked out by the central banks of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and other financial centers. The pool can be drawn upon to ward off any moderate run on a threatened currency.

But any jump in the price of gold on the London free market catches the eye of those charged with protecting the dollar. The memory of the run on our gold stores in the fall of 1960 is still fresh.

Gold was quoted on the London exchange Thursday at $35.09⅜ an ounce, up from $35.08⅞ the previous day. Only a few weeks back it had fallen below $35.08—roughly the cost of buying an ounce from the U.S. Treasury.

The premium now over the U.S. official price could lead European central banks with surplus dollars to exchange them for gold. While a number of these banks, principally the Bank of England, have been doing just that this year, the move was to strengthen their resources, and presumably was done with the knowledge and approval of the U.S. government.

While the current rise in the demand for gold on the London free market—gold can't be bought or sold in the United States except for industrial and artistic uses or for the account of a foreign central bank—is due largely to the weakness in the stock market. Other factors are involved.

One is uncertainty about the course of U.S. government finances. Will taxes be cut? Will tax collections drop enough to bring on a big Treasury deficit? Will pump priming or other government spending have the same result?

Another is the uncertainty this year in the deficit in the balance of payments—a deficit lasting now for several years because we sent more dollars abroad than we got back.

The balance of trade, on the other hand, has been in our favor. This is the excess of exports over imports. But this year imports have risen to an annual rate of $16 billion, well over the 1961 pace of $14.8 billion for the entire year. April imports were the highest in more than two years.

In spite of the old saying, there is something new under the sun! Or more exactly, something old to be converted through the use of paint into something entirely new.

The historic Village of Catskill, located on the Hudson River in the heart of the famous Catskill Mountain vacation area, is being transformed into a vision of white and gold. Old buildings long neglected and allowed to fall into decay, are getting a complete face lifting to restore them to their original beauty.

With the majority of the buildings on the three-block long Main Street constructed of solid, highly decorated brick buildings of the late Victorian period, the idea is to rescue these old buildings from their present obscurity and present them in a beautifully dramatic way.

To make the buildings stand out even more dramtically, lights are being installed to illuminate building fronts after dark.

The idea of accentuating the Victorian flavor of the village, originally conceived by John D. Barry, president of John Barry Associates, Inc., an advertising and public relations firm, is being strongly backed by Lloyd A. Newcombe, president of the Catskill Chamber of Commerce.

Newcombe, vice president and general manager of the area's largest petroleum products distributing firm, Amos Post, Inc., recently accepted the Chamber presidency specifically to give an all out push to the project. Heading the Chamber committee to push for the project is Franklin Berry, Catskill manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

All Madmen Have Had Some Form Of Religion: Billy

CHICAGO (AP)—"It is a strange quirk that the great madmen of history all have had some form of religion," evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday night.

Graham's ninth sermon of his current 19-day Chicago Crusade for Christ was heard by 18,000 persons—the smallest crowd of the crusade. The largest audience was 44,000 last Sunday. Graham devoted much of his talk to the recently executed Adolph Eichmann, comparing the ex-Nazi with the infamous Biblical king, Manesseh.

"Probably in our day, the most wicked man you can think of is Adolph Eichmann, the man who planned and executed six million people. Eichmann was guilty of idolatry.

"Instead of God, Eichmann believed in the super race. He believed man was God and this was responsible for the degeneracy whereby he could murder six million people."

But, Graham said, Eichmann did have a certain belief in God. "He had an intellectual concept of God, which was not sufficient. It is a strange quirk that the great madmen of historv all have had a form of religion.

"Stalin once studied for the priesthood. Nazi propagandist Joseph Goebbels went to Sunday school. And Manesseh, who did the most abominable things, even he turned to religion and God forgave him.

"God could have forgiven Eichmann too, if Eichmann had accepted Him."

TICKETS FOR DANCE RECITAL

Q: The dancing school to which my daughter goes is giving a recital next month and she has been chosen to do two solo ballet dances. We would like some of our relatives and friends to come as we think they will be interested in seeing her perform. The price of the tickets is one dollar and fifty cents. I would like to know if it would be proper to tell these relatives and friends when the recital is to take place and also the price of the tickets and ask them if they would like to go, or must we pay for their tickets?

A: You may tell your friends and relatives of the recital and your daughter's part in it and then if they express a wish to see her, you can tell them where and when it is to take place and the price of the tickets. If you invite them to go with you, then you must pay for their tickets.

Q: My husband and I can't agree on whether our son is junior or not. My husband's name is Thomas Henry and our son's name is Thomas William. I was under the impression that both the first and middle names had to be identical in order for our son to be junior. My husband says that only the first name must be the same. Which one of us is right?

A: You are. A son or grandson is junior only when he is given the identical name of his father or grandfather.

Bag and Gloves While at Table

A: In her lap. If her purse is very small and ornamental and there is plenty of room on the table, she might put it at the side of her plate or above it, and keeps her gloves in her lap. If her bag is very large she puts it on the floor beside her chair.

German Issue Vital

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States can influence Poland's Communist government more by siding with it on German issues than it can by economic aid.

Polish officials would particularly welcome U.S. recognition of Polish sovereignty over the prewar German territory Poland has occupied since World War II.

With great passion, Poles argue that the United States has completely forgotten the war and is gambling blindly with its support of West Germany.

Leadership Tops Value Of Parents' 'Rank'

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I had watched them parade to lunch, rank upon marching rank of young men taut and soldierly in their famous cadet blue. I had lunched myself with their public information officers and a lean young major who teaches them courses in the psychology of leadership. Now at last in the quiet wood-paneled office that overlooks West Point's historic, stone-paved quadrangle, I was facing the man I had come to see—Brig. Gen. Richard G. Stilwell, U.S.A., commandant of cadets of the United States Military Academy.

I said, "General, I believe that an effective parent and an effective military officer share an important view in common. I thank that they both ask obedience, not to the ranks they hold as father or mother, brigadier-general or sergeant, but to their personal competence as leaders. I came here today to ask you if this is West Point's idea of authority. You are an experit in it. You specialize in teaching people how to make their authority over other people acceptable. Do you teach these student officers of yours to ask obedience to their military rank —or to their competence as leaders?"

"Rank," said General Stilwell, "is merely a static position, Mrs. Lawrence. But leadership is acts of doing. Our young men view rank as a minor factor in discipline and are taught to base their right to authority on the demonstration of their competence. That is done by action. Here at West Point we see a leader as a person who is respected by others as capable of leading. It is as simple as that."

The tunic of General Stilwell bears the ribbons of many honorable decorations earned by his "acts of doing."

I report his statement to you because it is a soldier's uncomplicated version of what it takes your child guidance book 390 pages to say.

It is when we refuse to lead the way by our own "acts of doing" that Johnny and Crissie become disobedient and insubordinate.

It is when we sit down on our rank as father or mother, refusing to initiate the action we want Johnny or Crissie to take that they refuse action, too. It is when we plead or scold for obedience instead of leading with action that our wishes are increasingly ignored. It is in our secret feeling that our rank as father or mother entitles us to obedience that we lose authority over children.

We deserve to lose it. We are using the inert power of rank instead of the living act of leadership.

I beg you to ponder General Stilwell's statement. He is saying exactly what our child guidance experts say when they tell us to "help" Johnny put away his toys. Only they say it so sentimentally we don't trust them.

We suspect them of trying to undermine our family authority. And in a way we are right. They don't tell us WHY we must lead Johnny into the action we want from him until he has learned to trust what we want from him.

They talk down to us as though we were half-wits incapable of understanding what any primitive caveman knew — that his leader led by leading.

We The Women

Yard's for Living, Not for Psychoanalyzing

The front yard of your home may express the back yard of your mind. So says one of the country's better-known landscape architects.

"People who have messy psychic problems have messy psychic landscapes when they try to work out their own landscaping. They project their own problems into landscaping like they do everything else."

But don't run to a window to look out on your front yard to see if the back yard of your mind is showing. It isn't.

True, a landscape architect might not approve of where you planted the azaleas. He might even shudder at the way you've mixed colors in your window boxes, because plants and planting are his business. But he doesn't know anything about your mind—and he can't tell anything about it from your front yard.

If your children are more important to you than landscaping —your yard could be a landscape artist's nightmare—and still be exactly right for your family.

Because if the children are important, then you've probably had to plant around a baseball diamond or loaned your biggest, most beautiful tree to the small fry for a tire swing or tree house.

You probably have a path that leads to the house next door —if there are children in the house next door. And in the summer, there may be a lemonade stand cluttering up your front lawn.

You know something that the landscape architect quoted doesn't seem to know: That for a family with young children a yard isn't a frame for a house, or a plot of ground to be used for the sole purpose of impressing passers-by, or even a "problem" to be turned over to a landscape architect to solve. It's free space where your children can run and play and climb and build and grow.

And, if during the years when your children are young, your yard looks more like a well-worn playground than a beautiful job of landscaping, it doesn't tell a thing about you except that your children are more important to you than your yard.

All Madmen Have Had Some Form Of Religion: Billy

CHICAGO (AP)—"It is a strange quirk that the great madmen of history all have had some form of religion," evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday night.

Graham's ninth sermon of his current 19-day Chicago Crusade for Christ was heard by 18,000 persons—the smallest crowd of the crusade. The largest audience was 44,000 last Sunday. Graham devoted much of his talk to the recently executed Adolph Eichmann, comparing the ex-Nazi with the infamous Biblical king, Manesseh.

"Probably in our day, the most wicked man you can think of is Adolph Eichmann, the man who planned and executed six million people. Eichmann was guilty of idolatry.

"Instead of God, Eichmann believed in the super race. He believed man was God and this was responsible for the degeneracy whereby he could murder six million people."

But, Graham said, Eichmann did have a certain belief in God. "He had an intellectual concept of God, which was not sufficient. It is a strange quirk that the great madmen of history all have had a form of religion.

"Stalin once studied for the priesthood. Nazi propagandist Joseph Goebbels went to Sunday school. And Manesseh, who did the most abominable things, even he turned to religion and God forgave him.

"God could have forgiven Eichmann too, if Eichmann had accepted Him."

TICKETS FOR DANCE RECITAL

Q: The dancing school to which my daughter goes is giving a recital next month and she has been chosen to do two solo ballet dances. We would like some of our relatives and friends to come as we think they will be interested in seeing her perform. The price of the tickets is one dollar and fifty cents. I would like to know if it would be proper to tell these relatives and friends when the recital is to take place and also the price of the tickets and ask them if they would like to go, or must we pay for their tickets?

A: You may tell your friends and relatives of the recital and your daughter's part in it and then if they express a wish to see her, you can tell them where and when it is to take place and the price of the tickets. If you invite them to go with you, then you must pay for their tickets.

Q: My husband and I can't agree on whether our son is junior or not. My husband's name is Thomas Henry and our son's name is Thomas William. I was under the impression that both the first and middle names had to be identical in order for our son to be junior. My husband says that only the first name must be the same. Which one of us is right?

A: You are. A son or grandson is junior only when he is given the identical name of his father or grandfather.

Bag and Gloves While at Table

A: In her lap. If her purse is very small and ornamental and there is plenty of room on the table, she might put it at the side of her plate or above it, and keeps her gloves in her lap. If her bag is very large she puts it on the floor beside her chair.

German Issue Vital

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States can influence Poland's Communist government more by siding with it on German issues than it can by economic aid.

Polish officials would particularly welcome U.S. recognition of Polish sovereignty over the prewar German territory Poland has occupied since World War II.

With great passion, Poles argue that the United States has completely forgotten the war and is gambling blindly with its support of West Germany.

If your children are more important to you than landscaping —your yard could be a landscape artist's nightmare—and still be exactly right for your family.

Laundry Drop Station Will Close Saturday

As of 6 p. m. Saturday the laundry drop station at the original site of Thompson Laundry on Clinton Avenue, will be closed permanently, it was announced today by Edward Kalish, coproprietor of the Broadway Laundry, 79 Broadway.

All future business will be handled at 79 Broadway, 726 Broadway and 455 Albany Avenue

Broadway Laundry purchased the laundry plant and drop station from Thompson Laundry in 1960 and until December of 1961 the plant remained in operation. It was closed during that month and laundry operations were started at the Broadway site. Kalish explained that his business had nothing to do with further disposition of the building housing the drop station since it is being leased from former State Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

According to Richard Kalish, Broadway Laundry will change its trade name to Kingston Thompson Laundry in July. Around that time the laundry will put into operation a complete new fleet of trucks. The business has been in operation in Kingston for more than 45 years.

TV Connection Is Major Help to Chinese Refugee

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The luckiest girl in refugee-clogged Hong Kong was certainly Deanna Chu. She had American television connections.

They helped move her out of the city and into the United States.

Deanna, 23, became the first Chinese to reach New York under the administration's emergency program to admit several thousand emigrants from Hong Kong. She was in the first group leaving Hong Kong. Deanna's older sister is a writer on NBC's "Today Show."

Doreen, the older sister, and the rest of the Chu family emigrated to the United States eight years ago. Deanna was forced to remain behind because of a trace of tuberculosis, now cured.

Then, a couple of weeks ago, reporter Doreen was assigned to interview William Vanden Heuvel, president of the International Refugee Committee, before he took off for the Orient to arrange to bring in the first of the emigres. Doreen told him about her sister's plight.

Happy, grateful Deanna — who fortunately speaks excellent English — popped up on the "Today Show" Thursday morning. And with her, of course, was Vanden Heuvel who had a chance to talk about the refugee committee's effort on network television.

If the subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan decides to open its public hearings on the Billie Sol Estes case to television cameras, the viewing public may have ringside seats, the way they did at the Kefauver crime and McCarthy-Army hearings.

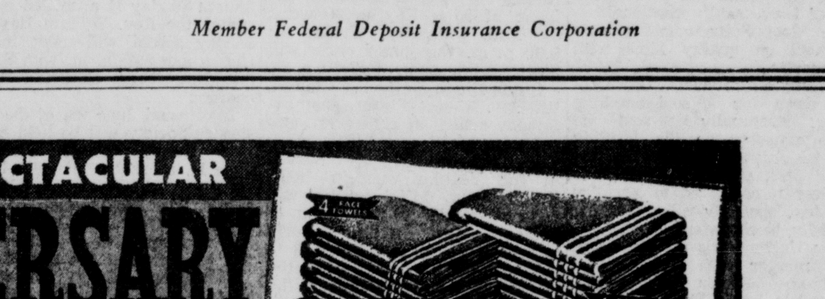

ABC's "Premiere" anthology series will start its series of summer reruns July 3 with what was the best of the lot: "People Need People," starring Lee Marvin. So if you missed it first time out, make a note to catch it second time around.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — NBC, 9:30-10:30 — "Breakthrough," Eastern Daylight Time — Report on cancer research.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

Carl Laemmle founded the company in New York City on June 8, 1912. That makes it older than any other movie empire, but younger than many leading men.

Universal has always seemed young, despite its half-century of existence. From the start it was a scrappy little independent, fighting the big studios with nerve and talent. It has undergone many a change in operation, and soon will get its biggest change.

I can't report on the early days, but the film history books record that Laemmle was a battler. He stood up to the trust that controlled the industry in the spawning days by strict enforcement of patents. A crusty little German immigrant, he shared what other movie pioneers had: An instinct for entertainment.

Laemmle may well have started the star system by hiring Florence Lawrence at $1,000 a week and billing Mary Pickford with her own name, instead of "the girl with the curls."

He started building the sprawling Universal lot just over the hill from Hollywood in 1914. The studio boasts that it is the biggest single lot in town—"bigger than Princess Grace's Monaco." It is also the only studio with its own post office—Universal City.

Laemmle sold out in 1935, but the studio kept up his policy of making films cheap, good and often. Universal thrived during the war boom.

Another change in management saw the take-over by William Goetz and Leo Spitz with their International Pictures. This led to the redundant and bothersome title of Universal-International.

The Goetz-Spitz combine concentrated on quality films with fair results.

Lacking hit products, Universal shut down for a soul-searching period. Eventually it sold the studio property to the bustling new television giant, Revue, and rented back space.

Universal converted to a policy of a few, specially tailored films, hopefully blockbusters.

Now Universal is on the verge of a merger with Revue. With such an infusion of energy, Laemmle's lot is likely to be in business for another 50 years.

Plays Fiorello

During the original run on Broadway, Booke was standby for 15 months to Tom Bosley in the key role. Bosley never missed a performance.

Booke got to play the part when he was chosen to take over in a limited return engagement.

'Ides of March' Adapted

NEW YORK (AP)—Thornton Wilder and Jerome Kilty have completed a year-long collaboration on a stage version of Wilder's novel, "The Ides of March."

Kilty, an actor, initiated the dramatization four years ago. After he had completed a first version, Wilder joined in the revision work. The partners went through four major drafts before turning the script over to producer David Black. It is to be staged next season. Sir John Gielgud may handle the principal role.

State Goes Year Without Capital PunishmentDeath

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — For the first time since the end of World War II, New york State has completed a full year without an execution for a capital offense.

A state commission is studying capital punishment as part of a survey of the state's criminal law, but a spokesman for Gov. Rockefeller rejected Thursday the idea that the governor unofficially might have suspended the death penalty, pending recommendations of the commission.

The spokesman said the hiatus was the result of delays that had been caused by many legal steps in appeals to state and federal courts by persons under death sentences.

A Corrections Department spokesman said, however, that juries have been more lenient since World War II in regard to capital punishment.

In a related announcement Thursday, Rockefeller said he would hold clemency hearings next week for four persons under death sentences.

The number of persons executed in the state annually reached a high of 22 in 1912 but has been declining steadily ever since.

Two persons were executed last year, six the previous year and four in each of the three previous years. The last year in which there were no executions was 1945.

Rockefeller commuted to life imprisonment this year the death sentences in two New York City cases in which the prosecution interceded to ask for clemency.

The last man executed in the state was Woodrow Miller, 30, who had been sentenced in the holdup-slaying of the owner of a Brooklyn liquor store in 1957. He died in the electric chair June 8, 1961.

APPOINTED — Lt. Gen. John K. Gerhart has been named by the White House as commander of the North American Air Defense Command. He replaces Gen. L. S. Kuter.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

Carl Laemmle founded the company in New York City on June 8, 1912. That makes it older than any other movie empire, but younger than many leading men.

Universal has always seemed young, despite its half-century of existence. From the start it was a scrappy little independent, fighting the big studios with nerve and talent. It has undergone many a change in operation, and soon will get its biggest change.

I can't report on the early days, but the film history books record that Laemmle was a battler. He stood up to the trust that controlled the industry in the spawning days by strict enforcement of patents. A crusty little German immigrant, he shared what other movie pioneers had: An instinct for entertainment.

Laemmle may well have started the star system by hiring Florence Lawrence at $1,000 a week and billing Mary Pickford with her own name, instead of "the girl with the curls."

He started building the sprawling Universal lot just over the hill from Hollywood in 1914. The studio boasts that it is the biggest single lot in town—"bigger than Princess Grace's Monaco." It is also the only studio with its own post office—Universal City.

Laemmle sold out in 1935, but the studio kept up his policy of making films cheap, good and often. Universal thrived during the war boom.

Another change in management saw the take-over by William Goetz and Leo Spitz with their International Pictures. This led to the redundant and bothersome title of Universal-International.

The Goetz-Spitz combine concentrated on quality films with fair results.

Lacking hit products, Universal shut down for a soul-searching period. Eventually it sold the studio property to the bustling new television giant, Revue, and rented back space.

Universal converted to a policy of a few, specially tailored films, hopefully blockbusters.

Now Universal is on the verge of a merger with Revue. With such an infusion of energy, Laemmle's lot is likely to be in business for another 50 years.

State Goes Year Without Capital PunishmentDeath

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — For the first time since the end of World War II, New york State has completed a full year without an execution for a capital offense.

A state commission is studying capital punishment as part of a survey of the state's criminal law, but a spokesman for Gov. Rockefeller rejected Thursday the idea that the governor unofficially might have suspended the death penalty, pending recommendations of the commission.

The spokesman said the hiatus was the result of delays that had been caused by many legal steps in appeals to state and federal courts by persons under death sentences.

A Corrections Department spokesman said, however, that [illegible] since World War II in regard to [illegible].

In a related announcement Thursday, Rockefeller said he would hold clemency hearings next week for four persons under death sentences.

The number of persons executed in the state annually reached a high of 22 in 1912 but has been declining steadily ever since.

Two persons were executed last year, six the previous year and four in each of the three previous years. The last year in which there were no executions was 1945.

Rockefeller commuted to life imprisonment this year the death sentences in two New York City cases in which the prosecution interceded to ask for clemency.

The last man executed in the state was Woodrow Miller, 30, who had been sentenced in the holdup-slaying of the owner of a Brooklyn liquor store in 1957. He died in the electric chair June 8, 1961.

State Business Scores New High In April Report

ALBANY — Business activity in New York State scored a new all-time high record in April, the State Commerce Department reported today.

The State's preliminary index of business activity, seasonally adjusted, one point from March (the previous high) to a record 150 (1947-49 equals 100). This was nine points higher than in April 1961.

Increases Recorded

Sharpest increases were recorded in retail trade, construction and service trades. New monthly records were set for employment and construction. The department noted that more and more people were working in the state during the month than in any previous April. Total employment increased 60,000 over March to reach 7,320,000—75,000 higher than April 1961.

Construction activity, particularly residential, continued to show great improvement. The construction activity component of the index, unadjusted, soared to 173, the highest April on record, 19 points above March. The number of new dwelling units authorized in the state in the first four months of 1962 was 65 per cent greater than in the comparable period of 1961. The value of construction contracts in the four-month period was 47 per cent higher than in the same 1961 period, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Department store sales in the New York Federal Reserve District in the four weeks ending May 12 were six per cent higher than the same period in 1961. In this district, largest relative year-to-year gains in areas for which data are availble were reported in the Buffalo and Rochester metropolitan areas.

Climbed to 146

The factory component of the index, reasonally adjusted, climbed to 146, up one point from March and 10 points above a year earlier. Employment cutbacks in the apparel and primary metals industries, together with a major strike in the transportation equipment industry, contributed to a decline in factory jobs in April.

The state's unemployment picture continued to improve. An estimated 390,000 were out of work in April, down 95,000 from a year ago and 65,000 below March this year. The unadjusted unemployment rate dropped to 5.1 per cent, compared with a 5.6 per cent rate in the nation as a whole. This March, the state's rate was 5.9 per cent. In April 1961 it was 6.3 per cent.

What Church Teaches

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Episcopal Bishop G. Gresham Marmion wants every church in his diocese to conduct four-week, seminar-type religion classes in an effort to stop the dwindling new church memberships.

He says one of the reasons for the decline in conversions is "that we are not as sure of what the church teaches and stands for as we might be."

Color Splashes on '62 Swimsuits

GAILE DUGAS, Newspaper Enterprise Association

In 1962, wool swimsuit colors are bold and vibrant, enlivened by patterns of giant polka dots, stripings, or harlequin diamonds. Metallics and wool are combined in decorative doses with just enough glitter to sparkle prettily under a bright sun. The sleek and sculptured one-piece suit, often cut with high front and low back, is the one you'll see most often on smart beaches this year. The classic sheath and the maillott are both strong, high fashion. A bit of blousing is sometimes used as a variation on the one-piece theme.

Pick Code to Help Public Press Evaluate Newspapers

RICHMOND, Va., (AP) — The test of a good newspaper is how well it meets the standards of integrity, accuracy, responsibility and leadership, says a committee of veteran editors.

The committee, made up of members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, spent 18 months of study in drawing up a proposed code to help the public and press evaluate newspapers.

Called a "Criteria of a Good Newspaper," the code represents the first broad-scale effort ever made to establish such guidelines.

John H. Colburn, managing editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch and committee chairman, said it now embodies the suggestions of nearly 50 editors and publishers and heads of 15 journalism schools.

J. Edward Murray, managing editor of The Arizona Republic, of Phoenix, conceived the idea for the code two years ago when he was president of the managing editors association.

In addition to Colburn and Murray, other members of the committee were Frank Eyerly, managing editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; Vincent S. Jones, executive editor of the Gannett Newspapers; James S. Pope, former executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, and J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute.

Colburn said it is hoped that publication of the code also will demonstrate that the vast majority of the nation's 1,768 daily newspapers are both responsible and informative.

INTEGRITY

"Maintain vigorous standards of honesty and fair play in the selection and editing of its contents as well as in all relations with news sources and the public."

ACCURACY

"Exert maximum effort to print the truth in all news situations. Strive for completeness and objectivity."

RESPONSIBILITY

"Use mature and considered judgment in the public interest at all times. Select, edit and display news on the basis of its significance and its genuine usefulness to the public."

LEADERSHIP

"Stimulate and vigorously support public officials, private groups and individuals in crusades to increase the good works and eliminate the bad in the community."

The report gave this guide for a good newspaper:

"A good newspaper should be guided in the publication of all material by a concern for truth, the hallmark of freedom, by a concern for human decency and human betterment, and by a respect for the accepted standards of its own community."

Methodists Asked To Have Negroes In White Churches

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Abolition of the Methodist Church's 360,000-member, all - Negro Central Jurisdiction has been called for by a Negro pastor as a step toward ending what he calls segregation in the church.

Speaking Thursday at the 153rd annual meeting of the Genesee Conference of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, L.I., said the members of the Central Jurisdiction should be absorbed into regular jurisdictions.

"There is a hard core group who apparently believe that segregation in the church, as well as in the schools and other areas of our society, is not only desirable but right", the Rev. Mr. Carrington charged.

Nothing to Juice Up Economy

Kennedy Standing Pat Except for Tax Slash

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has made it clear—at his first news conference since the shocking stock market dip May 28—that he is standing pat.

With one exception—a promise to ask Congress for an income tax cut for everyone but not effective before next year—he is offering no new proposals to juice up the economy.

This is the position he takes:

1. Stock market prices were too high anyway and figured to dip a bit.

Won't Be Stampeded

2. The economy—although it could be better—is sound and should continue to improve.

3. He is not going to be stampeded into emergency actions. He is simply asking Congress to put through proposals he made before the stock market dive. He will make a new proposal on the income tax cut later.

4. He will insist—despite protests by some business leaders—that prices and wages be kept down to prevent inflation. It was his previous insistence on this that brought on the steel dispute.

At Thursday's news conference he rejected any thought of excited reaction to the stock market with this statement:

"I think most financial experts have realized for some time that an overpriced market could not hold up once investors recognized that inflation was ended."

This was a reminder that he had laid down his national anti-inflation policy last spring when he pressured the steel industry and the steel union into a settlement without wage or price boosts.

Would Halt Mad Spiral

His purpose: To call a halt to the endless spiral of rising wages and prices.

Kennedy's optimism about steady improvement in the economy reflected the optimism of his own advisers whom he consulted in a special meeting the morning after the market plunged.

He said Thursday:

"While our recovery from last year's recession has been a good one, production, profits and employment are at all time highs, and the prospects for continued economic expansion remain favorable.

"In view of corporate and consumer cash on hand, we should take every appropriate step to make certain that recovery is stronger and longer than before and is not cut short by a new recession."

Then he outlined the steps he wants to take to keep the economy sound. With one exception they were all proposals he had made before, some as long as a year ago, but which are still pending in Congress.

The exception was his promise to propose to Congress an income tax cut for everyone, but a cut which he does not want to be effective before Jan. 1. This means the cut would not affect the tax on income earned in 1962.

Fumes Are Fatal

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Walter Tarasek, a 34-year-old Buffalo man employed by a gas company, died Thursday after being overcome by fumes from a solution he was using to clean wires in a manhole.

State Business Scores New High In April Report

ALBANY — Business activity in New York State scored a new all-time high record in April, the State Commerce Department reported today.

The State's preliminary index of business activity, seasonally adjusted, one point from March (the previous high) to a record 159 (1947-49 equals 100). This was nine points higher than in April 1961.

Increases Recorded

Sharpest increases were recorded in retail trade, construction and service trades. New monthly records were set for employment and construction. The department noted that more and more people were working in the state during the month than in any previous April. Total employment increased 60,000 over March to reach 7,320,000—75,000 higher than April 1961.

Construction activity, particularly residential, continued to show great improvement. The construction activity component of the index, unadjusted, soared to 173, the highest April on record, 19 points above March. The number of new dwelling units authorized in the state in the first four months of 1962 was 65 per cent greater than in the comparable period of 1961. The value of construction contracts in the four-month period was 47 per cent higher than in the same 1961 period, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Department store sales in the New York Federal Reserve District in the four weeks ending May 12 were six per cent higher than the same period in 1961. In this district, largest relative year-to-year gains in areas for which data are availble were reported in the Buffalo and Rochester metropolitan areas.

Climbed to 146

The factory component of the index, reasonally adjusted, climbed to 146, up one point from March and 10 points above a year earlier. Employment cutbacks in the apparel and primary metals industries, together with a major strike in the transportation equipment industry, contributed to a decline in factory jobs in April.

The state's unemployment picture continued to improve. An estimated 390,000 were out of work in April, down 95,000 from a year ago and 65,000 below March this year. The unadjusted unemployment rate dropped to 5.1 per cent, compared with a 5.6 per cent rate in the nation as a whole. This March, the state's rate was 5.9 per cent. In April 1961 it was 6.3 per cent.

What Church Teaches

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Episcopal Bishop G. Gresham Marmion wants every church in his diocese to conduct four-week, seminar-type religion classes in an effort to stop the dwindling new church memberships.

He says one of the reasons for the decline in conversions is "that we are not as sure of what the church teaches and stands for as we might be."

Color Splashes on '62 Swimsuits

GAILE DUGAS, Newspaper Enterprise Association

In 1962, wool swimsuit colors are bold and vibrant, enlivened by patterns of giant polka dots, stripings, or harlequin diamonds. Metallics and wool are combined in decorative doses with just enough glitter to sparkle prettily under a bright sun. The sleek and sculptured one-piece suit, often cut with high front and low back, is the one you'll see most often on smart beaches this year. The classic sheath and the maillott are both strong, high fashion. A bit of blousing is sometimes used as a variation on the one-piece theme. The woolknit tank suit, left, has undergone certain fetching changes in this new version. Peaked and button-trimmed top creates a two-piece effect with trio of midriff portholes. It's done in all-American knitted wool. A new look OVER swimsuits is seen at right in this bulky wool styled with a striped, bateau neckline. It is decorated with harlequin diamonds and tassels on sleeves and waist.

Pick Code to Help Public Press Evaluate Newspapers

RICHMOND, Va., (AP) — The test of a good newspaper is how well it meets the standards of integrity, accuracy, responsibility and leadership, says a committee of veteran editors.

The committee, made up of members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, spent 18 months of study in drawing up a proposed code to help the public and press evaluate newspapers.

Called a "Criteria of a Good Newspaper," the code represents the first broad-scale effort ever made to establish such guidelines.

John H. Colburn, managing editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch and committee chairman, said it now embodies the suggestions of nearly 50 editors and publishers and heads of 15 journalism schools.

J. Edward Murray, managing editor of The Arizona Republic, of Phoenix, conceived the idea for the code two years ago when he was president of the managing editors association.

In addition to Colburn and Murray, other members of the committee were Frank Eyerly, managing editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; Vincent S. Jones, executive editor of the Gannett Newspapers; James S. Pope, former executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, and J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute.

Colburn said it is hoped that publication of the code also will demonstrate that the vast majority of the nation's 1,768 daily newspapers are both responsible and informative.

INTEGRITY

"Maintain vigorous standards of honesty and fair play in the selection and editing of its contents as well as in all relations with news sources and the public."

ACCURACY

"Exert maximum effort to print the truth in all news situations. Strive for completeness and objectivity."

RESPONSIBILITY

"Use mature and considered judgment in the public interest at all times. Select, edit and display news on the basis of its significance and its genuine usefulness to the public."

LEADERSHIP

"Stimulate and vigorously support public officials, private groups and individuals in crusades to increase the good works and eliminate the bad in the community."

The report gave this guide for a good newspaper:

"A good newspaper should be guided in the publication of all material by a concern for truth, the hallmark of freedom, by a concern for human decency and human betterment, and by a respect for the accepted standards of its own community."

Methodists Asked To Have Negroes In White Churches

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Abolition of the Methodist Church's 360,000-member, all - Negro Central Jurisdiction has been called for by a Negro pastor as a step toward ending what he calls segregation in the church.

Speaking Thursday at the 153rd annual meeting of the Genesee Conference of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, L.I., said the members of the Central Jurisdiction should be absorbed into regular jurisdictions.

"There is a hard core group who apparently believe that segregation in the church, as well as in the schools and other areas of our society, is not only desirable but right", the Rev. Mr. Carrington charged.

Nothing to Juice Up Economy

Kennedy Standing Pat Except for Tax Slash

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has made it clear—at his first news conference since the shocking stock market dip May 28—that he is standing pat.

With one exception—a promise to ask Congress for an income tax cut for everyone but not effective before next year—he is offering no new proposals to juice up the economy.

This is the position he takes:

1. Stock market prices were too high anyway and figured to dip a bit.

Won't Be Stampeded

2. The economy—although it could be better—is sound and should continue to improve.

3. He is not going to be stampeded into emergency actions. He is simply asking Congress to put through proposals he made before the stock market dive. He will make a new proposal on the income tax cut later.

4. He will insist—despite protests by some business leaders—that prices and wages be kept down to prevent inflation. It was his previous insistence on this that brought on the steel dispute.

At Thursday's news conference he rejected any thought of excited reaction to the stock market with this statement:

"I think most financial experts have realized for some time that an overpriced market could not hold up once investors recognized that inflation was ended."

This was a reminder that he had laid down his national anti-inflation policy last spring when he pressured the steel industry and the steel union into a settlement without wage or price boosts.

Would Halt Mad Spiral

His purpose: To call a halt to the endless spiral of rising wages and prices.

Kennedy's optimism about steady improvement in the economy reflected the optimism of his own advisers whom he consulted in a special meeting the morning after the market plunged.

He said Thursday:

"While our recovery from last year's recession has been a good one, production, profits and employment are at all time highs, and the prospects for continued economic expansion remain favorable.

"In view of corporate and consumer cash on hand, we should take every appropriate step to make certain that recovery is stronger and longer than before and is not cut short by a new recession."

Then he outlined the steps he wants to take to keep the economy sound. With one exception they were all proposals he had made before, some as long as a year ago, but which are still pending in Congress.

The exception was his promise to propose to Congress an income tax cut for everyone, but a cut which he does not want to be effective before Jan. 1. This means the cut would not affect the tax on income earned in 1962.

Suspend Three, Fine Yonkers After Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Harness Racing Commission concluded its investigation into the May 29 Yonkers Raceway riot Thursday by extending suspensions on three horsemen and slapping the track with a $3,000 fine.

Suspensions against drivers Charles Fitzpatrick and William Myer and Owner C. Harvey Tingle were extended until August 8. In addition, Myer was assessed 15 more days, grounding him until August 23.

The suspensions and fine were handed down by the three-man commission for violation of the rule requiring owners of horses with common interests to run the horses as an entry.

Miss Chief Moken, a 10-1 long shot in the Morning Line May 29, went off at 5-2 in the eighth race and won by 2½ lengths over Chief Fingo.

Following the race, about 100 fans, some yelling "fix", stormed on to the track as the ninth race started, forcing its cancellation. The fans ripped out chairs and fences and did damage estimated at $3,000. Yonkers police, responding to a riot call, restored order.

Tingle, owner of Chief Koken, was suspended for not notifying officials of the common interest existing between himself and Myer, trainer-driver of Chief Fingo. Tingle, the commission said, has another horse in training with Myer.

Fitzpatrick, Miss Chief Moken's driver, and Myer were also grounded for not revealing the common interest. Myer drew the extra 15 days suspension for driving Chief Fingo "in a manner unsatisfactory to the judges, due to indifference and lack of effort."

The fine against Yonkers, largest ever levied against a New York State track, was for allowing the two pacers to start as separate betting interests. Martin Tananbaum, president of the raceway, said Yonkers would appeal the fine.

The purse money in the race will be redistributed with winning money going to Clover Leaf, who finished third and second place money going to Kimberly Way, the fourth finisher. There is no betting refunds.

Albany to Have New College for Teachers in '66

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says the State University will complete a proposed new teachers' college and graduate center at Albany within four years.

He said it would have a capacity of 10,000 students and would include a 20-story dormitory.

The announcement by the governor Thursday night at a Montgomery County Republican committee dinner apparently caught state officials in Albany by surprise. It was to have been made public Monday.

In Albany, Dr. Evan R. Collins, president of the college, said "the completion date and the ultimate capacity fit in with the master plan, but I wonder if the governor isn't jumping the gun a bit."

Dr. Collins said floor plans for the buildings had not been completed.

A spokesman for the State University, in answer to a newsman's question concerning the construction, said "you're telling me something."

Rockefeller said the construction schedule would be unusually fast because "there isn't a thing on the ground right now." The new campus will be located on Albany Country Club property taken by the state.

Tingle, owner of Chief Koken, was suspended for not notifying officials of the common interest existing between himself and Myer, trainer-driver of Chief Fingo. Tingle, the commission said, has another horse in training with Myer.

Fitzpatrick, Miss Chief Moken's driver, and Myer were also grounded for not revealing the common interest. Myer drew the extra 15 days suspension for driving Chief Fingo "in a manner unsatisfactory to the judges, due to indifference and lack of effort."

The fine against Yonkers, largest ever levied against a New York State track, was for allowing the two pacers to start as separate betting interests. Martin Tananbaum, president of the raceway, said Yonkers would appeal the fine.

The purse money in the race will be redistributed with winning money going to Clover Leaf, who finished third and second place money going to Kimberly Way, the fourth finisher. There is no betting refunds.

Albany to Have New College for Teachers in '66

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says the State University will complete a proposed new teachers' college and graduate center at Albany within four years.

He said it would have a capacity of 10,000 students and would include a 20-story dormitory.

The announcement by the governor Thursday night at a Montgomery County Republican committee dinner apparently caught state officials in Albany by surprise. It was to have been made public Monday.

In Albany, Dr. Evan R. Collins, president of the college, said "the completion date and the ultimate capacity fit in with the master plan, but I wonder if the governor isn't jumping the gun a bit."

Dr. Collins said floor plans for the buildings had not been completed.

A spokesman for the State University, in answer to a newsman's question concerning the construction, said "you're telling me something."

Rockefeller said the construction schedule would be unusually fast because "there isn't a thing on the ground right now." The new campus will be located on Albany Country Club property taken by the state.

Says He Started Radio Survey as Far Back as 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — A director of Rockland Broadcasters Inc. said Thursday he began a survey of potential radio advertising in the Spring Valley, N.Y., area as early as 1960.

Dan M. Reback told a Federal Communications Commission hearing he made both telephone and personal contact during the fall of 1960 and this year in Spring Valley, where his firm's proposed radio station would be located.

Reback would be sales director of the station.

Two other firms — Rockland Broadcasting Co., of Blauvelt, N.Y., and the Rockland Radio Corp., of Spring Valley — also are seeking permits for a daytime radio station to operate on 1300 kilocycles.

Reback, who lives in Stamford, Conn., and operates a pharmacy in Darien, Conn., said he plans to spend 15 hours weekly on station business if his firm wins the license.

He admitted, however, that he has had no experience in handling sales personnel in the broadcast field.

Parcel Talks Snarled

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations have broken down completely in the three-week-old United Parcel strike, reports City Mediator Morris A. Tarshis.

Tarshis said the break-up came Thursday night when union negotiators flatly rejected a management demand that a clause in any new agreement contain an employer request for "a fair day's work" from employes.

The strike of 3,000 United Parcel drivers since May 14 has disrupted department store and specialty shop deliveries in the metropolitan area. The drivers normally deliver 150,000 packages daily.

The New York Post Office said its parcel post business has increased 30 per cent because of the walkout.

Marilyn Ready to 'Give'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Marilyn Monroe says she'll quit her sickbed Monday and return to the movie set, a development that could put an end to much recent bickering between studio and star.

The actress let it be known Thursday that she was ready and eager to get back to work on the movie her studio says has been twice shut down because of her absenteeism.

The Monroe statement came after 20th Century-Fox talked of replacing the blonde charmer in "Something's Got to Give." Noting that Kim Novak was available, a studio source said that Miss Novak might very well get the part.

Trend Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's Research Service says that in 1961 the average American used 314 pounds of fluid milk, 10 pounds less than in the year before and 16 pounds less than in 1959.

There has been a downward trend in milk consumption since 1955. Last year, to complicate matters, milk production increased. The result was department acquisition of large stocks of butter, cheese and dried milk under the price-support operations.

Not Just American Now: Goodman

Russians Are Interested In Making Own Jazz Style

EDITOR'S NOTE — American jazz expert Leonard Feather, who accompanied Benny Goodman's band to Moscow and met most of the leading Soviet sidemen and composers, examines the future of Soviet jazz in an article written exclusively for The Associated Press.

By LEONARD FEATHER
Written for The Associated Press

MOSCOW (AP)—After hot jazz, New Orleans jazz and cool jazz, West Coast jazz and East Coast jazz, will the next step be Soviet jazz?

The possibility is not as remote as it might seem.

Already there are jazz clubs in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. Their main objectives are no longer merely to listen to American music or try to imitate it, but rather to evolve a new style of music along similar lines.

Holding Festivals

At jazz festivals held annually since 1957 in Tartu, Estonia, and recently at Leningrad University, new works by some of these composers have been introduced. Unlike the stiff, heavy over-orchestrated music of the older Soviet composers who have tried to grapple with jazz, these works are authentic and leave considerable freedom for improvisation.

Typical of these young writers is Vadim Sakn, a hard swinging pianist who has written one work, "With Inspiration" that would provide a thoroughly suitable vehicle for Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis or almost any other top American combo.

As Benny Goodman observed during his meeting at the Composers Union in Moscow, jazz is no longer merely an American music. It is a music of the world. One of the factors that held it back for many years outside America was the inability of musicians in other countries to develop the right rhythmic feeling.

Can Learn Swing

Today, because of the vastly accelerated communications, a Soviet musician who tries hard enough can gain access to the new developments in jazz and can learn, from assiduous listening, how to swing.

Says Leonid Pereversev, a young electronic technician who doubles as ethno-musicologist:

"For many years in the thirties, our cultural traditions were confused. Third-rate popular restaurant music and operettas, fourth-hand carbon copies of American jazz, all were thriving — complete with loud drums and comedy effects.

"This kind of thing was criticized and wrongly equated with true jazz. As a result, all jazz was condemned. Only in recent years has there been a realization that jazz is not mere entertainment or music for dancing."

Pereversev says that now jazz is out in the open again, dozens of musicians in the 18-25 age bracket are working on the evolution of a style that may ultimately earn international acceptance, not as an imitation of the American original but as music with an identity of its own.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A director of Rockland Broadcasters Inc. said Thursday he began a survey of potential radio advertising in the Spring Valley, N.Y., area as early as 1960.

Gannett Chief Re-named

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Miller, president of Gannett Newspapers, has been re-elected to a fourth term as chairman of the advisory board of the American Press Institute at Columbia University, the institute announced Thursday.

At a recent annual meeting, Ben Reese, former managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, also was renamed co-chairman of the board, a post he has held since 1952.

Even Disagree on Split

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor—separated by an ocean—appear to be in disagreement on how their divorce is to be handled.

Fisher said here Thursday that it wouldn't be gentlemanly for him to shed the actress, so he'll sue for divorce in Las Vegas, Nev., and she'll get the decree by countersuit.

The couple will cooperate to end the marriage, the singer said.

But Miss Taylor's personal secretary, who is with the actress in Rome, said the screen siren knows nothing about the announced divorce-filing plan.

Two in Hospital AfterEsopusCrash

Two men were hospitalized following a two-car accident on Route 9W, near Pantry Market, Town of Esopus about 8:15 p. m. Thursday. A charge of driving while intoxicated was lodged against one of the drivers by Highland state police.

Morris Kalish, 73, of 145 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, was operating a car owned by the Kingston Laundry south on Route 9W when, according to state police, Robert Kuhl, 51, of Union Center Road, Ulster Park, also driving south, pulled out from a line of traffic and then pulled back into traffic striking the Kalish car. The Kuhl car went off the left of the road striking four guard posts. Kuhl was served with a summons.

Kalish was taken to Kingston Hospital, suffering from whiplash neck injury and Kuhl was taken to Benedictine Hospital with a back injury.

Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland, Deputy Sheriffs Kuhnen and McNierney and a Town of Esopus constable were at the scene.

School Plans Open House on June 10 and 17

Joining in the observance of National Catholic Education Month, St. Mary's School will hold open house for the entire community Sunday, June 10, and Sunday, June 17, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward M. Plover, director and pastor. Both open house sessions will begin at 2 p. m.

Tours of the school will be conducted and an informal forum, with a question and answer period will be held. The forum will outline the partnership between the parochial school and the public school. It will be moderated by Vincent Amrod, lay chairman of the event.

In inviting the general public, Msgr. Plover stressed the fact that the program is designed to be of interest to non-Catholics as well as parishoners. He urged parishoners to personally invite their non-Catholic friends.

The forum will attempt to touch briefly on the curriculum, philosophy and financial aspects of the parish school. Refreshments will be served.

56 PC of Senior Students Plan On More School

At least 56 per cent of the potential graduates of Saugerties High School this June plan to pursue further education, it was announced by Miss A. Frances Larned, director of guidance, today.

Since a few members of the senior class have not made final decisions about their future plans, it is expected that the number will rise eventually to 58 or 59 per cent. In comparison with the class of 1961 this shows an increase at present of about 6 per cent. Approximately 50 per cent of last June's graduates entered advanced schools.

Thirty-two per cent plan to attend four-year colleges and 13 per cent to attend two-year colleges making a total of 45 per cent who plan to pursue some type of college education.

Parcel Talks Snarled

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations have broken down completely in the three-week-old United Parcel strike, reports City Mediator Morris A. Tarshis.

Tarshis said the break-up came Thursday night when union negotiators flatly rejected a management demand that a clause in any new agreement contain an employer request for "a fair day's work" from employes.

The strike of 3,000 United Parcel drivers since May 14 has disrupted department store and specialty shop deliveries in the metropolitan area. The drivers normally deliver 150,000 packages daily.

The New York Post Office said its parcel post business has increased 30 per cent because of the walkout.

Marilyn Ready to 'Give'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Marilyn Monroe says she'll quit her sickbed Monday and return to the movie set, a development that could put an end to much recent bickering between studio and star.

The actress let it be known Thursday that she was ready and eager to get back to work on the movie her studio says has been twice shut down because of her absenteeism.

The Monroe statement came after 20th Century-Fox talked of replacing the blonde charmer in "Something's Got to Give." Noting that Kim Novak was available, a studio source said that Miss Novak might very well get the part.

Trend Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's Research Service says that in 1961 the average American used 314 pounds of fluid milk, 10 pounds less than in the year before and 16 pounds less than in 1959.

There has been a downward trend in milk consumption since 1955. Last year, to complicate matters, milk production increased. The result was department acquisition of large stocks of butter, cheese and dried milk under the price-support operations.

Not Just American Now: Goodman

Russians Are Interested In Making Own Jazz Style

EDITOR'S NOTE — American jazz expert Leonard Feather, who accompanied Benny Goodman's band to Moscow and met most of the leading Soviet sidemen and composers, examines the future of Soviet jazz in an article written exclusively for The Associated Press.

By LEONARD FEATHER
Written for The Associated Press

MOSCOW (AP)—After hot jazz, New Orleans jazz and cool jazz, West Coast jazz and East Coast jazz, will the next step be Soviet jazz?

The possibility is not as remote as it might seem.

Already there are jazz clubs in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. Their main objectives are no longer merely to listen to American music or try to imitate it, but rather to evolve a new style of music along similar lines.

Holding Festivals

At jazz festivals held annually since 1957 in Tartu, Estonia, and recently at Leningrad University, new works by some of these composers have been introduced. Unlike the stiff, heavy over-orchestrated music of the older Soviet composers who have tried to grapple with jazz, these works are authentic and leave considerable freedom for improvisation.

Typical of these young writers is Vadim Sakn, a hard swinging pianist who has written one work, "With Inspiration" that would provide a thoroughly suitable vehicle for Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis or almost any other top American combo.

As Benny Goodman observed during his meeting at the Composers Union in Moscow, jazz is no longer merely an American music. It is a music of the world. One of the factors that held it back for many years outside America was the inability of musicians in other countries to develop the right rhythmic feeling.

Can Learn Swing

Today, because of the vastly accelerated communications, a Soviet musician who tries hard enough can gain access to the new developments in jazz and can learn, from assiduous listening, how to swing.

But it is not enough for them merely to sound like their American counterparts.

Says Leonid Pereversev, a young electronic technician who doubles as ethno-musicologist:

"For many years in the thirties, our cultural traditions were confused. Third-rate popular restaurant music and operettas, fourth-hand carbon copies of American jazz, all were thriving — complete with loud drums and comedy effects.

"This kind of thing was criticized and wrongly equated with true jazz. As a result, all jazz was condemned. Only in recent years has there been a realization that jazz is not mere entertainment or music for dancing."

Pereversev says that now jazz is out in the open again, dozens of musicians in the 18-25 age bracket are working on the evolution of a style that may ultimately earn international acceptance, not as an imitation of the American original but as music with an identity of its own.

Local Man Charged As Drunk Driver

Harold E. Finkle of Lucas Avenue Extension, Kingston, was charged with driving while intoxicated by Highland troopers as he drove along Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd. The charge followed a call from Patrick's Diner where it was alleged Finkle was creating a disturbance and throwing china around. Before the state police patrol arrived at the diner, Finkle left. He was apprehended on the highway operating his car.

Taken before Justice of the Peace Philip Schunk of Town of Lloyd, a plea of innocent was entered and the case was adpourned to a later date. Finkle was released in custody of his attorney. Trooper J. F. Czapalicki of Highland made the arrest.

Jayne Denies Strip

ROME (AP) — Bosomy Jayne Mansfield twisted down to her lace brassiere—no striptease, just an accident, she said—in a night of Roman partying that ended early today.

"Striptease by la Mansfield," headlined Rome's Il Messaggero.

"Not true," said Jayne, "it was no striptease. I just happened to be wearing a very loose fitting dress. Occasionally it came apart."

TV Still Offers Few Good Shows As Season Wanes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although this is the season when the lure of the television set is diminishing fast, there are three—maybe more—events well worth watching during the next seven days.

They are Sunday night's original "The Movie Star;" Monday's "Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall;" and Thursday's "Noah and the Flood," each a don't-miss-it-item.

A study of the research, on many fronts, to find a cancer cure, will be the subject of tonight's "Breakthrough" on NBC (9:30-10:30 EDT).

Sunday morning, the CBS Symphony will be heard in an hour's production of "Cabeza de Vaca" by the late George Antheil. "The Movie Star" (NBC, 10-11) on Sunday evening is a study of the effect of the death of a celebrity on those surrounding him. Dane Clark stars.

Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett will be seen in their two-woman special on CBS Monday (10-11 p.m.), a merry hour during which they spoof everything from Swiss family singers to the wild West. Mort Sahl takes over for a week on NBC's "Tonight Show" (11:15 p.m.-1 a.m.).

"Mystery Theatre," which replaces the Perry Como Show for the summer, premiers Wednesday (NBC, 9-10 p.m.) with "Close Pursuit," starring Jan Sterling and Beverly Garland. Then comes "CBS' Steel Hour, offering "You Can't Escape" (10-11) with Mark Richman and Alice Ghostley.

Igor Stravinsky's new dance-drama, "Noah and the Flood," commissioned by and for CBS, will be seen Thursday (9-10 p.m.).

No Bat Man

Lane thought he spotted the creature on the floor. He dropped a bath towel over it and jumped up and down as hard as he could. Then he found he'd kicked the stuffing out of one of his youngster's stuffed toys.

He called a professional exterminator to deal with the bat.

Reckless Mountain Boys

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The families involved in the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud carried on their battle during the last part of the 19th Century. The Hatfields lived in West Virginia and the McCoys just across a narrow stream in Pike County, Kentucky.

Members of the two clans started taking pot shots at each other with muzzle-loading rifles after the McCoys claimed one of the Hatfield boys had played free and easy with the affections of a McCoy girl.

TV Still Offers Few Good Shows As Season Wanes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although this is the season when the lure of the television set is diminishing fast, there are three—maybe more—events well worth watching during the next seven days.

They are Sunday night's original "The Movie Star;" Monday's "Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall;" and Thursday's "Noah and the Flood," each a don't-miss-it-item.

A study of the research, on many fronts, to find a cancer cure, will be the subject of tonight's "Breakthrough" on NBC (9:30-10:30 EDT).

Sunday morning, the CBS Symphony will be heard in an hour's production of "Cabeza de Vaca" by the late George Antheil. "The Movie Star" (NBC, 10-11) on Sunday evening is a study of the effect of the death of a celebrity on those surrounding him. Dane Clark stars.

Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett will be seen in their two-woman special on CBS Monday (10-11 p.m.), a merry hour during which they spoof everything from Swiss family singers to the wild West. Mort Sahl takes over for a week on NBC's "Tonight Show" (11:15 p.m.-1 a.m.).

"Mystery Theatre," which replaces the Perry Como Show for the summer, premiers Wednesday (NBC, 9-10 p.m.) with "Close Pursuit," starring Jan Sterling and Beverly Garland. Then comes "CBS' Steel Hour, offering "You Can't Escape" (10-11) with Mark Richman and Alice Ghostley.

Igor Stravinsky's new dance-drama, "Noah and the Flood," commissioned by and for CBS, will be seen Thursday (9-10 p.m.).

No Bat Man

Lane thought he spotted the creature on the floor. He dropped a bath towel over it and jumped up and down as hard as he could. Then he found he'd kicked the stuffing out of one of his youngster's stuffed toys.

He called a professional exterminator to deal with the bat.

Reckless Mountain Boys

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The families involved in the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud carried on their battle during the last part of the 19th Century. The Hatfields lived in West Virginia and the McCoys just across a narrow stream in Pike County, Kentucky.

Members of the two clans started taking pot shots at each other with muzzle-loading rifles after the McCoys claimed one of the Hatfield boys had played free and easy with the affections of a McCoy girl.

JFK Tying Prosperity To 5-Point Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pins his strategy for prosperity on a five-point tax package that includes across-the-board income tax cuts starting next January.

"There is no need for this country to stand helplessly by and watch a recovery run out of gas," Kennedy told his news conference Thursday.

"We have a program to boost it and I hope that all those who are concerned about their stocks or their profits or their jobs will help us get action on this program," he added.

Invites Public Support

Thus inviting public support, including support from critics who contend administration policies upset the stock market, Kennedy urged Congress to get down to business quickly on his proposals.

Tax talk highlighted the news conference in which Kennedy snapped back at Republican detractors and said he would take the stump for Democratic candidates in the November elections.

He made clear the administration does not intend to recommend an immediate cut in income taxes. But he said he will offer a tax reform bill providing reductions in both personal and corporate income taxes, effective Jan. 1, for congressional action next year. Details are being worked out, he said, but will result in a net loss—the reductions "will not be wholly offset by other reforms."

Other Points

He listed these other points in the program:

The House-passed tax credit for money invested in new machinery and equipment.

Forthcoming changes in schedules by which companies save money through tax writeoffs for depreciation of plant and equipment.

Kennedy estimated these two steps would represent a tax reduction for business of more than $2.5 billion.

Approval of his request for standby authority to cut taxes in order to head off threats of recession. The House Ways and means committee hasn't acted on this proposal.

Repeal of the 10 per cent tax on rail and bus transportation and cutting the tax on air travel in half, to 5 per cent.

Congratulates Nixon

Kennedy declared he will be active in the fall election campaigns. And he congratulated former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for winning the GOP gubernatorial primary in California. That's one state in which Kennedy is expected to appear, on behalf of Nixon's opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Other states which party sources believe he is most likely to invade are Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan, Kentucky and possibly Oregon, Utah and South Dakota.

Kennedy took a swing at Republican National Chairman William E. Miller and other GOP leaders after repudiating a statement by Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey accusing Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York of prejudice against Negroes. He said he had been waiting "for about a year and a half" for leading Republicans to repudiate some of the charges Miller had flung against him.

Other Topics

On other matters:

Foreign Aid—Kennedy said he was glad the Senate restored at least the government's authority to aid Poland and Yugoslavia with surplus food.

Medical Care — Passage of his plan to finance medical care of the aged through Social Security, Kennedy argued, would not nullify the Kerr-Mills law.

De Gaulle—Kennedy said he hadn't heard anything of a report he and President Charles de Gaulle of France are arranging to meet.

Legislation—With time growing short and Congress members eager to get home in this election year, Kennedy said a priority list of legislation the administration particularly wants passed will have to be drawn up.

Spain—The President answered with a terse "No" when asked if he had met with Spanish Republicans while in Venezuela last December and told them he would work to overthrow the Franco regime in Spain.

Mexico—He still intends to visit Mexico the end of this month.

Cigarettes—Kennedy declined to comment on the controversy over the possible effect of cigarette smoking on lung cancer, other than to cite plans of the Public Health Service to appoint a panel of experts to study the question.

Nothing to Be Ashamed of, Is Keogh's Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh—charged with conspiracy in an alleged federal court fix attempt—has testified he never agreed to do anything "corrupt . . .improper. . .unethical. . .or to be ashamed of."

Keogh made the denials in answer to a series of questions from his lawyer at his federal court trial Thursday.

Continues Today

Cross-examination by the prosecution began late in the session, and continues today.

On trial with Keogh are Elliott Kahaner, former chief assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo. All are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

They are accused of conspiring to influence Federal Judge Leo Rayfiel to moderate the sentence of jukebox operator Sanford J. Moore who had pleaded guilty in a bankruptcy fraud case in Brooklyn.

Keogh's lawyer, Harry T. Singer, used the justice's office diary, telephone message books, bank records, check stubs and canceled checks in questioning him for four hours about events and testimony involved in the trial before Judge Edward Weinfeld and a jury.

The lawyer periodically asked Keogh whether he was guilty of any of the government's charges or accusations by prosecution witnesses. Keogh, 56, stated his denials emphatically and occasionally with anger.

Denies Brother's Ties

Justice Keogh also denied several times that his brother, Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, Brooklyn Democrat, had knowledge of any conspiracy. Prosecution witnesses have testified that Justice Keogh promised that his brother would speak to Rayfiel in an attempt to get a lesser sentence for Moore.

There is no charge against Rep. Keogh. And there has been no hint that Rayfiel was influenced in behalf of Moore.

Dr. Robert W. Erdman, an admitted go-between in the alleged conspiracy, has testified that he gave Justice Keogh $22,500 and Kahaner $12,500 to work in behalf of Moore. Corallo is accused of helping raise the money.

Justice Keogh testified that he spoke to Rayfiel about Moore at the request of Erdman, but he denied he asked for leniency or received any money.

Keogh also said he arranged for Erdman to visit Rayfiel the morning that Moore was sentenced to three years. The term was later reduced to one year after Moore agreed to testify for the government in the case now on trial.

The justice said he interceded merely as a favor to Erdman, then his friend and physician. He said Erdman told him that Moore was a lifelong friend "in trouble."

10-Day Terms Imposed

Ira Barkley, 41, of 47 Market Street; John Melvin, 69, of 4 Mill Street; Joseph Matthews, 61, of 4 Mill Street and William Henry Burrise, 43, of 171 Canal Street, Ellenville, were arrested by Ellenville police Thursday on charges of disorderly conduct. Before Justice Frank Decker 10-day jail sentences were imposed.

Wawarsing Site Destroyed by Fire

A large 16-room building at the Sun Ray House, Briggs Highway, Town of Wawarsing, was destroyed by fire early today. Although there was a lack of water to battle the blaze, Ellenville, Napanoch and Woodbourne firemen did valiant work in saving adjoining property.

The fire which started about 1 a. m. threatened other buildings in the colony, some of which stood only 20 feet from the house which was destroyed.

Origin of the fire is not known.

Firemen were summoned shortly after 1 a. m. and it was not until 3:47 that the companies secured.

The premises are owned by Adele Horowitz of Bronx and Sonny Fine of Cliffside, N. J., and are operated as a summer hotel.

Reach for Moon, Scott Tells Grads Of Alma Mater

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter urged a starry-eyed Boulder High School graduating class Thursday night to reach for the moon.

"Your horizons are limited only by your own vision," said the Navy lieutenant commander, who was graduated from the same school 19 years ago.

Carpenter, 37, received a standing ovation from the 316 seniors and 2,500 relatives and guests.

The hometown hero, who two weeks earlier orbited the earth, said: "Going to the moon is no longer fantasy. There's a slight chance that men my age might someday be on the moon. Possibly people of your age will land not on the moon, but on the moons of Mars, and then on Mars itself."

Recalling his youth, Carpenter termed the world one of chaos when he was graduated in 1943.

"But the world you enter, in case you've heard news to the contrary, is rich with promise," he said. "You really don't know what riches await you. They await but they're not going to drop into your lap. You have to go get them."

Carpenter said the graduates have their work cut out for them.

"We are engaged now in a battle with another ideology for the minds of men, the effects of which may be felt for another 1,000 years," he said. "It is your responsibility, whether you like it or not, to see that our God-fearing way of life continues and that freedom survives."

The real name of Nikolai Lenin, founder of the Soviet Union, was Vladimir Ilich Ulyanov.

1,748 More Have X-rays, Total Is 5,649 for Drive

At the close of the fourth day of the free chest X-ray survey, a total of 5,649 persons have taken advantage of the opportunity.

Thursday a record overflow crowd was at the Highland clinic where 1,044 were X-rayed. At Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster the attendance was 704.

Mobile units will be in two county areas today — the town building in New Paltz and at the municipal building, Partition Street, Saugerties — during the hours of 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

Monday's schedule includes visits at the Glasco Fire Station and the Rosendale Fire Stations, also from 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

In Highland yesterday the Ulster County Health Commissioner Dr. E. Franklin Hall praised the Town of Lloyd workers for an outstanding canvass that resulted in the overflow attendance. Under Supervisor John Gaffney there were 90 canvassers that called on people at their homes to tell them about this service.

To handle the tremendous crowd Matthew Busch has recruited 18 registrars and hostesses. Registration tables were in the Methodist Church Hall. Supervisor Gaffney had enthusiastic praise for the two technicians on the unit and for assigned TB and Health staff who worked yesterday with the local volunteers to make this Free health service.

In the Town of Ulster X-raying 704 also was considered a busy day with about 140 being done each hour.

The Ulster Hose Fire Company and Auxiliary had carried out a canvass in several of the fire districts. Tables were set up in the engine house where 19 registrars took their places. The display of the fire equipment moved outside to make room for registrars proved to be of great interest to young and old.

Serving with Mrs. Klimchusky were the Mmes. James Sisco, Faxton Cone, Harold Macholt, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, John Halwick, Miss Lynn Benicase, Miss Marianne Davis, Gisela Klomps, Laura Musialkiewicz, Gordon Corey, George Fatum, Miss Cindy Klimchusky, Joseph Dyer, Edward Fischang, Miss Joan Dyer, Gerald Woodvine, as well as Albert Klimchusky and Robert Metscher. Fire police on duty to help with traffic were Gerald Woodvine and Vernon Lewis.

Volunteers on duty at the Lloyd site were the Mmes. Doris St. Leger, Edgar D. Boyce, Arthur Robinson, John Fuhrmann, Cos A. Trapani, Clarence W. Rathgeb, William H. Maynard, William E. Worley, Harry Needham, Walter Clark, Marguerite Gaffney, Catherine Carroll, Michael Nardone, Adelbert Martin, George E. Schoonmaker, Matthew Busch, and Miss Marguerite Gaffney. Stevee Coutant also assisted.

The Free Chest X-ray Survey is co-sponsored by the New York State and the Ulster County Departments of Health, the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

JFK Tying Prosperity To 5-Point Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pins his strategy for prosperity on a five-point tax package that includes across-the-board income tax cuts starting next January.

"There is no need for this country to stand helplessly by and watch a recovery run out of gas," Kennedy told his news conference Thursday.

"We have a program to boost it and I hope that all those who are concerned about their stocks or their profits or their jobs will help us get action on this program," he added.

Invites Public Support

Thus inviting public support, including support from critics who contend administration policies upset the stock market, Kennedy urged Congress to get down to business quickly on his proposals.

Tax talk highlighted the news conference in which Kennedy snapped back at Republican detractors and said he would take the stump for Democratic candidates in the November elections.

He made clear the administration does not intend to recommend an immediate cut in income taxes. But he said he will offer a tax reform bill providing reductions in both personal and corporate income taxes, effective Jan. 1, for congressional action next year. Details are being worked out, he said, but will result in a net loss—the reductions "will not be wholly offset by other reforms."

Other Points

He listed these other points in the program:

The House-passed tax credit for money invested in new machinery and equipment.

Forthcoming changes in schedules by which companies save money through tax writeoffs for depreciation of plant and equipment.

Kennedy estimated these two steps would represent a tax reduction for business of more than $2.5 billion.

Approval of his request for standby authority to cut taxes in order to head off threats of recession. The House Ways and means committee hasn't acted on this proposal.

Repeal of the 10 per cent tax on rail and bus transportation and cutting the tax on air travel in half, to 5 per cent.

Congratulates Nixon

Kennedy declared he will be active in the fall election campaigns. And he congratulated former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for winning the GOP gubernatorial primary in California. That's one state in which Kennedy is expected to appear, on behalf of Nixon's opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Other states which party sources believe he is most likely to invade are Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan, Kentucky and possibly Oregon, Utah and South Dakota.

Kennedy took a swing at Republican National Chairman William E. Miller and other GOP leaders after repudiating a statement by Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey accusing Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York of prejudice against Negroes. He said he had been waiting "for about a year and a half" for leading Republicans to repudiate some of the charges Miller had flung against him.

Other Topics

On other matters:

Foreign Aid—Kennedy said he was glad the Senate restored at least the government's authority to aid Poland and Yugoslavia with surplus food.

Medical Care—Passage of his plan to finance medical care of the aged through Social Security, Kennedy argued, would not nullify the Kerr-Mills law.

De Gaulle—Kennedy said he hadn't heard anything of a report he and President Charles de Gaulle of France are arranging to meet.

Legislation—With time growing short and Congress members eager to get home in this election year, Kennedy said a priori y list of legislation the administration particularly wants passed will have to be drawn up.

Spain—The President answered with a terse "No" when asked if he had met with Spanish Republicans while in Venezuela last December and told them he would work to overthrow the Franco regime in Spain.

Mexico—He still intends to visit Mexico the end of this month.

Cigarettes—Kennedy declined to comment on the controversy over the possible effect of cigarette smoking on lung cancer, other than to cite plans of the Public Health Service to appoint a panel of experts to study the question.

NEW YORK (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh—charged with conspiracy in an alleged federal court fix attempt—has testified he never agreed to do anything "corrupt . . .improper. . .unethical. . .or to be ashamed of."

Keogh made the denials in answer to a series of questions from his lawyer at his federal court trial Thursday.

Continues Today

Cross-examination by the prosecution began late in the session, and continues today.

On trial with Keogh are Elliott Kahaner, former chief assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo. All are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

They are accused of conspiring to influence Federal Judge Leo Rayfiel to moderate the sentence of jukebox operator Sanford J. Moore who had pleaded guilty in a bankruptcy fraud case in Brooklyn.

Keogh's lawyer, Harry T. Singer, used the justice's office diary, telephone message books, bank records, check stubs and canceled checks in questioning him for four hours about events and testimony involved in the trial before Judge Edward Weinfeld and a jury.

The lawyer periodically asked Keogh whether he was guilty of any of the government's charges or accusations by prosecution witnesses. Keogh, 56, stated his denials emphatically and occasionally with anger.

Denies Brother's Ties

Justice Keogh also denied several times that his brother, Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, Brooklyn Democrat, had knowledge of any conspiracy. Prosecution witnesses have testified that Justice Keogh promised that his brother would speak to Rayfiel in an attempt to get a lesser sentence for Moore.

There is no charge against Rep. Keogh. And there has been no hint that Rayfiel was influenced in behalf of Moore.

Dr. Robert W. Erdman, an admitted go-between in the alleged conspiracy, has testified that he gave Justice Keogh $22,500 and Kahaner $12,500 to work in behalf of Moore. Corallo is accused of helping raise the money.

Justice Keogh testified that he spoke to Rayfiel about Moore at the request of Erdman, but he denied he asked for leniency or received any money.

Keogh also said he arranged for Erdman to visit Rayfiel the morning that Moore was sentenced to three years. The term was later reduced to one year after Moore agreed to testify for the government in the case now on trial.

The justice said he interceded merely as a favor to Erdman, then his friend and physician. He said Erdman told him that Moore was a lifelong friend "in trouble."

10-Day Terms Imposed

Ira Barkley, 41, of 47 Market Street; John Melvin, 69, of 4 Mill Street; Joseph Matthews, 61, of 4 Mill Street and William Henry Burrise, 43, of 171 Canal Street, Ellenville, were arrested by Ellenville police Thursday on charges of disorderly conduct. Before Justice Frank Decker 10-day jail sentences were imposed.

Wawarsing Site Destroyed by Fire

A large 16-room building at the Sun Ray House, Briggs Highway, Town of Wawarsing, was destroyed by fire early today. Although there was a lack of water to battle the blaze, Ellenville, Napanoch and Woodbourne firemen did valiant work in saving adjoining property.

The fire which started about 1 a. m. threatened other buildings in the colony, some of which stood only 20 feet from the house which was destroyed.

Origin of the fire is not known.

Firemen were summoned shortly after 1 a. m. and it was not until 3:47 that the companies secured.

The premises are owned by Adele Horowitz of Bronx and Sonny Fine of Cliffside, N. J., and are operated as a summer hotel.

Reach for Moon, Scott Tells Grads Of Alma Mater

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter urged a starry-eyed Boulder High School graduating class Thursday night to reach for the moon.

"Your horizons are limited only by your own vision," said the Navy lieutenant commander, who was graduated from the same school 19 years ago.

Carpenter, 37, received a standing ovation from the 316 seniors and 2,500 relatives and guests.

The hometown hero, who two weeks earlier orbited the earth, said: "Going to the moon is no longer fantasy. There's a slight chance that men my age might someday be on the moon. Possibly people of your age will land not on the moon, but on the moons of Mars, and then on Mars itself."

Recalling his youth, Carpenter termed the world one of chaos when he was graduated in 1943.

"But the world you enter, in case you've heard news to the contrary, is rich with promise," he said. "You really don't know what riches await you. They await but they're not going to drop into your lap. You have to go get them."

Carpenter said the graduates have their work cut out for them.

"We are engaged now in a battle with another ideology for the minds of men, the effects of which may be felt for another 1,000 years," he said. "It is your responsibility, whether you like it or not, to see that our God-fearing way of life continues and that freedom survives."

The real name of Nikolai Lenin, founder of the Soviet Union, was Vladimir Ilich Ulyanov.

1,748 More Have X-rays, Total Is 5,649 for Drive

At the close of the fourth day of the free chest X-ray survey, a total of 5,649 persons have taken advantage of the opportunity.

Thursday a record overflow crowd was at the Highland clinic where 1,044 were X-rayed. At Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster the attendance was 704.

Mobile units will be in two county areas today — the town building in New Paltz and at the municipal building, Partition Street, Saugerties — during the hours of 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

Monday's schedule includes visits at the Glasco Fire Station and the Rosendale Fire Stations, also from 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

In Highland yesterday the Ulster County Health Commissioner Dr. E. Franklin Hall praised the Town of Lloyd workers for an outstanding canvass that resulted in the overflow attendance. Under Supervisor John Gaffney there were 90 canvassers that called on people at their homes to tell them about this service.

To handle the tremendous crowd Matthew Busch has recruited 18 registrars and hostesses. Registration tables were in the Methodist Church Hall. Supervisor Gaffney had enthusiastic praise for the two technicians on the unit and for assigned TB and Health staff who worked yesterday with the local volunteers to make this Free health service.

In the Town of Ulster X-raying 704 also was considered a busy day with about 140 being done each hour.

The Ulster Hose Fire Company and Auxiliary had carried out a canvass in several of the fire districts. Tables were set up in the engine house where 19 registrars took their places. The display of the fire equipment moved outside to make room for registrars proved to be of great interest to young and old.

Serving with Mrs. Klimchusky were the Mmes. James Sisco, Faxton Cone, Harold Macholt, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, John Halwick, Miss Lynn Benicase, Miss Marianne Davis, Gisela Klomps, Laura Musialkiewicz, Gordon Corey, George Fatum, Miss Cindy Klimchusky, Joseph Dyer, Edward Fischang, Miss Joan Dyer, Gerald Woodvine, as well as Albert Klimchusky and Robert Metscher. Fire police on duty to help with traffic were Gerald Woodvine and Vernon Lewis.

Volunteers on duty at the Lloyd site were the Mmes. Doris St. Leger, Edgar D. Boyce, Arthur Robinson, John Fuhrmann, Cos A. Trapani, Clarence W. Rathgeb, William H. Maynard, William E. Worley, Harry Needham, Walter Clark, Marguerite Gaffney, Catherine Carroll, Michael Nardone, Adelbert Martin, George E. Schoonmaker, Matthew Busch, and Miss Marguerite Gaffney. Stevee Coutant also assisted.

The Free Chest X-ray Survey is co-sponsored by the New York State and the Ulster County Departments of Health, the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

Twins Now In 2nd Spot In AL Race

The Minnesota Twins climbed a notch toward the American League top Thursday, beating Kansas City 5-2 behind the pitching of right-hander Joe Bonikowski and the key hitting of Rich Rollins.

That victory, coupled with the New York Yankees 4-0 shutout of Cleveland reshuffled the top of the standings. The Yanks kept their hold on first place, but Minnesota jumped up to second—one game out—and the Indians fell to third, two games behind.

In other games—Boston tripped Detroit 5-4, Chicago beat Los Angeles 8-4, and Baltimore crushed Washington 12-5.

Bonikowski, 21, a slender Pennsylvanian, held the Athletics to six hits. He struck out five and did not allow a walk, winning his fifth against four losses.

Stafford faced only 29 men, retiring the first 10 in order.

Roger Maris led off the fourth with his 10th homer for New York's first hit off loser Jim Perry, and it stayed 1-0 until the Yankees got three insurance runs in the eighth.

The Red Sox nipped the Tigers with an eighth inning run. Before that it had been a home run duel, with pitcher Earl Wilson and Gary Geiger connecting for Boston and Rocky Colavito and Jake Wood for Detroit. Arnold Earley was the winning pitcher and Ron Kline the loser.

Al Smith sparked the White Sox over the Angels, getting five hits in five tries. In all, Chicago batters collected 14 hits off five Los Angeles pitchers, starting with loser Eli Grba.

The Orioles scored in all but two innings against the Senators, hammered out 14 hits, collected seven walks and rolled up their biggest score of the season. Jack Fisher was Baltimore's starting pitcher but failed to last past the third. He was taken out after Chuck Hinton's two-run homer and Billy Hoeft went the rest of the way. Washington left-hander Pete Burnside, chased in the Orioles' four-run second, was the loser.

Possible Trouble

Sport Club Booters Set For Schenectady Battle

The last team to defeat the Kingston Sport Club — the Schenectady Sons of Italy — will try to thwart the Central New York Soccer Association pennant hopes of the locals Sunday at Schenectady.

The Dorpians whipped the Kingston team in September, 1961, at Hasbrouck Park and since then the local booters reeled off 18 straight victories.

Despite the tremendous Kingston pace, the Albany Athletic Club has refused to be shaken off. The teams share a first place tie with 36.4 points each and a climactic showdown between them is scheduled Sunday, June 24, at Dietz Stadium in Kingston.

Except for a few makeup games, regular season action winds up this weekend. Albany hosts Endicott, which is mired in the second division with a 5-12 record. The Schenectady Sons of Italy have a 10-9 record going into Sunday's game.

Association experts expect Kingston and Albany to win this weekend to set the stage for the title game on June 24.

A topflight managing job by Bob Graves and the addition of such super stars as Reiner Schwebel and Al Miller of New Paltz, a former All-America collegiate selection, are the principal reason for the resurgence of the Kingston booters.

In other weekend games, Poughkeepsie Blue and White travels to Schenectady Football Club; Albany Sports Club is at Little Falls; Utica at Poughkeepsie Knights of Columbus; and Poughkeepsie Italians at Troy Sport Club.

Rodgers Saves Job With Cubs

The young shortstop stroked a bases-loaded single in a three-run fourth inning uprising against National League leading San Francisco, then tagged a homer in the sixth for the deciding run as the Cubs whipped his former teammates 4-3 Thursday.

Rodgers, 27 and hitting only .263, might have been on the bench if Alex Grammas, acquired in a trade two days ago, had reported to the Cubs. At game time Grammas still was missing and Rodgers played.

Second-place Los Angeles lost an opportunity to take over first place when Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer in the last of the ninth and gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers. That kept the Dodgers a half-game back of the Giants.

Elsewhere, St. Louis won its third straight after snapping an eight-game losing streak by belting Cincinnati 8-2 and Houston came from behind to edge Milwaukee and warren Spahn 3-2. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Rodgers' heroics tagged left-hander Billy Pierce with his first National League defeat after eight victories. Don Cardwell (2-6), who scattered six hits, went the route for the victory.

The Dodgers gave Johnny Podres a 2-0 lead on Willie Davis' homer with one on in the third and the southpaw had a four-hit shutout until the nint' when Dick Groat and Roberto Clemente hit consecutive singles leading off the inning. That chased Podres and brought on Larry Sherry, whose second pitch was hit by Stuart for the game-winner. ElRoy Face (4-1) picked up the triumph in relief.

Backed by an 18-hit Cardinal attack, Ernie Broglio (2-2) held the Reds to seven hits.

Julian Javier and Julio Gotay each had three hits off Jim O'Toole (4-6) and his successors.

The Braves moved ahead 2-1 in the fifth on Ed Mathews' run-producing single. But singles by Jim Pendleton, Norm Larker, Merritt Ranew and Billy Goodman gave the Colts two in the last of the ninth and left Spahn (6-6) with the loss. Former Brave Don McMahon (2-1) won it in relief.

The Minnesota Twins climbed a notch toward the American League top Thursday, beating Kansas City 5-2 behind the pitching of right-hander Joe Bonikowski and the key hitting of Rich Rollins.

That victory, coupled with the New York Yankees 4-0 shutout of Cleveland reshuffled the top of the standings. The Yanks kept their hold on first place, but Minnesota jumped up to second—one game out—and the Indians fell to third, two games behind.

In other games—Boston tripped Detroit 5-4, Chicago beat Los Angeles 8-4, and Baltimore crushed Washington 12-5.

Bonikowski, 21, a slender Pennsylvanian, held the Athletics to six hits. He struck out five and did not allow a walk, winning his fifth against four losses.

Bill Stafford's shutout was the Yanks' second straight over Cleveland in their abbreviated two-game series with the Indians.

Stafford faced only 29 men, retiring the first 10 in order.

Roger Maris led off the fourth with his 10th homer for New York's first hit off loser Jim Perry, and it stayed 1-0 until the Yankees got three insurance runs in the eighth.

The Red Sox nipped the Tigers with an eighth inning run. Before that it had been a home run duel, with pitcher Earl Wilson and Gary Geiger connecting for Boston and Rocky Colavito and Jake Wood for Detroit. Arnold Earley was the winning pitcher and Ron Kline the loser.

Al Smith sparked the White Sox over the Angels, getting five hits in five tries. In all, Chicago batters collected 14 hits off five Los Angeles pitchers, starting with loser Eli Grba.

The Orioles scored in all but two innings against the Senators, hammered out 14 hits, collected seven walks and rolled up their biggest score of the season. Jack Fisher was Baltimore's starting pitcher but failed to last past the third. He was taken out after Chuck Hinton's two-run homer and Billy Hoeft went the rest of the way. Washington left-hander Pete Burnside, chased in the Orioles' four-run second, was the loser.

Possible Trouble

Sport Club Booters Set For Schenectady Battle

The last team to defeat the Kingston Sport Club — the Schenectady Sons of Italy — will try to thwart the Central New York Soccer Association pennant hopes of the locals Sunday at Schenectady.

The Dorpians whipped the Kingston team in September, 1961, at Hasbrouck Park and since then the local booters reeled off 18 straight victories.

Despite the tremendous Kingston pace, the Albany Athletic Club has refused to be shaken off. The teams share a first place tie with 36.4 points each and a climactic showdown between them is scheduled Sunday, June 24, at Dietz Stadium in Kingston.

Except for a few makeup games, regular season action winds up this weekend. Albany hosts Endicott, which is mired in the second division with a 5-12 record. The Schenectady Sons of Italy have a 10-9 record going into Sunday's game.

Association experts expect Kingston and Albany to win this weekend to set the stage for the title game on June 24.

A topflight managing job by Bob Graves and the addition of such super stars as Reiner Schwebel and Al Miller of New Paltz, a former All-America collegiate selection, are the principal reason for the resurgence of the Kingston booters.

In other weekend games, Poughkeepsie Blue and White travels to Schenectady Football Club; Albany Sports Club is at Little Falls; Utica at Poughkeepsie Knights of Columbus; and Poughkeepsie Italians at Troy Sport Club.

Rodgers Saves Job With Cubs

The young shortstop stroked a bases-loaded single in a three-run fourth inning uprising against National League leading San Francisco, then tagged a homer in the sixth for the deciding run as the Cubs whipped his former teammates 4-3 Thursday.

Rodgers, 27 and hitting only .263, might have been on the bench if Alex Grammas, acquired in a trade two days ago, had reported to the Cubs. At game time Grammas still was missing and Rodgers played.

Second-place Los Angeles lost an opportunity to take over first place when Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer in the last of the ninth and gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers. That kept the Dodgers a half-game back of the Giants.

Elsewhere, St. Louis won its third straight after snapping an eight-game losing streak by belting Cincinnati 8-2 and Houston came from behind to edge Milwaukee and warren Spahn 3-2. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Rodgers' heroics tagged left-hander Billy Pierce with his first National League defeat after eight victories. Don Cardwell (2-6), who scattered six hits, went the route for the victory.

The Dodgers gave Johnny Podres a 2-0 lead on Willie Davis' homer with one on in the third and the southpaw had a four-hit shutout until the ninth when Dick Groat and Roberto Clemente hit consecutive singles leading off the inning. That chased Podres and brought on Larry Sherry, whose second pitch was hit by Stuart for the game-winner. ElRoy Face (4-1) picked up the triumph in relief.

Backed by an 18-hit Cardinal attack, Ernie Broglio (2-2) held the Reds to seven hits.

Julian Javier and Julio Gotay each had three hits off Jim O'Toole (4-6) and his successors.

The Braves moved ahead 2-1 in the fifth on Ed Mathews' run-producing single. But singles by Jim Pendleton, Norm Larker, Merritt Ranew and Billy Goodman gave the Colts two in the last of the ninth and left Spahn (6-6) with the loss. Former Brave Don McMahon (2-1) won it in relief.

Brewer Leads Golf Tourney

That was the laughing analysis offered by two-time National Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus when 45 players scored better than Arnold Palmer in the first round of the $100,000 Classic tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club Thursday.

It was given, however, with a slightly rueful chuckle that indicated nobody, least of all his pro rivals, figures Arnie will be far away when the $25,000 first prize is handed out Sunday night.

Gay Brewer, heavy-hitting Kentucky-bred pro who plays from Crystal River, Fla., solved the tricky greens on the 7,055-yard course to take the first round lead with 33-33—66.

Littler Is Second

He was one stroke ahead of Gene Littler, who is tuning up here to defend his U.S. Open championship at Oakmont, Pa., next week, and Earl Stewart, 40, a club pro from Dallas, Tex.

Palmer, winner of six tournaments this year, favorite to add to his immense earnings here and probable favorite for next week's National Open, had a 73, one over par. He was still feeling the effects of a cold that has bothered him for more than a week.

Two players, Fred Hawkins and Dave Ragan, had 68s and six had 69s, among them Nicklaus.

After today's second round, the field will be cut to the low 90 pros and the four amateurs who started. Another cut to 60 and ties will be made before the final round.

Royal Rick Sets World Mark For 1½ Miles at Yonkers Track

A long-shot at Yonkers Raceway tied a world record, a track record was set at Buffalo and Saratoga Raceway opened for the season in an eventful night of harness racing in New York State Thursday night.

Royal Rick, an 11-1 outsider, equalled the world record for a mile and a half in capturing the $15,000 U.S.A. Test No. 2 at Yonkers.

George Sholty drove Royal Rick to a 2¾-length victory over Irvin Paul in 3:03.2 to equal the mark set by Stephan Smith on Sept. 7, 1961. Stephan Smith was fourth Thursday night.

The winner returned $24.90. Apmat was third.

The opening-night at Saratoga Springs saw Ted Hanover rack up his third-straight victory of the season in winning the featured $3,000 Mechanicville Pace in 2:03 4-5.

The 4-year-old gelding, driven by George Ohretien, edged Federalist by a half length and paid $3.30. Targeteer was third.

The other feature at Saratoga —the two-division $3,000 green-which Trot — was won by two Hambletonian eligibles making their first starts. Rooney Hanover ($7.40) won one division in 2:05 1-5 and Delight Hanover ($11.80) took the other in 2:06 3-5.

The opening-night crowd of 5,711 wagered a total of $246,874.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Vernon — Success Dean ($8.70) took the $1,400 B-3 trot, in 2:03 4-5. Topsy Lee D was second and Cold Spring George third.

Tie Silk Choice In Feature Race At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Miron Stable's Tie Silk heads a field of eight fast trotters in tonight's $2,500 feature handicap for Class AA-A horses at Monticello Raceway.

Winner of $250,000 lifetime, Tie Silk will be making its first Montocello appearance since 1960 when it finished second to Air Record in a leg of the Harness Tracks of America Trot. The six-year-old son of Rodney has been assigned post seven and will be driven by Keith Waples who is rapidly becoming a favorite with fans here.

Bob Camper's Dancing Demon will leave from the outside and looms as Tie Silk's main opposition. The Demon Hanover mare won a couple of dashes here last year and seems partial to the Monticello oval.

Mr. Midnight, which will be driven by Bill Popfinger, starts next to Tie Silk and is another threat. The seven-year-old Worthy Boy stallion consisently meets the best in tours on the invitational racing circuit.

Penney Shenandoah, a surprise winner of the inaugural feature, will be favored by the rail. Owner Arthur Thorne will team the Scottish Pence mare which has gotten off to a fine start.

Newcomer Ava Song, with Lucien Fontaine, Ramire, with Richard Custis, old-favorite Rodman, with Lester Pullen, and Mr. Simpson, with George Beinhauer make up the rest of the field.

Ramire was second to Penney Shenandoah in the opening feature. Mr. Simpson was fourth in the same race after a break. Ava Song and Rodman boast victories in Canada and at Rosecroft.

RichBelmontRace Slates Saturday

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest of all Belmont stakes since the great classic was inaugurated in 1867, will be raced Saturday at Belmont Park.

Seven 3-year-olds are scheduled to go postward in the 1⅛-mile test, barring any late developments.

The others, who can't be counted out after last year's experience with Sherluck ($132.10—for $2), are Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Frank E. Power's Vimy Ridge, and Louis Wolfson's David K.

Decidedly broke the Churchill Downs track record in winning the Kentucky Derby five weeks ago. But ran poorly in the Preakness at Pimlico May 19, as Greek Money nosed Ridan in their rough finish line thriller.

East Squad Signs Two More Players

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Sam Tidmore, a defensive end from Ohio State, and Tony Kumiega, a Michigan State guard, were signed today to play with the East squad in the All-America Football Bowl Game here June 29.

The West tapped Bob Deegan, Minnesota end, Max Burton, a halfback from San Joe State, and John Meyers, a tackle from the University of Washington.

Brewer Leads Golf Tourney

That was the laughing analysis offered by two-time National Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus when 45 players scored better than Arnold Palmer in the first round of the $100,000 Classic tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club Thursday.

It was given, however, with a slightly rueful chuckle that indicated nobody, least of all his pro rivals, figures Arnie will be far away when the $25,000 first prize is handed out Sunday night.

Gay Brewer, heavy-hitting Kentucky-bred pro who plays from Crystal River, Fla., solved the tricky greens on the 7,055-yard course to take the first round lead with 33-33—66.

Littler Is Second

He was one stroke ahead of Gene Littler, who is tuning up here to defend his U.S. Open championship at Oakmont, Pa., next week, and Earl Stewart, 40, a club pro from Dallas, Tex.

Palmer, winner of six tournaments this year, favorite to add to his immense earnings here and probable favorite for next week's National Open, had a 73, one over par. He was still feeling the effects of a cold that has bothered him for more than a week.

Two players, Fred Hawkins and Dave Ragan, had 68s and six had 69s, among them Nicklaus.

After today's second round, the field will be cut to the low 90 pros and the four amateurs who started. Another cut to 60 and ties will be made before the final round.

Royal Rick Sets World Mark For 1½ Miles at Yonkers Track

A long-shot at Yonkers Raceway tied a world record, a track record was set at Buffalo and Saratoga Raceway opened for the season in an eventful night of harness racing in New York State Thursday night.

Royal Rick, an 11-1 outsider, equalled the world record for a mile and a half in capturing the $15,000 U.S.A. Test No. 2 at Yonkers.

George Sholty drove Royal Rick to a 2¾-length victory over Irvin Paul in 3:03.2 to equal the mark set by Stephan Smith on Sept. 7, 1961. Stephan Smith was fourth Thursday night.

The winner returned $24.90. Apmat was third.

The opening-night at Saratoga Springs saw Ted Hanover rack up his third-straight victory of the season in winning the featured $3,000 Mechanicville Pace in 2:03 4-5.

The 4-year-old gelding, driven by George Ohretien, edged Federalist by a half length and paid $3.30. Targeteer was third.

The other feature at Saratoga—the two-division $3,000 greenwhich Trot — was won by two Hambletonian eligibles making their first starts. Rooney Hanover ($7.40) won one division in 2:05 1-5 and Delight Hanover ($11.80) took the other in 2:06 3-5.

The opening-night crowd of 5,711 wagered a total of $246,874.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Vernon — Success Dean ($8.70) took the $1,400 B-3 trot, in 2:03 4-5. Topsy Lee D was second and Cold Spring George third.

Tie Silk Choice In Feature Race At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Miron Stable's Tie Silk heads a field of eight fast trotters in tonight's $2,500 feature handicap for Class AA-A horses at Monticello Raceway.

Winner of $250,000 lifetime, Tie Silk will be making its first Montocello appearance since 1960 when it finished second to Air Record in a leg of the Harness Tracks of America Trot. The six-year-old son of Rodney has been assigned post seven and will be driven by Keith Waples who is rapidly becoming a favorite with fans here.

Bob Camper's Dancing Demon will leave from the outside and looms as Tie Silk's main opposition. The Demon Hanover mare won a couple of dashes here last year and seems partial to the Monticello oval.

Mr. Midnight, which will be driven by Bill Popfinger, starts next to Tie Silk and is another threat. The seven-year-old Worthy Boy stallion consisently meets the best in tours on the invitational racing circuit.

Penney Shenandoah, a surprise winner of the inaugural feature, will be favored by the rail. Owner Arthur Thorne will team the Scottish Pence mare which has gotten off to a fine start.

Newcomer Ava Song, with Lucien Fontaine, Ramire, with Richard Custis, old-favorite Rodman, with Lester Pullen, and Mr. Simpson, with George Beinhauer make up the rest of the field.

Ramire was second to Penney Shenandoah in the opening feature. Mr. Simpson was fourth in the same race after a break. Ava Song and Rodman boast victories in Canada and at Rosecroft.

RichBelmontRace Slates Saturday

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest of all Belmont stakes since the great classic was inaugurated in 1867, will be raced Saturday at Belmont Park.

Seven 3-year-olds are scheduled to go postward in the 1⅛-mile test, barring any late developments.

The others, who can't be counted out after last year's experience with Sherluck ($132.10—for $2), are Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Frank E. Power's Vimy Ridge, and Louis Wolfson's David K.

Decidedly broke the Churchill Downs track record in winning the Kentucky Derby five weeks ago. But ran poorly in the Preakness at Pimlico May 19, as Greek Money nosed Ridan in their rough finish line thriller.

East Squad Signs Two More Players

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Sam Tidmore, a defensive end from Ohio State, and Tony Kumiega, a Michigan State guard, were signed today to play with the East squad in the All-America Football Bowl Game here June 29.

The addition of the two linemen completes the 30-man east squad.

Sadecki Makes Peace With Keane

ST. LOUIS (AP)—All is harmony, at least on the surface, in the camp of the St. Louis Cardinals, where a small tempest boiled up over young southpaw pitcher Ray Sadecki.

It all started Tuesday night when Sadecki gave up five runs on two home run balls and made two errors in one inning against Cincinnati.

Manager Johnny Keane said Sadecki was goofing off, called it the poorest effort he had ever seen on a major league diamond and fined the 21-year-old $50,000 bonus baby $250.

Keane, backed up by General Manager Bing Devine, suspended Sadecki, who has a 2-3 record.

Sadecki demanded that he be traded and Devine said that was out of the question.

Thursday afternoon Sadecki, Devine and Keane went into a session behind closed doors and after the meeting Devine issued a terse statement that said Keane and Sadecki "resolved their differences." Sadeckis suspension has been lifted.

Jacksonville Is Walloped, 16-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League's front-running Jacksonville Suns got a taste of how the other half lives from the cellar-dwelling Columbus Jets in Thursday night's IL action.

When the dust had settled, the Suns were on the short end of a 16-1 loss, their worst defeat in 48 games and first loss in six meetings with Columbus.

In other games, Rochester scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat Syracuse, 7-5; Atlanta blanked Richmond, 11-0, and Toronto rallied for three runs in the ninth to defeat Buffalo, 5-4.

Columbus exploded for 14 hits, scoring six runs in the second and seven more in the fourth against the stunned league leaders.

The league's top hitter, Jacksonville's Vic Davallilo, stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 19 with three safeties and also made his third appearance as a pitcher, yielding a three-run homer.

Bonus Beauty Has Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Culp, the $390,000 bonus baby, may be laughing all the way to the bank.

Written off by some observers as a bust when he was unable to win a game last year and in his first two starts this season with the Williamsport Grays, the right-hander has come on strong with five victories — and the parent Philadelphia Phillies are taking notice.

Culp, who has lost only one game, got No. 5 Thursday night in a seven-hit, 3-1 victory over Springfield, as the front-running Grays maintained their 6½-game lead in the Eastern Baseball League.

Second-place Charleston kept pace by blanking Binghamton, 8-0, and York beat Elmira 7-4.

A slightly different version of shuffleboard was played as far back as the 15th century. Shove-ha'penny, played in England, was a game in which a coin or disk was pushed along a polished board so that it would stop between closely ruled lines. The board was the predecessor of today's shuffleboard court.

Ulster LL Sets Finance Drive

The Town of Ulster Little League will hold its annual Booster Drive on Saturday, June 9, league president Benjamin Gulnick announced today.

Players from each team under the supervision of their managers and coaches will visit all homes in the Town of Ulster to distribute booster tickets.

Proceeds from this annual drive are used to help buy equipment, maintain the playing field and take the boys to major league games, if sufficient funds remain.

Hot Cards Set To Meet Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stimulated by a psychological boost that carried them out of a great depression, the St. Louis Cardinals are primed for the first place Giants who open a four game series here tonight.

Manager Johnny Keane said the great lift came Tuesday night when the Cards pulled from behind an 9-1 deficit and went on to beat the Cincinnati Reds 10-9 in 11 innings on Stan Musial's homer.

"They wouldn't have gotten the same boost if they had won the game 5-3 in nine innings," Keane said after the Cards had completed a three game sweep of the series with the Reds, winning 8-2 on 18 hits. The victory string followed eight straight losses.

"It takes a long time to fall back into a slump once you're out of one," the manager said—obviously pleased that the darkest slump of the year was behind him.

The Giants are 10 games in front of the Cards but they come here with a two game losing streak.

Four Share Lead In Women's Play

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Veteran Gloria Fecht and tour sophomore Sandra Haynie, a couple of golfers who never have won a tournament, matched strokes with big guns Mickey Wright and Jackie Pung to create a four-way lead in the $7,500 Austin Civitan Open first round.

They led the parade into the second 18 holes today with five-under-par 69's.

They were two strokes ahead of Marilynn Smith, who shot a 71. Bunched at 72 were Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa; Mary Mills of Ocean Park, Miss., and Sherry Wheeler, the tour freshman from Glasgow, Ky.

Miss Haynie, the tiny girl who got her golfing start at the Austin Country Club, scene of the tournament, had to birdie the last hole with an eight-foot putt to tie Miss Fecht, Miss Wright and Mrs. Pung for the lead.

The most pleased golfer on the course was Mrs. Bettye Mims Danoff got a hole-in-one with a No. 6 iron blast on the 157-yard twelfth hole.

Sadecki Makes Peace With Keane

ST. LOUIS (AP)—All is harmony, at least on the surface, in the camp of the St. Louis Cardinals, where a small tempest boiled up over young southpaw pitcher Ray Sadecki.

It all started Tuesday night when Sadecki gave up five runs on two home run balls and made two errors in one inning against Cincinnati.

Manager Johnny Keane said Sadecki was goofing off, called it the poorest effort he had ever seen on a major league diamond and fined the 21-year-old $50,000 bonus baby $250.

Sadecki went into a sulk and didn't bother to show up for the next night's game.

Keane, backed up by General Manager Bing Devine, suspended Sadecki, who has a 2-3 record.

Sadecki demanded that he be traded and Devine said that was out of the question.

Thursday afternoon Sadecki, Devine and Keane went into a session behind closed doors and after the meeting Devine issued a terse statement that said Keane and Sadecki "resolved their differences." Sadeckis suspension has been lifted.

Jacksonville Is Walloped, 16-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League's front-running Jacksonville Suns got a taste of how the other half lives from the cellar-dwelling Columbus Jets in Thursday night's IL action.

When the dust had settled, the Suns were on the short end of a 16-1 loss, their worst defeat in 48 games and first loss in six meetings with Columbus.

In other games, Rochester scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat Syracuse, 7-5; Atlanta blanked Richmond, 11-0, and Toronto rallied for three runs in the ninth to defeat Buffalo, 5-4.

Columbus exploded for 14 hits, scoring six runs in the second and seven more in the fourth against the stunned league leaders.

The league's top hitter, Jacksonville's Vic Davallilo, stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 19 with three safeties and also made his third appearance as a pitcher, yielding a three-run homer.

Bonnie Beauty Has Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Culp, the $390,000 bonus baby, may be laughing all the way to the bank.

Written off by some observers as a bust when he was unable to win a game last year and in his first two starts this season with the Williamsport Grays, the right-hander has come on strong with five victories — and the parent Philadelphia Phillies are taking notice.

Culp, who has lost only one game, got No. 5 Thursday night in a seven-hit, 3-1 victory over Springfield, as the front-running Grays maintained their 6½-game lead in the Eastern Baseball League.

Second-place Charleston kept pace by blanking Binghamton, 8-0, and York beat Elmira 7-4.

matter of fact

A slightly different version of shuffleboard was played as far back as the 15th century. Shove-ha'penny, played in England, was a game in which a coin or disk was pushed along a polished board so that it would stop between closely ruled lines. The board was the predecessor of today's shuffleboard court.

Hot Cards Set To Meet Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stimulated by a psychological boost that carried them out of a great depression, the St. Louis Cardinals are primed for the first place Giants who open a four game series here tonight.

Manager Johnny Keane said the great lift came Tuesday night when the Cards pulled from behind an 9-1 deficit and went on to beat the Cincinnati Reds 10-9 in 11 innings on Stan Musial's homer.

"They wouldn't have gotten the same boost if they had won the game 5-3 in nine innings," Keane said after the Cards had completed a three game sweep of the series with the Reds, winning 8-2 on 18 hits. The victory string followed eight straight losses.

"It takes a long time to fall back into a slump once you're out of one," the manager said—obviously pleased that the darkest slump of the year was behind him.

The Giants are 10 games in front of the Cards but they come here with a two game losing streak.

Four Share Lead In Women's Play

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Veteran Gloria Fecht and tour sophomore Sandra Haynie, a couple of golfers who never have won a tournament, matched strokes with big guns Mickey Wright and Jackie Pung to create a four-way lead in the $7,500 Austin Civitan Open first round.

They led the parade into the second 18 holes today with five-under-par 69's.

They were two strokes ahead of Marilynn Smith, who shot a 71. Bunched at 72 were Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa; Mary Mills of Ocean Park, Miss., and Sherry Wheeler, the tour freshman from Glasgow, Ky.

Miss Haynie, the tiny girl who got her golfing start at the Austin Country Club, scene of the tournament, had to birdie the last hole with an eight-foot putt to tie Miss Fecht, Miss Wright and Mrs. Pung for the lead.

The most pleased golfer on the course was Mrs. Bettye Mims Danoff got a hole-in-one with a No. 6 iron blast on the 157-yard twelfth hole.

Driver Hurt in Mishap On Route 32 at Saxton

Charles Livingstone, 30 of Fairlawn, N. J., was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital following a highway mishap in which his car left Route 32 near Saxton early today and struck a tree head-on, Kingston state police reported.

Troopers Richard I. Ryan and Richard S. Allan reported Livingstone suffered multiple lacerations of the right knee and left forehead, and possible dislocated hip.

Troopers said he was proceeding south on Route 32 in his 1961 sedan when he apparently fell asleep, lost control of the car which went off the west side of the highway and struck a tree on the property of Winifred Conners. He was taken to the hospital in H & S Ambulance of Saugerties.

No Saugerties Water For New Home Areas

Recommendations in a report of the Water Conservation and Planning Committee adopted by Saugerties Town Board at its Thursday night meeting, will immediately halt extension of water lines to housing developers in Glasco Water District.

The committee report says "it would be neither practical nor ethical to permit the long-time users in the water district, which includes Barclay Heights, to be deprived of their water supply and pressure for the particular advantage of large scale developing."

Need New Sources

The committee further emphasized that the township continue and intensify its investigation of other possible sources of water to augment the supply of the Glasco Water District. The report said new sources are needed in order that further expansion in Glasco Water District will not be curtailed due to the lack of water. It was emphasized in the report that the water supply in Glasco Water District is barely adequate to meet existing requirements in the district.

It was brought out at the meeting that action was imperative at this time due to the dry spring which will inevitably cause a short supply and low pressure condition during the summer months.

Other recommendations include:

Rules and regulations should be prepared for Glasco Water District users and consumers be advised that for their own protection, garden sprinkling should be permitted only during specific hours. The regulations would emphasize the urgent need for conservation of water and curtailment of waste.

Must File Applications

All commercial concerns must file with the Glasco water superintendent, a notice of intention in order that the application for water may be studied to determine if water is available for any new facility before it is hooked onto the water system.

The report said this item was suggested by reason of reports that several commercial enterprises expect to commence operation in the Glasco Water District one being a laundromat which will of necessity consume great quantities of water, and that it doesn't appear at the present time that there is sufficient water available for that purpose.

Occasionally additional new residential housing could be permitted to tie on to existing water lines. However, any large scale new residential developing in the area on the basis of engineering studies, would result in a severe water shortage under present conditions if they be granted permits to hook onto the water system.

Land should be purchased by the district for the construction of a small building for storing supplys and equipment.

Need Expansion Land

Additional land should also be purchased at the site of the present standpipe for construction of future additional water storage facilities.

The report also recommended that the town retain the services of a geologist to investigate the possibility of securing additional water sources.

The committee includes Town Councilman Frank Greco, committee chairman; Justice of the Peace William D. Brinnier, and Glasco Water Superintendent Fred Francello.

The committee which was created in 1960 to study the water resources of the Town of Saugerties, reported the recommendations were the result of extensive study and consultations with Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers for the town, and Morrell Vrooman, engineer for the Village of Saugerties. Glasco Water District receives its water supply from the Saugerties Village system which is piped from the village reservoir at Blue Mountain.

Application Denied

Application for permission to add 40 new homes in the Barclay Heights area to the water system by Austin Simmons, developer of Simmons Park, was denied April 26 by the Saugerties Village Water Board. The board denied the application until a water survey could be completed by the village engineer.

Attorney Morris Rosenblum, representing Simmons, said the 40 new homes were in the process of construction on the westerly portion of the Simmons property, and requested permission to extend to Glasco District water lines to include the new development.

On the basis of the village engineer's report, the Village Water Board on May 21, increased the amount of water permitted to be delivered to the Glasco system to a maximum of 206,000 gallons per day. The Glasco Water District had previously been permitted an average of 150,000 gallons per day. The village pointed out that it could only sell surplus water to the Glasco District.

The Blue Mountain Reservoir is supplying 1,400,000 gallons of water to the village and Glasco District daily, and may not exceed 1,800,000 gallons due to a riparian rights decision with that restriction.

Must Find Alternatives

Under the restrictions recommended in the Water Conservation and Planning Committee report, developers who now have houses under construction, or are contemplating new developments, must find an alternative to supply the new homes with water. Individual wells may be drilled or the developer has the option to form his own water company and secure a supply from artesian wells.

In other business, the Town Board approved installation of a town bulletin board on the wall next to the door of the new building now under construction. Harry Slobodian of Spaulding Court made the suggestion to the board.

Four residents of the Timberlake Estates asked about the completion of a project there to alleviate poor drainage.

Supervisor Peter M. Williams said the Town Board visited the development last week to study the problem. The contractor has been unable to complete the project because a right of way is required from A. Sacks in order to run drainage pipe through his property, it was reported. The matter was turned over to Louis P. Francello, attorney for the town.

The Town Board accepted a short stretch of road relocated and constructed by Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp., at Churchland, which connects the plant with the Tissol Road. Town Clerk Miss Marion Newkirk was authorized to ask New York Central Railroad to install signal lights on four unattended railroad crossings in the Churchland area.

Truck Loses Cement Blocks in Saugerties

A truck conveying cement blocks, rounding a turn on Route 9W into Main Street in the Village of Saugerties Thursday, lost some of the blocks which struck a passing vehicle, Village police reported.

Acting Police Chief Harold Mills said a flat truck owned by Cody Coal and Lumber Company, Malden, and operated by Joseph D. Young was proceeding south on Malden Avenue (Route 9W) and when rounding the turn into Main Street, Saugerties, lost part of its load of cement blocks. Some of the blocks struck the 1961 sedan of Mrs. Katherine G. Remensnyder of Mynderse Street on the front wheel and left front fender, village police reported. Mrs. Remensnyder was proceeding east on Main Street at the time.

Laos Recesses Coalition Bid Until Monday

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said today the three princes summit conference has decided to adjourn its sessions until Monday to give its members time to reflect on the formation of a coalition government.

Emerging red-faced from a half-hour afternoon meeting with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, and pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum, Souvanna told reporters: "One or two unsettled points obliged us to postpone the meeting until Monday and each party has demanded time for reflection."

Hope Monday's Last

He added that he hoped Monday's meeting will be the last one before he announces a formation of a coalition Cabinet.

Boun Oum and his delegation, which includes strong man Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew back to Vientiane and will return here Monday.

Souvanna, who is to head the coalition if it is formed, told newsmen Thursday "very great progress" had been made in the first session and he hoped for a final agreement today. He said the three factions had agreed on the key issue, which group would get the ministries of defense and interior and through them control of the army and police.

Souphanouvong, Souvanna's half brother who heads the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, told reporters he was satisfied and was "sure that a solution of a coalition is inevitable."

Gen. Phoumi also expressed optimism and said the talks were going smoothly. But he said no agreement had been made on the distribution of jobs.

Thai officials in Bangkok, who have close ties with Phoumi, said the general and Boun Oum were proposing a version of the troika —or three horse—system of control for the defense and interior ministries, as the Soviets proposed last year for the United Nations.

The Thai sources said the Vientiane troika plan calls for Souvanna to be minister of defense and interior as well as premier. But in each ministry he would have three assistant ministers — one from each faction — and all three would have to agree before any administrative action could be taken.

Baptists Seek Restraint, Not Banning of Book

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Troubled by a book, Southern Baptists don't want it banned outright. But they want their agencies to be more careful about what they publish—and teach.

This was the policy-setting word from the big church body's annual convention as it neared a close today.

More than 10,000 assembled "messengers" also turned down a proposal that they expand their organizational territory beyond the country's borders.

Opponents said such a step would cause dangerous, divisive and damaging rivalry with Baptist bodies in other nations.

However, it was the doctrinal teaching and publishing controversy, flaming through the 10-million-member denomination in recent months that roused the convention heat.

Conservative forces, charging liberal theological tendencies in seminaries and other agencies, centered their protests on a book, "The essage of Genesis," by an Old Testament scholar, Dr. Ralph Elliott of Midwestern Seminary in Kansas City.

In a tempestuous, see-saw battle, moves were twice launched to force Broadman Press, run by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, to suppress the book and call in all copies from outlets.

One Midwestern minister, at the urging of Baptist leaders, voluntarily withdrew his motion for such action. But another pastor, the Rev. Ben D. Windham of Portland, Ore., Thursday night again pressed the same proposal.

It was narrowly defeated, by a standing vote.

Po'keepsie Holds Father, Son in Series of Thefts

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—The arrest of a father and son team of house painters was announced today as the solution to a series of burglaries that might total as high as a half million dollars.

Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan said the two were Raymond H. Stanton, 48, and his son, Raymond George Stanton, 22, both of Poughkeepsie.

The two specialized in taking silverware, jewelry and antiques from unoccupied homes in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia counties, the sheriff said.

The robberies occurred over the past few years and ranged from $5,000 to $25,000. The total number ran to at least 150, Quinlan said.

The Stantons were arrested Thursday night following six months of investigation, but were not booked until today.

Both admitted the crimes, Quinlan said. The father was quoted as saying:

"Why, we've gotten away with at least a half million dollars of goods."

All of the burglaries were at night. Many of the homes were summer dwellings owned by wealthy persons.

Driver Hurt in Mishap On Route 32 at Saxton

Charles Livingstone, 30 of Fairlawn, N. J., was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital following a highway mishap in which his car left Route 32 near Saxton early today and struck a tree head-on, Kingston state police reported.

Troopers Richard I. Ryan and Richard S. Allan reported Livingstone suffered multiple lacerations of the right knee and left forehead, and possible dislocated hip.

Troopers said he was proceeding south on Route 32 in his 1961 sedan when he apparently fell asleep, lost control of the car which went off the west side of the highway and struck a tree on the property of Winifred Conners. He was taken to the hospital in H & S Ambulance of Saugerties.

No Saugerties Water For New Home Areas

Recommendations in a report of the Water Conservation and Planning Committee adopted by Saugerties Town Board at its Thursday night meeting, will immediately halt extension of water lines to housing developers in Glasco Water District.

The committee report says "it would be neither practical nor ethical to permit the longtime users in the water district, which includes Barclay Heights, to be deprived of their water supply and pressure for the particular advantage of large scale developing."

Need New Sources

The committee further emphasized that the township continue and intensify its investigation of other possible sources of water to augment the supply of the Glasco Water District. The report said new sources are needed in order that further expansion in Glasco Water District will not be curtailed due to the lack of water. It was emphasized in the report that the water supply in Glasco Water District is barely adequate to meet existing requirements in the district.

It was brought out at the meeting that action was imperative at this time due to the dry spring which will inevitably cause a short supply and low pressure condition during the summer months.

Other recommendations include:

Rules and regulations should be prepared for Glasco Water District users and consumers be advised that for their own protection, garden sprinkling should be permitted only during specific hours. The regulations would emphasize the urgent need for conservation of water and curtailment of waste.

Must File Applications

All commercial concerns must file with the Glasco water superintendent, a notice of intention in order that the application for water may be studied to determine if water is available for any new facility before it is hooked onto the water system.

The report said this item was suggested by reason of reports that several commercial enterprises expect to commence operation in the Glasco Water District one being a laundromat which will of necessity consume great quantities of water, and that it doesn't appear at the present time that there is sufficient water available for that purpose.

Occasionally additional new residential housing could be permitted to tie on to existing water lines. However, any large scale new residential developing in the area on the basis of engineering studies, would result in a severe water shortage under present conditions if they be granted permits to hook onto the water system.

Land should be purchased by the district for the construction of a small building for storing supplys and equipment.

Need Expansion Land

Additional land should also be purchased at the site of the present standpipe for construction of future additional water storage facilities.

The report also recommended that the town retain the services of a geologist to investigate the possibility of securing additional water sources.

The committee includes Town Councilman Frank Greco, committee chairman; Justice of the Peace William D. Brinnier, and Glasco Water Superintendent Fred Francello.

The committee which was created in 1960 to study the water resources of the Town of Saugerties, reported the recommendations were the result of extensive study and consultations with Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers for the town, and Morrell Vrooman, engineer for the Village of Saugerties. Glasco Water District receives its water supply from the Saugerties Village system which is piped from the village reservoir at Blue Mountain.

Application Denied

Application for permission to add 40 new homes in the Barclay Heights area to the water system by Austin Simmons, developer of Simmons Park, was denied April 26 by the Saugerties Village Water Board. The board denied the application until a water survey could be completed by the village engineer.

Attorney Morris Rosenblum, representing Simmons, said the 40 new homes were in the process of construction on the westerly portion of the Simmons property, and requested permission to extend to Glasco District water lines to include the new development.

On the basis of the village engineer's report, the Village Water Board on May 21, increased the amount of water permitted to be delivered to the Glasco system to a maximum of 206,000 gallons per day. The Glasco Water District had previously been permitted an average of 150,000 gallons per day. The village pointed out that it could only sell surplus water to the Glasco District.

The Blue Mountain Reservoir is supplying 1,400,000 gallons of water to the village and Glasco District daily and may not exceed 1,800,000 gallons due to a riparian rights decision with that restriction.

Must Find Alternatives

Under the restrictions recommended in the Water Conservation and Planning Committee report, developers who now have houses under construction, or are contemplating new developments, must find an alternative to supply the new homes with water. Individual wells may be drilled or the developer has the option to form his own water company and secure a supply from artesian wells.

In other business, the Town Board approved installation of a town bulletin board on the wall next to the door of the new building now under construction. Harry Slobodian of Spaulding Court made the suggestion to the board.

Four residents of the Timberlake Estates asked about the completion of a project there to alleviate poor drainage.

Supervisor Peter M. Williams said the Town Board visited the development last week to study the problem. The contractor has been unable to complete the project because a right of way is required from A. Sacks in order to run drainage pipe through his property, it was reported. The matter was turned over to Louis P. Francello, attorney for the town.

The Town Board accepted a short stretch of road relocated and constructed by Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp., at Churchland, which connects the plant with the Tissol Road. Town Clerk Miss Marion Newkirk was authorized to ask New York Central Railroad to install signal lights on four unattended railroad crossings in the Churchland area.

Truck Loses Cement Blocks in Saugerties

A truck conveying cement blocks, rounding a turn on Route 9W into Main Street in the Village of Saugerties Thursday, lost some of the blocks which struck a passing vehicle, Village police reported.

Acting Police Chief Harold Mills said a flat truck owned by Cody Coal and Lumber Company, Malden, and operated by Joseph D. Young was proceeding south on Malden Avenue (Route 9W) and when rounding the turn into Main Street, Saugerties, lost part of its load of cement blocks. Some of the blocks struck the 1961 sedan of Mrs. Katherine G. Remensnyder of Mynderse Street on the front wheel and left front fender, village police reported. Mrs. Remensnyder was proceeding east on Main Street at the time.

Laos Recesses Coalition Bid Until Monday

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said today the three princes summit conference has decided to adjourn its sessions until Monday to give its members time to reflect on the formation of a coalition government.

Emerging red-faced from a half-hour afternoon meeting with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, and pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum, Souvanna told reporters: "One or two unsettled points obliged us to postpone the meeting until Monday and each party has demanded time for reflection."

Hope Monday's Last

He added that he hoped Monday's meeting will be the last one before he announces a formation of a coalition Cabinet.

Boun Oum and his delegation, which includes strong man Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew back to Vientiane and will return here Monday.

Souvanna, who is to head the coalition if it is formed, told newsmen Thursday "very great progress" had been made in the first session and he hoped for a final agreement today. He said the three factions had agreed on the key issue, which group would get the ministries of defense and interior and through them control of the army and police.

Souphanouvong, Souvanna's half brother who heads the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, told reporters he was satisfied and was "sure that a solution of a coalition is inevitable."

Gen. Phoumi also expressed optimism and said the talks were going smoothly. But he said no agreement had been made on the distribution of jobs.

Thai officials in Bangkok, who have close ties with Phoumi, said the general and Boun Oum were proposing a version of the troika —or three horse—system of control for the defense and interior ministries, as the Soviets proposed last year for the United Nations.

The Thai sources said the Vientiane troika plan calls for Souvanna to be minister of defense and interior as well as premier. But in each ministry he would have three assistant ministers — one from each faction — and all three would have to agree before any administrative action could be taken.

Baptists Seek Restraint, Not Banning of Book

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Troubled by a book, Southern Baptists don't want it banned outright. But they want their agencies to be more careful about what they publish—and teach.

This was the policy-setting word from the big church body's annual convention as it neared a close today.

More than 10,000 assembled "messengers" also turned down a proposal that they expand their organizational territory beyond the country's borders.

Opponents said such a step would cause dangerous, divisive and damaging rivalry with Baptist bodies in other nations.

However, it was the doctrinal teaching and publishing controversy, flaming through the 10-million-member denomination in recent months that roused the convention heat.

Conservative forces, charging liberal theological tendencies in seminaries and other agencies, centered their protests on a book, "The essage of Genesis," by an Old Testament scholar, Dr. Ralph Elliott of Midwestern Seminary in Kansas City.

In a tempestuous, see-saw battle, moves were twice launched to force Broadman Press, run by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, to suppress the book and call in all copies from our'ets.

One Midwestern minister, at the urging of Baptist leaders, voluntarily withdrew his motion for such action. But another pastor, the Rev. Ben D. Windham of Portland, Ore., Thursday night again pressed the same proposal.

It was narrowly defeated, by a standing vote.
